Want Zoning Changes Made In Auburndale

Some Want Restrictions Increased, Others Lessened

Three petitions for zoning changes at Auburndale were given hearings by the Claims and Rules Committee of the Aldermen at City Hall on Wednesday night. On the petition of John A. Davis to change land on the north side of Commonwealth avenue between Rowe and Lexington streets from general residence to private residence zone, City Clerk Grant read letters signed by thirty property owners on Wolcott street and Commonwealth avenue favoring the petition. R. J. Dillon of Perkins street, West Newton, who owns property in the area affected protested.

In contrast to this petition was one from Harry Guerlin who owns the property at the north-east corner of Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street. Mr. Guerlin wants this property changed from general residence to business zone. He stated that the other three corners of Lexington street and the avenue are in business zones and that he cannot rent his property because of its surroundings. Although the value of this property as a residence has decreased it has been assessed at a higher figure because it is supposed to be a valuable location.

The third petition was from William S. Wagner, administrator of the estate of Rosena M. Harris. He asks that this property on Melrose street be changed from general residence to business district. He explained that the property is in poor shape and will cost $4000 to be put in proper condition. Mr. Wagner could not see why there are any valid objections to the proposed change and expressed the opinion that a good business block present dilapidated old building. City Clerk Grant read a letter of protest from owners of nearby properties. Josiah Bond of Boston, attorney for Mrs. Zager who owns a business block on Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, objected to the change. He asserted there are many vacant stores now in Auburndale. Stores offered for as low rental as $50 a month cannot be let. "Why build more stores?" queried Mr. Bond.

Abuse Of Children In Massachusetts

Prohibition Subject of Address at Newton Centre

Abuse of children in Massachusetts, due to intoxicating liquors, has dropped from 47.7 per cent in 1916 to 20.8 per cent in 1928, Arthur J. Davis, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, stated in a vigorous address Thursday afternoon at the Newton Center First Baptist Church. He called for recognition of the social benefits of Prohibition, and declared that the wets have about-faced on two of their former salient arguments. The meeting was conducted under the auspices of the Newton W. C. T. U.

Basing his statements upon observations made by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children in over 5,000 families, Mr. Davis said that the beneficial effect of Prohibition on the child life of Massachusetts should attract the attention and interest of all humanitarians. Citing year by year figures, showing that child abuse due to intoxicants has been consistently over 50 per cent lower since Prohibition, Mr. Davis said, "Facts like this cause the plea of the wets for so-called personal liberty to collapse like a punctured balloon."

"A few years ago," said Mr. Davis, "opponents of Prohibition called the saloon the 'poor man's club,' and claimed that it was an important and almost indispensable factor in the social life of the workingman. Every wet now asserts that the saloon was bad and must never be permitted to return."

Mr. Davis asserted that the latest move of the wets, to repeal the State enforcement law, is in fact an attack on the supremacy of the Federal Constitution. "To deny the responsibility of Massachusetts to co-operate in the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment," he said, "is to open the way for a reign of lawlessness far exceeding the present lawlessness of the purveyors of synthetic gin and caustic cocktails."

—Miss Celia Wellman, formerly of Newton Highlands, has resumed her duties as probation officer, having recovered from her recent illness.

—Mrs. John Lodge, president of the Newton Circle, has returned from a trip to Philadelphia and is at 333 Commonwealth avenue, Boston, for the winter months.

Begin Fall Term Of Religious School

Norumbega District Announces Various Courses

Next Monday evening, at 7:30 p. m., at the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church, the ninth season of the Norumbega District School of Religious Education will begin. It will continue for ten Monday evenings, as in the past.

In the first period two courses quite new in content will be given. Dr. Sidney A. Weston, editor and author, will teach a course called "A Study of Jesus, the Man". Dr. Weston will take up a study of the personality of the Master, his motives, purposes, how he thought through certain problems, etc. Dr. Weston teaches young people all the time and is at work now writing a new course containing the material that he is to present in this class at Newtonville.

Prof. Berkeley will give a course called "The Use of Bible Stories with Children". This course will take up Bible stories in the light of modern science, literary criticism, development of moral ideas in the Old Testament, and the adaptability of these stories in meeting the needs and difficulties of children, in the home and in the church.

In the second period come several methods courses by unusually competent instructors. Miss Daphne Condon, field representative for the Presbyterian Synod of New England, is the teacher of Primary Department Materials and Methods. The Junior course will be given by Mrs. Warren T. Powell, author of the best book yet written on Junior work, called "Junior Method in the Church School." The Intermediate-Senior Department Methods course will be given by Prof. Warren T. Powell, formerly with the Methodist Board of Education, now professor of Young People's Work at Boston University School of Religious Education. By personality, training and experience, these instructors are exceptionally fine.

Another course for the second period has been added recently, too late for printing on the flier. It is to be called "Life in Bible Times," and will be led by Miss Lullona Barker, who has made a study of this subject in connection with a recent trip to Egypt and the Holy Land. This course will furnish background of Oriental customs, manners and other details so much needed for the better understanding of Bible stories and passages.

TRUCK HITS MAYOR CHILD'S SON

Edwin O. Childs, Jr., 13, son of Mayor Edwin O. Childs, was struck this morning on Chapel street, Nonantum, by an automobile truck owned by John A. Sellars a Lexington milk dealer. The operator of the truck was James Grimes of Lexington street, Watertown. Young Childs was riding a bicycle when the accident occurred. He received cuts and bruises on the face and was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment. The boy was following behind a Middlesex & Boston bus and when the bus stopped he pulled out to pass it and was hit by the truck.

P.O. Department Has Refused Branch Here

Efforts in Nonantum Are of No Avail

The attempt of John Finelli and others to have a branch postoffice in Nonantum has been definitely refused by the Postoffice Department. After an investigation of the situation by postoffice inspectors at the request of Congressman Luce the following letter was sent to Mr. Luce by Arch Coleman, First Assistant Postmaster General:

Hon. Robert Luce, House of Representatives. My dear Mr. Luce:

With further reference to your letter of June 17, with regard to the proposed establishment of a classified finance station of the Boston, Massachusetts, post office in the Nonantum District of Newton, I have to advise that acting upon your suggestion the Department ordered a thorough investigation of the matter by a post office inspector.

This investigation has been completed and the inspector's report received. Contract Station No. 157 is located in this territory, about five-

Want Land Opposite Cemetery For Business

But One Objector Appears At Hearing

Two petitions similar in scope were given hearings Wednesday night at City Hall by the Claims and Rules Committee of the Aldermen. One was the petition of Daniel Hoar to have land on the south side of Beacon street, between Walnut street and a point between the boundary of land owned by the Mills estate and Annie McDonald changed from private residence to business zone. The other petition was from Annie G. McDonald and asks that land on the south side of Beacon street from Walnut street westerly 1600 feet, including land of the petitioner be changed from private residence to business zone.

Attorney William V. Hayden appeared for Mr. Hoar. He stated that his client owns about three acres of land with a frontage of 180 feet on Beacon street. Hoar has resided on Beacon street, across from the land which he desires re-zoned, for about 50 years. The land in question is low and swampy. The city uses it as a dump and a drain carries surface water from the Beacon street frontage to the opposite side of Beacon street towards Walnut street favor the change.

Attorney J. Thomas White of Waban appeared for Annie McDonald and said that Mr. Hayden had covered the case fully. Mr. White informed the Committee that 627 feet frontage on Beacon street between the McDonald property and Walnut street already is used for business purposes.

The only objector to appear against the petitioners was Frank Ciccone of 1120 Beacon street.

eighths of a mile from the Newton Classified Branch, and is rendering efficient service. This is a small section with only a few business places with parcel post mailings, and these are taken to Newton Branch. There would be no improvement in mail delivery if a classified station were established, and considerable additional expense of administration would result.

In view of the foregoing the Department cannot consistently authorize the establishment of a finance station in the Nonantum District at this time.

Sincerely yours, ARCH COLEMAN, First Assistant Postmaster General.

Annual Outing Of City Employees Held

Affair at Wayland Greatly Enjoyed By Many

The 23rd annual outing of the city employees of Newton under the auspices of Newton Local 175 was held Saturday at Indian Head Farm, Wayland. One hundred and fifty employees and guests were present. The employees travelled from Newton at 10:30 Saturday morning in a score of automobiles to Wayland. A program of athletic sports was enjoyed which was featured by a ball game between teams representing the Street Department and the Water Department. The nine from the Street Department won by a score of Following an excellent dinner President Moriarty of the local, officiating as toastmaster, presented the various speakers. The first to address the gathering was Street Commissioner Stuart, introduced by Mr. Moriarty as a real friend of the many employees of the Street Department. Mr. Stuart referring to the coming end of a long tenure of office by Mayor Childs, praised the Mayor for the humane treatment he has accorded all employees of this city. He reminded those present of the gratitude they owe to Mr. Childs for his efforts in their behalf. Water Commissioner J. Clifton Whitney in a few brief remarks endorsed the sentiments uttered by Mr. Stuart and told of the courtesy extended to him by the Mayor. Others who spoke briefly included Selectman Farren of Wayland, President Murphy of the State Federation of City and Town Employees, Alderman Earle, Gordon and Powers and former Aldermen O'Connell and Heathcote.

Mayor Childs received an ovation when he was called upon to address the gathering. Referring to the laudatory remarks tendered him by previous speakers, he disclaimed being chiefly responsible for the better working conditions now enjoyed by the city employees and stated that the Boards of Aldermen and the employees themselves have been important factors in procuring these conditions. The Mayor told of the pleasure he has received from serving the citizens of Newton during the past 16 years and promised that he will continue to render assistance to the employees whenever he can after he leaves office.

He asserted that he was not possessed of much money when he assumed the office of Mayor of Newton and he is less wealthy now. This fact, in the Mayor's opinion, is a real test as to whether or not, one has served honestly and unselfishly. He has had plenty of opportunities to make money during his long years of office, not alone by grafting but also by allowing the use of his name in certain business ventures.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

NEWTON ELEVEN LOSES TO MALDEN

With the odds overwhelmingly against them a fighting Newton High school football team went down under a 19 to 0 defeat at the hands of a heavy Malden team in the opening 1929 scholastic football game on Claf-lin Field, Newtonville, last Saturday. The local outfit averaged more than fifteen pounds a man less than the visiting team which was one of the heaviest schoolboy elevens to be seen on Claflin Field in years. In contrast to the Malden team which included seven veterans from last year's eleven and many other more or less experienced players Coach Sullivan of Newton was forced to put a team on the field of which but one player had ever started a Newton varsity game in the past. Against such odds defeat was inevitable, the size of the score being the only question. It was the opinion of the majority that the Newton team did well in holding Malden to three touchdowns, two of which were earned and the other practically a gift, coming from the result of a Newton fumble on the 10-yard line.

Every one of the Newton players deserve credit for their playing with Fred Schipper, Arthur Boughan, John McCarthy, Perry Elrod and James Connelly outstanding at various times during the game. The superiority of the visiting team, with Captain Sam Fishman, John O'Brien, John McCarthy, George Beaman, and George Fenton, is best shown through the fact that the ball was in their possession all of the first half except for six plays, including two punts, by Newton. Malden rolled up eleven first downs, nine in the first half and two in the second, while the best the locals could do was two, one in the third period and the other in the fourth with the aid of a penalty against the visitors.

First Period

Malden won the toss and elected to receive. Elrod kicked off to O'Brien who was downed on his 33-yard line. Fishman made fifteen yards on the second rush for a first down. O'Brien made four yards, Beaman's pass to Fishman was ground down and Fishman made three before Lapidus, left guard, was brought back out of the line to kick. Newton's right end, John McCarthy (Malden also had a John McCarthy playing right end) broke through to block the punt and Bob Nickerson recovered for Newton at midfield. Elrod kicked off to O'Brien who was downed on his 33-yard line. Fishman and O'Brien made first down in two plays. O'Brien got loose around his left end for 15 yards before Norton drove him outside the field. Fishman reeled off eleven yards around his right end and McCarthy made six through tackle to end the period.

Second Period

On the first play of the period O'Brien ran left end for thirty yards and the first touchdown of the 1929 season in Newton. Beaman made the point by rushing while Fishman and Prusak feinted preparation for a placement goal. Elrod again kicked off and Malden started up the field. A fifteen yard penalty set them back with 16 yards to go for four downs. Fishman tossed a forward pass which Malden John McCarthy snared neatly for a 25 yard gain and a first down on Newton's 21-yard line. On the eighth play Fishman went over for the second score. Fishman's attempted placement goal was partially blocked, but he saved the extra point. Elrod kicked off to Fishman, who ran the ball back twenty yards. On the next play a fifteen yard penalty against Malden set them back to their 25-yard line. Newton was penalized a few plays later for piling on. The half ended with the ball in Malden's possession at midfield.

Third Period

Both teams started their original line-ups but for one exception each. Hill was playing right end for Malden in McCarthy's place and Connelly for Furdan at fullback for Newton. Malden kicked off to Connelly, who ran the ball back twelve yards. Elrod failed to gain in two plays and he kicked to midfield. Connelly stopped Fishman with a gain of but one yard in two plays and O'Brien kicked to the Newton 15-yard line. Connelly made eight yards and Elrod five for Newton's initial first down of the game. All three plays went through Malden's left tackle, the 205 pound George Fenton, who was pretty well used up and Simonian relieved him. A few plays later Elrod kicked to Prusak, who shook off four would-be tacklers but was finally pulled down by Connelly on the Newton 35-yard line. A few plays later the period ended with Malden in possession of the ball on the Newton 25-yard line.

Fourth Period

A threatened score by the visitors was averted when Fishman's pass to Hill was grounded in the end zone. Newton put the ball in play on its 20-yard stripe. On the third play, after making eight yards, Malden drew a 15-yard penalty and Newton chalked up its second first down of the afternoon. A few plays later Elrod kicked to the Malden 30-yard mark. O'Brien slipped around the end for 12 yards before Elrod ran him off the field. Lapidus kicked to Bell, who had relieved Strombom at quarterback for Newton. Bell unconsciously raised his hand to shut out the glare of the sun, making a fair catch signal and then started to run with the ball. This infraction of the rules brought Newton a 15-yard penalty to their 10-yard mark. On the first play Bell fumbled and R. Hill recovered for Malden. The orange and black line held for three plays but on fourth

COUNTRY DAY WINS OPENER, 19-0

Country Day opened its 1929 season with an impressive 19-0 victory over Wellesley High at Wellesley last Friday. From the opening play the green and white team's superiority was evident. Receiving the kick-off, they marched down the field from their own thirty-yard line to a touchdown, a series of irresistible line plunges by Capt. Bottomley and Gleason, and a nicely executed pass, doing the trick. Winchell and Cobb, Newton boys, also gave a fine account of themselves in the Country Day backfield, the former often carrying the ball effectively, and Cobb as an interfering back. Ritchie and LaBouchere substituted in the backfield in the late minutes of each half. The Newton school's other two touchdowns were the result of a long, cleverly executed pass from Gleason to Lyman in the second period, and a steady march down the field late in the fourth period. The only point after was made after the third touchdown on another pass from Gleason to Lyman.

The Country Day line proved itself strong and alert, but perhaps needs a little polishing on defense. The line is the heaviest that has represented the institution on the hill in many years, averaging about 160 pounds. Greene and Lyman are a fleet pair of ends and can snag passes with the best of them. Vose, Brown, and Wolfer are good tacklers and Johnston and Downes have made the grade as first-string guards. Donald Gleason has proved himself a reliable center with lots of aggressiveness. Wolfer, a Wellesley boy, took Brown's place at tackle late in the game. Vose, Lyman, Greene, and Johnston contributed spectacular tackles in the Wellesley game, and have shown themselves to be the best four linemen in the squad to date.

The team has worked hard for its encounter with the strong Belmont Hill School team this afternoon, at Belmont. Belmont Hill played at Roxbury Latin this last week, and the result was a scoreless tie. If Country Day can stop Hurlburt, Belmont's great running back, it has a good chance of taking the game.

Country Day received an invitation from Harvard to play their class teams, but because their schedule was already completed, they were unable to arrange any games. Manager Breck is trying to complete the schedule for Country Day's second and third teams.

The remainder of the first team's schedule is as follows: Oct. 11, Thayer Academy; October 19, Dummer Academy; October 26, at Milton Academy; November 8, Roxbury Latin; November 15, at Browne and Nichols.

down O'Brien made the remaining few yards for the final score of the day. Fishman's try at goal was blocked. After the ensuing kickoff Dubinsky, sub halfback for Malden, intercepted a pass to Norton for the final play of the game.

Prize-of-the-Week Contest

CANTABS OPEN LEAGUE SEASON

Cambridge High and Latin will be the opponents of the Newton high school football team in the opening of the Suburban league season tomorrow afternoon on Claflin Field. The game will be called at two-thirty o'clock. Newton has high hopes of victory although Cambridge has played two games, getting started a week earlier than the orange and black. In both of its contests the Cantabs have been shut out, against B. C. High they were on the short end of a 13 to 0 score and last Saturday were overwhelmed by Salem, 31 to 0. Coach Leander MacDonald of Cambridge is about in the same box as the Newton mentor, no experienced players on hand to bolster up the squad. For that reason if no other the game should be more of an equal contest than a week ago. In fact if either team can be regarded as having the advantage the same would seem to lie with Newton. According to weights released from Cambridge yesterday the orange and black will have a slightly heavier team at practically every position.

Coach Sullivan of Newton may not decide until game time just what his starting line-up will be. Some of the lads suffered slight injuries last week which may keep them out tomorrow. "Red" Connelly, substitute fullback last week, has a bad leg. If he is ready to play the Newton mentor will start him at Elrod's place at left halfback and switch the latter to quarterback in place of Strombom. If Connelly is not in shape the same backfield that started last week will go in to action at the opening whistle.

In the line Bob Nickerson and Joe Frechette are the casualties. The former has a lame ankle and the latter a Charley Horse. Jim Colligan, the tackle who was expected to start last week, has been lost to the squad because of doctor's orders. Infected ear drums have forced him to forego the sport. Bill Kenslea, tackle on the St. Mary's school of Waltham team two years ago, will start in Frechette's place if the latter is not ready. Donald Bosworth will fill in for Nickerson if the latter's ankle is not strong enough to stand the gaff.

Otherwise the orange and black squad will start as they did last week with the center of the line intact. Schipper at center, Boughan and Moore at guards, Lindbergh at right tackle and McCarthy at right end.

Cambridge will probably line-up as follows: 35, Lekakas (150) le; 52, Ross, captain (175) lt; 50, Cohen (160) lg; 45, Brown (145) c; 48, Seymourian (145) rg; 39, Buckley (165) rt; 32, Reardon (145) re; 42, Barry (135) qb; 34, W. Swisher (144) lb; 44, Muello (135) rrb; 38, Dugan (145) fb.

Signore Fourth At Brighton

Augustus Signori of Newton Centre a member of the Newton high track team, finished in fourth place in the 10-mile road race held under the auspices of the Brighton Council K. of C. last Saturday. The start and finish of the race was at Rogers Park with the route coming out over Washington and Tremont streets over the line into Newton. The Newton Centre youth was under a time handicap of five minutes. His elapsed time placed him third but the runner eleven seconds behind him had a four minute handicap which changed the two about when the corrected time was figured.

Gilligan Probable Starter

For some time it has been a question as to what four players Coach Horween of Harvard would start in his backfield against Bates tomorrow. The line has been practically certain for a couple of weeks. In the backfield Eliot Putnam at quarterback and Wally Harper at fullback clinched their positions some time ago. In the practice sessions on Wednesday and yesterday Tom Gilligan and Art Huggley were placed on Team A and it is expected that they will start in the Crimson's opener. Tommy Gilligan was laid up for a while because of stomach trouble due to overwork and did not see any action until last Friday. He has caught up with the rest of the squad in condition and assignments and is ready to go. "Frenchy" Gilligan has joined the squad again following a leg injury but will probably not get into the Bates game.

After Second Victory

Newton City Club are in hopes of annexing their second victory of the season when they tackle the strong North Cambridge Catholic Club at Cabot Park Sunday at 2:30 p. m. At a meeting held last Sunday Wm. Sullivan was elected captain of the City Club. The probable lineup for Newton: W. Sullivan, Captain, re; Jonah, rt; Bryant, rg; J. Sullivan, c; Miocca, lg; McSorley, lt; Morris, le; Grogan, fb; Daley, qb; Herlihy, lb; Burns, rrb.

Alexander At Belmont Hill

Bill Alexander, former Newton high and Bowdoin college star lineman, is assistant coach at Belmont Hill school, Belmont, which meets Country Day on the Belmont field this afternoon. Roger Martin, end, and Dunbar Holmes, centre, are the Newton lads on the Belmont eleven.

Bennett Scores For Exeter

Bob Bennett, former Newton high back, scored the first touchdown for Exeter Academy in its 27-0 win over the New Hampshire University freshmen last Saturday. Frank Spain, former Newton high three-sport star, started the game at quarterback for Exeter.

Former Locals Star

The Terrier eleven scrimmaged Tuesday afternoon with the Boston University freshman squad with the varsity scoring but a single touchdown on the last play of the session. Two former Newton high players were big thorns in the varsity's side. Daniel Harrington and Arthur Chamberlain, linemen on last year's orange and black team with a few others on the yearling eleven give promise that future varsity material will be better than in previous years. Chamberlain was at his accustomed position at centre but the Terrier freshman coach has shifted Harrington to the backfield where his most frequent assignments are as interference for the ball carrier.

Dartmouth Ramps

Dartmouth ran up a score of 67 to 0 against Norwich in its opening game of the season last Saturday with Harold Andres and Len Clark, former Newton high stars, at centre and right halfback when the Green took the field. Both played their usual game. Clark did not have the opportunity to score with Al Masters of Arlington showing a return to the form that stamped him as an All-America calibre two years ago. Henry Johnson of Waban who was expected to start at fullback prior to his layoff because of a cinder in his eye, did not get into the game at all. Sutton, Green veteran who reported late, has caught up with the rest of the squad now and the Waban youth is playing on Team B this week.

Two Newtonites at Bridgton

Two former Newton high football players are at Bridgton Academy, Maine, this fall. One is Everett Scheinfain, former captain and all-scholastic end, and the other is William Sutcliffe, Newton fullback two years ago. Scheinfain entered the Maine academy at the beginning of 1929 and played hockey and baseball. He reported late for football and so did not get into the opening game last Saturday. Sutcliffe has been shifted to a wing position by Coach Fred Ellis, former Medford and Tufts college star. He took part in the 53-0 victory Bridgton scored over the 69th Artillery last Saturday. Friends of the two former Newton players will have opportunities to see them in action as they come to this part of the state twice this fall. The first time is on Friday, October 18th, at the Lynn Gen. Elec. field and the second on November 1st at University Heights where they meet the B. C. yearlings.

Gilligan Makes Long Run

In his first scrimmage with the Harvard varsity following a long lay-off because of stomach trouble brought on by overwork Tommy Gilligan, former Newton high and Exeter luminary celebrated with a fifty-eight yard run for the first touchdown of the afternoon last Friday. The varsity's opponents were the second team and the latter offered little opposition, ending up on the short end of a 72 to 20 count. Gilligan's run was made on the famous Harvard lateral pass play with Newton Tommy taking the ball from Putnam, quarterback.

McCullough On Second Team

Lack of weight has caused Carleton McCullough, former Newton high and Exeter star end, his first string position on the Boston University eleven at right end. Ernie Tutton, veteran end of two years ago, reported for practice the first of last week and has won the position from the Newton Centre youth. It is probable that McCullough will see considerable service on the wing but not as a starting player.

Gotshall In Finals

Abbot Gotshall of the Burr Tennis Association won his way to the final round of the Old Colony Tennis League singles championship at Longwood last Saturday afternoon, defeating Jack Clark of the Winsor Club, Watertown, 6-2, 6-4, 9-7. In the other semi-final round match Murphy of Arlington Heights, winner in 1927, defeated S. P. Crowell of the Bellevue Club, Melrose, winner last year, after a hard battle. Gotshall and Murphy will meet for the 1929 title tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

Chosen Cheer Leaders

Guy Holbrook, former Newton high athlete, and Dave Garrison, Country Day athlete have been chosen as cheer leaders for the Harvard football season. They are two of six letter men selected, both winning their "H's" in hockey. Holbrook was a substitute on the football squad but injuries to his knee kept him on the sidelines the greater part of the time.

LYDIA J. WETHERBEE

Funeral services for Lydia J., widow of Samuel E. Wetherbee, aged 87 years, were held Monday, Sept. 30, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George W. Packard, 36 East Main street, Westboro, with whom Mrs. Wetherbee lived for the past five years.

She was a resident of Newtonville for 50 years, an attendant of the M. E. Church, also an active member of the Odd Ladies and the Chapter of the Woman's Relief Corps which merged into The Ladies Home Circle.

Two daughters and a son Edward S. of New York survive her.

MARTHA A. HITCHCOCK

Martha A. Hitchcock daughter of the late Hon. David K. Hitchcock and Abigail Barnes, died Sept. 26. In 1846 Dr. Hitchcock purchased a large estate in Newton, where The Hollis now stands, moving his family there from Boston. It was here her childhood was spent and where for over eighty (80) years she made her home.

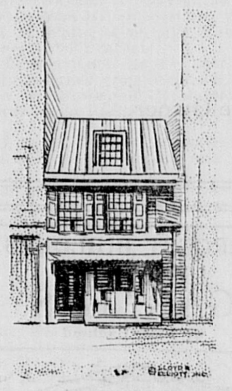

Educated in the public schools and at Mt. Holyoke. At an early age she united with Eliot Church and was always a faithful attendant. She had a brilliant mind and unusual business ability.

In the seventies she superintended the moving of the Homestead, opening a street through the estate, giving it an old family name—Hollis street. For several years she was principal of the Bible School at Northfield Seminary—loved by all her pupils. Hers was a life of perfect consecration and of self denial.

Her patience and tender devotion to her parents in their declining years, is now a sweet memory. Her last nine years were filled with invalidism. She waited patiently for her home call and sleeping peacefully was awakened by His "Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things; enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

THE HOME OF OUR NATIONAL FLAG

In the year 1776, Washington employed Betsy Ross to make a sample flag, which was later adopted as our national flag (1777). Above is a picture of Miss Ross' residence, which has been preserved all these years as the birthplace of our flag.

Recent Deaths

ELLA F. OLMSTED

The friends and associates of Miss Ella F. Olmsted, Chief Clerk in the Street Department of the City of Newton were grieved to learn of her death on Monday, September 30th, at her home in Allston.

On August 31st, 1929, Miss Olmsted completed thirty-eight years in the employ of the City of Newton, which is the longest term of service for any clerk employed by the city. She joined the office force of the Engineering Department in 1891 during the administration of Ex-Mayor Hibbard, and transferred to the Street Department in 1896, where she held the position of Chief Clerk under former Street Commissioners Ross and the present Street Commissioner George E. Stuart.

Miss Olmsted's position was a responsible one, and the competent manner in which she performed her many duties was an incentive to her associates. Her loss will be keenly felt by the many persons who came in contact with her in her official capacity. The citizens of Newton have indeed lost a faithful and efficient employee.

Funeral services were held at St. Anthony's Church, Allston, on Wednesday, October 2nd, 1929, at 9:00 o'clock in the morning.

LIBERAL RELIGION MUST KEEP LIBERAL SAYS UNIVERSALIST

"One of the chief tasks of liberal religion is to keep liberal," said the Rev. M. A. Kapp of the Newtonville Universalist Church last Sunday, preaching on the subject "The Task of the Liberal Church." Mr. Kapp pointed out that all cultures inevitably have a conservative element, and a creative element. Both are valuable; both have inherent dangers. The conservative tendency is to crystallize and petrify around some fixed idea of the past, unimpaired that a new point of view always comes with new periods of human living. The creative element incurs the perils of capricious whimsical, unstudied actions that sometimes wreck life because of lack of historical perspective and appreciation. Defining liberalism as the "spirit of free inquiry whose province is all of life and whose authority lies in the very searching nature of man," Mr. Kapp maintained that no compromise with orthodoxy, timidity or despair could fortify liberal positions, but that the salvation of liberalism was more and more independent liberalism. "Liberalism has a faith that man is adequate to his universe; that he can meet his destiny and achieve his triumph without abject submission to authorities of the past, hobgoblins of the present or phantom fears of the future," said H. W. Kapp. Next Sunday H. W. Kapp will present a discourse on "The Poetic and the Religious in Everyday Life."

HANNAH FOOTE

Miss Hannah Foote, residing at 372 Elliott street, one of the oldest residents of Newton Upper Falls, died at her home Tuesday afternoon, October first. Miss Foote, who was in her 63rd year, was the daughter of the late Mr. John Foote and Mrs. Margaret O'Leary Foote and the last of the family to pass away. Funeral services were held at the Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Thursday, Oct. 3, at 9 o'clock at a solemn high mass celebrated by Rev. Fr. Donovan of Buffalo, cousin of the deceased, assisted by Rev. Fr. Dennis Donovan, pastor of the church, and Rev. Fr. Dowd as deacons. Burial was at Holyhood Cemetery, Brookline.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

One reason why taxes are high is illustrated in the present problem which confronts Middlesex County regarding the housing of its prisoners. Because the old House of Correction at East Cambridge has been adjudged unsafe, it being a fire-trap and also so weakened in places that parts of it might collapse, District Attorney Bushnell took measures to have the old jail abandoned. The more than 200 prisoners who were in this jail have been, and are being transferred to jails owned by Suffolk, Essex and Bristol counties; jails in Lawrence and New Bedford and on Deer Island. Middlesex County, the largest in population in Massachusetts (with the possible exception of Suffolk) finds itself without a jail. It must build a new one at great expense and until this new jail will have been erected this county must send its prisoners to jails in other counties.

Middlesex County, until a few years ago owned another jail—at Lowell. For the first few years following the institution of "Prohibition" in 1913 the number of prisoners in the two jails in this county so decreased that the jail at Lowell was closed and then, with what now appears to have been undue haste, county officials decided that the Lowell jail would not be needed any more. This jail was advertised for sale and was sold at a very low price. Had the county officials not been so optimistic regarding the supposed permanent diminution of crime, the Lowell jail would not have been disposed of so hastily and the present embarrassing situation could have been largely avoided.

For persons who take pleasure in attending photographic dramas the following itinerary of enjoyable outings might be suggested.

First day: morning, trip to Brighton abattoir; afternoon, trip to packing plants at Somerville.

Second day: morning, inspection of tanneries at Woburn and Peabody; afternoon, tour of piggeries in Burlington and Lincoln.

Third day: morning, motor-boat trip to Spectacle Island, Boston Harbor to visit the rendering plant; afternoon, continue harbor trip to Moon Island and anchor for fishing party.

Employees of the Edison Company are laying conduits in streets at Newton Corner preparatory to the installation of the new street lights in and near Nonantum Square. The contracts between the Edison Company and municipalities in Greater Boston (including Newton) pertaining to the lighting of highways should be changed to bring about earlier lighting of streets. On cloudy days it is dark a half hour or more before the lights flash on. During these early evening periods traffic is at the peak and darkened streets invite accidents.

There is an increasing practice among drivers of trucks and motor cars of using the cut-out and allowing their vehicles to make plenty of noise in order to obtain more power. This violation of the law which is causing many complaints to be made by persons who resist on heavily travelled streets should be prohibited by the police.

BUSINESS AREA AT NEWTON HIGHLANDS NOT TO BE EXTENDED

The petition of Grace H. Morrell and others for a change of district zoning boundaries which would extend the business district at Newton Highlands along Lincoln street as far as Chester street has been withdrawn. This information was given to residents of Newton Highlands who appeared at City Hall on Wednesday night to offer determined opposition to the petition. Representatives of the Newton Highlands Men's Club, the Newton Highlands Women's Club and of property owners in the neighborhood objected were on hand to protest when Chairman Grebenstein of the Claims and Rules Committee of the Aldermen announced that the petitioners had quit on this proposition.

Lincoln street is one of the most attractively shaded streets in this city and owners of residences along it naturally were not enthused over the plan to erect more stores between Columbus and Chester streets. Neither were residents of Chester street. They have had opportunity to view the "vista" at the rear of the store building near Columbus street.

POLICE NEWS

John Grandman, owner of a new house at 321 Kendrick street, Newton, reported to the police that two medicine cabinets have been stolen from this building.

John Coakley of Wade street, Upper Falls, was arrested Tuesday by a squad of Newton police which included Patrolmen Gaquin, Hammill and Smith. Coakley and another young man several months ago were given an automobile ride by a man who had come to Newton Centre one night on business. While en route from the Centre towards the Upper Falls the obliging autoist was relieved of $3.50 by his non-paying passengers, removed from his car and left on the road. Coakley departed from Newton before the police could arrest him and he was taken into custody when he returned. He was indicted by the Grand Jury.

New England in general and Massachusetts in particular is largely dependent on the tariff for its prosperity. The Republicans, therefore, who voted last fall for the election of Senator Walsh must be proud of their action in view of the attitude of that senator on the pending tariff measure before the Senate. We believe that the business interests of the country would far rather have President Hoover's action on the tariff than to leave the matter so as to require Congressional action on proposed tariff changes.

District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell is evidently the right man in the right place and his demand for proper protection of persons confined in the Middlesex House of Correction will meet the hearty approval of all right-minded citizens. The Cambridge jail has been a disgrace to the county of Middlesex for many years and Mr. Bushnell's action focuses attention in such a manner as will lead to a cleaning up of this deplorable situation.

We rather think Mayor Childs exaggerates a trifle in the statement that he could have made a million dollars during his term as mayor.

THAT'S WHAT THEY ARE!

Little Clarice's French tutor had been endeavoring to teach her that there are only two genders in the French language—masculine and feminine. Next day, desirous of learning if the child had remembered, she asked, "How many genders are there in French?"

"Two," came the quick response. Much gratified, the tutor then asked, "And what are they?" After a moment's reflection, Clarice replied, "Masculine and genuine."

House of the Future, as Architect Sees It

The house of the future may be seen as a building designed without windows except perhaps a few small ones for the purpose of observing the visitor at the door or determining the state of the weather.

The large wall space will be utilized by the architect as a means of expressing a new type of architectural beauty. Within, we shall have all the comforts we now possess plus others undreamed of.

There will be illumination containing a healthful percentage of ultraviolet light, and there will be a ventilating system supplying fresh, warmed or cooled air to all parts of the home. Quiet will prevail, no matter how noisy the street may be.

The smoky atmosphere of our cities does immense damage to textiles, furniture and all the trimmings and trapplings of the home. The air circulated by the ventilating system can just as easily and readily be made free from dust and corrosion and properly humidified at the same time. The home will become free of the accidental variations of the weather.—Albert Parsons Sachs.

Book Collection Shows

Printer's Art at Best

Among the countless millions of books on the shelves of the library at the British museum, are about 200 volumes considered the acme of the printer's art. They form an exhibition of books illustrating the most beautiful and expensive British and foreign printing during the last ten years. Centuries-old Chinese manuscripts and illuminated books from the monasteries of medieval Europe are exhibited in the same room as these masterpieces of post-war printing which attracted the attention of printers whose names are famous among book collectors in the two hemispheres. Books from the leading presses of England, Scotland, the United States, France, Germany, Holland, Spain, Italy, Poland and Belgium are included in the collection. They have all been printed within the last ten years, and experts are unanimous that the art of the printer has greatly improved since the opening of the Twentieth century.

In the Same Boat

Two friends met one day and began to discuss the various events which had taken place in their lives since last they met—a year ago.

"I've not done anything much at my job," said one. "I took a job as groom, and I've not had a minute's peace since—on the go, day and night, and ordered about."

"That's just how I've been treated!" broke in the other.

"You?" said the first, surprised. "How can you be putting up with my sort of life?—you never took on as a groom!"

"I did," said the other, gloomily. "I took on as a bridegroom!"

Freak of Striking Clock

The bell on the house of parliament in London may be heard for a distance of four miles and within that radius there are points where it is possible to hear the clock strike 22, through the combined utilization of the wireless and the sound waves. This is at eleven o'clock each day when the time signals are sent out from Davenport. There is an interval of 4½ seconds between the strikes and at a distance of four miles, five or six strokes are heard by wireless before the first of the sound waves and then five or six afterwards so that under these conditions it is possible to hear the bell, "Big Ben," give off 22 strokes.

Mysterious Crows

Crows which talk have been found near Weenen in Natal. Their remarks are libelous. They say to the natives of the district: "There will be no rain; you have killed your chief." They have started a first class scandal about the death of Muzetlawayo, once chief of the Mennu, who died of dropsy. The natives are flocking from all the surrounding districts to hear them. The key to the mystery, suggests a Natal paper, is the fact that the crows only speak when a certain head boy is present. There is nothing to prove that they have been corrupted by a Maritzburg parrot.

Bokhara Tea Drinkers

The manner of drinking tea varies from country to country. In Bokhara every man carries a small bag of tea about with him and, when assailed by thirst, hunts up the nearest tea booth and has the boothkeeper brew a pot of tea. The Bokhara breakfast beverage is Schirechaj—tea in which bread is soaked and which is flavored with milk, cream or mutton fat. During the day the drinker takes tea with cakes of flour and mutton steak. After drinking he eats the tea leaves, which are considered a great delicacy.

Cruel

Johnson never dared ask anyone to his home. His wife was unpopular with visitors.

"Aren't you going to ask your friend Tompkins and his fiancée to our home?" she asked one evening.

"Not much!" replied the husband, who preferred to entertain his friends at restaurants.

"You dislike him, don't you?" was Mrs. Johnson's next query.

"A little," answered the husband, "but not enough for that."

Every Sunday at 10:45 A. M.

Sermon Theme: "The Poetic and the Religious in Everyday Life." Poetry unveils the beauty and value of the commonplace, and discovers life-satisfactions where the "practical" overlooks them. Religion gives a plus force and a deeper enrichment to the motives, energies, and cravings of the human soul. Religion is not an addition to Life: It is an enhancement of Life.

DOUGHT TO GET ALONG!

Sambo had found a job for the week on a railroad section gang, and was taking leave of his family when his wife came to the door and shouted: "Come back heah, Sam. You hasn't cut a stick of wood fo' de stove—and you'll be gone a week!"

The negro turned and looked very much aggrieved. "Honey," he said in a tone of injured innocence, "what's de matah? You-all talks as though Ah was takin' de ax with me."

Mending Done at Doctor's

White—Where were you coming from when I met you yesterday?

Brown—From the doctor's. I had some mending done.

White—What did the doctor mend for you?

Brown—A couple of socks my wife gave me.

Excusable

He was on trial for having shot a saxophone player and in defence stated that he thought it was a cat. "But you mustn't shoot anything," said the magistrate firmly. "Not even a cat."

"Please, your worship, I thought this one was very, very ill."

Carbolic Acid Advised

Oswald (writing a letter to his friend)—Dear Bob, you know I love Louise, but her father objects to our marriage, and if she can't be mine, I'll surely have to commit suicide. What do you advise?

His friend answered—Carbolic acid, old man.

He Had Heard of It

"Hello, whiskers; where are you going with that lantern?"

"What place is this?"

"New York."

"Well," said Diogenes, sorrowfully, "I guess it won't do any good to look here."

ALWAYS DOWN

Customer—Well, how's business in feathers now? Picking up, I guess.

Dealer—No, my friend, it is always down.

Habitation

The World has sung the same old song. On "Culture" still intent. We say that something must be wrong. Because it differs.

She Guffawed Then

Sam—I never see you with Miss Giddings any more.

Lou—No; I could not stand her vulgar laughing.

Sam—So! I haven't noticed it.

Lou—No, you weren't around when I proposed to her.

Kept 'Em Guessing

"Old Jake was buried yesterday."

"What did he die of?"

"Nobody knows; not even the doctor."

"That's just like the old rascal. Nobody knew what he lived on and nobody knows what he died from."

Garage Will Need Repairs

Joan—What's made you so late?

Jim—I ran into a garage on the way.

Joan—Did you need some repairs, then?

Jim—No; but the garage will.

Ask Dad, He Knows

"Are you fond of moving pictures?" asked the chance acquaintance.

"No, I think when pictures are hung they ought to stay put," growled the husband of the woman with a "change-the-room-around" complex.

MASHED EVEN POTATOES

Hubby—The cook's rather pretty, but flirts with I think.

Wife (alarmed)—Why do you think so?

Hubby—She mashes even the turnips and potatoes, you see.

Grand Operations

On Opera were still intent. While Statesmen stir the Nation A large amount of sentiment is just vocalization.

A Better Use

Wearily Dan—What's become of all de swell names what used to be on the pullman trains.

Dusty Rhodes—Ah, they're using them in naming new soft drinks.

CITY HALL NEWS

Street Commissioner Stuart moved yesterday from 122 East Side Parkway to his new residence at 6 Rangeley road, off Pleasant street, West Newton. His new telephone number is West Newton 0290.

In the future applicants for garage permits are going to find difficulty in obtaining permits for garages designated for two cars but which are large enough to contain three or four cars. According to law before permits can be granted for garages of three or more car capacity, public hearings must be held before the Board of Aldermen. In a number of cases "wise individuals" have applied for and been granted permits to erect two car garages. Then they have built structures in which more than two cars have been garaged.

Dana of the Boston Elevated appeared before the Licenses Committee of the Aldermen on Wednesday night in connection with the petition of that committee for a permit to construct a short section of double track across Commonwealth avenue at the Newton-Boston line. It is planned to run the cars of the Elevated over these tracks into the terminal yard of the company near Lake street. Loading platforms will be built in the yard and passengers will alight on these platforms instead of at the little station which is located on Commonwealth avenue.

The Elevated officials state that the proposed plan will expedite the handling of traffic and save considerable loss of time which is now caused by shifting the cars over a single track from Commonwealth avenue into the terminal yard. They also contend that the new method will offer less obstruction to automobile traffic along the north side of the avenue than does the present method.

The petition has been before the Aldermen for many months. One obstacle to the granting of it has been the desire of the Aldermen to have the present waiting room on Commonwealth avenue removed. This building is owned jointly by the Elevated and the Middlesex & Boston. The latter company wants a waiting room retained while it continues to operate the line of electric cars along Commonwealth avenue to Auburndale. The Elevated has agreed to replace the existing structure by a smaller, more attractive waiting room if granted permission to lay the double line of tracks.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons report that they have sold for Charles Azab his old Colonial mansion located on 11 North street in the Newtonville district, bordering the Albemarle Golf links. With the house, which is completely modern, there is a frame garage and 43,000 square feet of land, and the total value of the property is $22,000. Ernest Ferguson purchases for a home, and will occupy the premises.

They have sold in the Newtonville district the Colonial frame house with garage and 7,000 square feet of land, located 239 Harvard circle. The property is valued at $12,500. Title was conveyed to Walter Coombs of Gungahvald Mortensen.

Burns & Sons also report that they have sold in the West Newton district for George Todd his single frame house at 10 Westview terrace. With the house, there is a garage and 6,000 square feet of land, and the property is valued at $12,000. Charlotte Dilland is the purchaser, and will occupy the premises.

All the above sales were negotiated through the office of John T. Burns & Sons.

TO REPRESENT NEWTON

Newton will be represented at the Sixteenth National Recreation Congress in Louisville, October 14-19, by Mr. Ernst Hermann, Superintendent of Playgrounds, and Miss Lillian Swartz, Girls' Director of the Hawthorn Playhouse.

Shakespeare's Humor

Shakespeare frequently mentioned Madeira wines in his plays and he perpetuated an ancient legend in making that grim humorist, King Richard III, get rid of his ambitious elder brother, the duke of Clarence, by having him stood on his head in a butt of his favorite Madeira in the Tower of London, till he was drowned.

Moisture in the Home

The assertion was made that our homes would be much more comfortable in winter were the interior not so dry. Thermal engineers have asserted that on a zero day as much as a bathtub full of water, or from 12 to 20 gallons, should be evaporated in a home to keep it at the comfort point.

Mule Always Important

In spite of all the modern mechanical equipment of armies, the mule still remains indispensable to military efficiency. Centuries before Hannibal and his elephants marched on Rome the mule was a military actor of first importance.

KIWANIS CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was held on Tuesday at the Newton Centre Women's Club. A large number of members were in attendance for the monthly business meeting and to hear the report of the delegates from Newton to the New England District Convention which was held at Poland Spring, September 22 to September 25. The convention report was presented by James P. Gallagher and A. C. Bellinger gave an interesting account of the social activities incidental to the convention. The Treasurer's monthly report was presented and indicates a healthy financial condition notwithstanding the heavy demands which have been made in recent months on the club's resources.

The next meeting will be held on October 8 at the Newton Centre Women's Club, the program for that meeting being under the direction of E. A. Robertson manager of the Newton District of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

Flavor of First Wife's Cooking Found at Last

A middle-aged spinster married a widower, who had lost his first wife after a marriage of 15 years.

The spinster, who lived for years with her aged mother, was brought up in the spirit of immaculate house-keeping. An old-fashioned house-keeper, the mother excelled in cooking and her daughter kept fairly well in her footsteps.

Yet, despite her efforts and her skill in culinary arts, the new bride never succeeded in quite satisfying her husband.

"It's fine, Sadie," he told her often, "but there is just something amiss. My poor Mary could give the food a flavor I never find anywhere else. I don't know just how she did it."

Then came a day when housecleaning kept Sadie on her toes all day. In a rush to have everything clean and in order by the time her hubby arrived, she forgot to look after the meal. When she remembered, it was too late. There was a burned meal.

As she watched her husband taste the food. But how surprised was she, when he exclaimed:

"Now, Sadie, that's really fine. It has that delightful flavor which distinguished Mary's cooking."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Snakes Not Aggressive; Called Lazy and Timid

"Contrary to lore, snakes do not attack humans wantonly," reads an article in the news magazine Time.

"They are lazy and timid and do not strike unless hurt or threatened with harm," the article continues.

"Exceptions are the African mamba, the Malayan king, the bushmaster of the tropics, and cascavel, a rattler of Central America. A coachwhip will sometimes follow a man. But it is only curious, and will speed away if threatened."

Other facts about snakes are given in Time as follows: "Identifying poisonous snakes is easy. Most of them belong to the pit-viper family. They have a deep depression between eyes and nostrils. Heads are flat and triangular, necks thin, bodies stout; tails short, eyes with elliptical pupils like a cat's. Fangs fold back against the roof of the mouth. A single row of scales runs along the belly. The biggest United States snake is the eastern diamond-back rattler, which grows to nine feet."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

When Teeth Were Weapons
Most of us, from our earliest days, are at intervals gravely troubled by our teeth. It was not always so.

The jawbone of the Heidelberg man, who walked this earth about 50,000 years ago, is placed alongside that of modern man. We realize that our underkiefers, as the Germans call them, are but as toys when compared with those of our earliest ancestors.

The jawbones of still more ancient people than the Heidelberg race were even more formidable as they were provided with projecting teeth, which, without much doubt, were used in fighting and in other manly sports of those days.

Value of Mental Training
Mental training, both in reading and in special study, does much to keep the individual happy, wideawake and healthy. Much of the trouble in the world comes from worry; if a man or woman is busy with his own interests and retains the ambitions of earlier years his chances of a happy, profitable life seem greater.

The plight of the unhappy individual who never reads or who has no special hobbies is not a pleasant one, the practice of mental thrift, of utilizing the brain through later years, makes a richer, fuller life.—Thrill Magazine.

To Strengthen Eyes
Eye exercise to strengthen the muscles are advised by certain physicians, and these should be done before breakfast. Keep the head still and roll the eyes upwards as far as possible, then right downwards, with a steady and unjerky motion. Continue rolling the eyes right, then left. Now lift them upwards and inwards, then upwards and outwards; and finally downwards and inwards, and downwards and outwards. Do this five times at first and gradually increase to twelve a day.

Daily Thought
From the lowest depths, there is a path to the loftiest heights. The tendency to persevere, to persist in spite of hindrances, discouragements, and impossibilities—it is this in all things that distinguishes the strong soul from the weak. The man without a purpose is like a ship without a rudder—a waif, a nothing, a no man. Have a purpose in life, and, having it, throw such strength of mind and muscle into your work as God has given you.—Thomas Carlyle.

Church Communion
The Encyclopedia of Church History defines "open communion" as the service of the holy communion of saints which is open to all who apply, irrespective of creed. In "closed communion" the service is confined to the members of a single society or at least to the members of a denomination who are baptized. By "communion of place" is meant the administration of the sacrament in a consecrated building. It also refers to the retention of the Host.

Just a Minute

Which appears every week in this paper. Urge the children to try it. The winners receive fine Prizes.

TRAGEDY

Sandy called the police station. He was excited, almost incoherent.

"Throw a drag net around the city immediately," was the substance of his speech.

"Why," asked the practical chief, who was also an Elk, Odd Fellow, fireman, Chamber of Commerce, R. O. T. C. and what have you.

"I dropped a half dollar out of the window," came the far-off, fainting reply.

Hope and Fear
A Welshman was playing a golf match in which he was getting the worst of it. He was obviously chagrined, but kept his temper.

However, on one tee, where his opponent sliced badly, the Welshman exclaimed—"Ah, I'm afraid you're in the bunker, I hope."

No Movie for Dessert
"You say your stenographer takes two hours for lunch and you take only 30 minutes?"

"Yes."

"How is that?"

"I guess it's because I can get along without a movie for dessert."

"I made a solemn promise to my mother when I was a kid that I never would use profane language."

Its Purpose
Mrs. Butts—What on earth did you buy that massive cabinet for?

Mr. Butts—Why, my dear, it's a genuine antique. An old crusader used to lock his wife up in that before he went off to war.

Couldn't Fool Him
Mrs. Newgilt—Are you sure that picture's a genuine Rembrandt?

Her Husband—Absolutely! I hunted up the man that painted it and got his personal guarantee.

The Luck of a Peacemaker
Mr. Goodsole—Dear me! Don't you boys know you should arbitrate your difficulties and not fight over them?

Battling Bobbie—I did arbitrate one and this is the arbitrator I'm tickin'.

Judge—Have you anything to offer the court before sentence is passed upon you?

Prisoner—No, yer honor; me lawyer took me last dollar.

"So Tom is mixed up in one of those triangles, eh?"

"Gosh, no! It's a hexagon in his case."

Give the devil his due,
But don't overdo it.

Blinks—You said your wife wouldn't be happy until you also had a three-car garage, and now that you have one I suppose she is.

Flaks—No, the neighbors now have a hanger in their back yard.

Club Atmosphere Best for Little Poker Game

Many of the boys in the city council are not averse to a friendly game of "five and ten," and so a few of them were sitting around a circular table at the home of a friend the other night. The wife thought it would be a kindly and popular thing to give the boys a sandwich or two and she bustled herself like any perfect hostess would do.

The sandwiches came, but the boys hardly knew what the filling was, as they were too occupied looking for the third ace or trying to find the fifth club. The dear lady didn't know it, but it's not ethical to interrupt that kind of a game.

A little later she happened to think that the baby had just reached the cote age and she knew the "gang" would only be tickled to death to see him perform. So she toted out the little fellow, who put on his act to an unsympathetic audience.

"I guess we will play the next game at the club," one of the boys remarked, and there was a heartiest chorus of "Amen."—Brockton Enterprise.

Englishman First With Idea of Artificial Silk
Most of the credit for the idea of manufacturing artificial silk goes to France, and the honor has usually been given to Reanum, a French naturalist. Actually, the first known suggestion was made by an Englishman, Dr. Robert Hook. In 1664 he published a book, "Micrographia," in which he described a microscopic examination of real silk, and suggested the possibility of producing a similar thread by mechanical means. The first machine to produce an artificial thread was made in England. In 1840, Mr. Louis Schwabe took out the first patent and erected his machine, embodying spinnerettes, in Manchester, but the product failed to attract and Schwabe committed suicide three years later. Today the spinnerette is in full use, and £135,000,000 is invested in the industry in England alone.

Peep at Valencia
The city of Valencia is on that wonderful bit of Spanish Mediterranean coast where the climate is so much more certain than that of the Italian Riviera or the French Cote d'Azur. It is curious that so many places in this district should be associated with "desert." Valencia and Malaga raisins, Denia oranges, Barcelona nuts—they are all familiar to us. And Tarragona supplies a wine which does duty on many a British dinner table for port.

"I get home about six in the evening, have dinner, and often go out with the family around eight o'clock.

"If you wait until eight-thirty to call me on the telephone during the night-rate period, you may not find me at home.

"If you call before seven, you have to pay full day rates.

"But—there is a low evening rate for social calls from seven to eight-thirty. That's the best time to reach me at home."

Plan your social calls during this period. Take advantage of the low evening rates which apply on station-to-station calls above forty miles.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Readers of this column, as upright members of a more or less upright community, cannot have anything but an academic interest in the abandonment of that ancient, but I hardly think honorable, structure known as the Middlesex county House of Correction. Located at East Cambridge it possesses a history which some one took the trouble to prepare and I, among (presumably) several others, the trouble to read. I don't remember now how it impressed me—there is so much crime fact and fiction these days—but I recall that the place is very, very old and without doubt a firetrap, as the officials assert.

The action of the authorities in abandoning this country bastille is based entirely upon noble and humane motives. Just because a man has been found guilty of an offense against society and punished by the imposition of a sentence there is no ground for exposing him to death by fire, suffocation or panic. Destruction of the building by any such cause might mean the end of his days and that would leave part of his sentence not served. Of course that is not the idea behind the closing. The intention is that all committed persons shall have their rights preserved and be allowed to serve the full period of the court's sentence without the possible interruption that a conflagration or sudden collapse of the structure might bring about.

I quite agree that if it is necessary to have prisons, and there seems to be little question of that, they should meet every requirement of safety. When I learned that our country House of Correction had been closed and the prisoners transferred, it occurred to me that one set of offenders might well have been allowed to remain. I refer to those found guilty of incendiarism—called in news reports "fire-bugs". Now it seems to me that if a man knew that the penalty for being caught setting a fire was confinement for a lengthy period in a building recognized as a fire-trap he might not be so speedy about applying the torch for insurance or other reasons. However, that is merely a suggestion and I do not urge it as earnestly as some of the other matters that are before me.

I note that the insistence of the Massachusetts Legislature that a new Middlesex county House of Correction be built somewhere other than Cambridge has so completely tied the hands of the Middlesex County Commissioners that they cannot proceed to remedy the situation. When the County Commissioners at this year's session of the General Court asked for authority to replace the present structure they were given an enacted bill under the provisions of which a new building would have to be built in any part of the county except the city of Cambridge. It would seem that the Legislature, or those members who steered the bill through, had their own ideas which were not those of the County Commissioners.

One more suggestion, if I may. Suppose the County Commissioners invite the members of the General Court to inspect the building, making sure that all who opposed their wishes were among those who accepted the invitation. After all the legislators had gathered inside, the commissioners might slip out, turn the key in the front and say, "We'll let you out after you pass the kind of a bill we want." I offer the suggestion for whatever it may be worth.

As the outdoor advertising, otherwise known as the billboard law, is still before a master and therefore not among Massachusetts statutes either enforced or neglected, we still have with us those advertising spectacles proclaiming the wonders of soap, cigarettes and other essentials. I fancy that our eyes are getting accustomed to these atrocities. At any rate we hear less complaining. Perhaps there is a feeling that it is useless.

The only thing for those of us who still refuse to bend the knee and say, "O, well, we might as well accept it—what's the use of kicking"; to those of us who like to see our countryside in its full beauty and free from all taint of unnecessary commercialism—there is still left the other side of the Atlantic. To some like myself it is certainly a bit distant. Still, there may be those who, like myself, would learn of such things. Therefore, I take pleasure in printing from a letter of a faithful and loyal reader of this column who describes her trip thus:

"The trip from Grenoble to Chamonix, Mont Blanc, was heavenly. Huge comfortable open bus—perfect roads, little farms and vineyards melting into scenery of the wildest grandeur. Herds of cattle grazing, each with a bell—the original Swiss bell-ringers—and you wouldn't believe how musical they are. Not a filling station, not a hot dog stand nor a billboard showing a couple of society cigarette fiends and not so much as a tin can or a piece of paper to litter the roadside. A few signs as you near a big town make me tremble for the future—and, of course, American signs. If they permit them in these countries it will be shame and a disgrace."

I observe that inasmuch as Winter is headed this way the men in provision and grocery stores are putting on their straw hats. Here are individuals who get double their money's worth out of their purchase. It works the same as the wearing of furs in Summer by women. Of course I think the straw hat for men in Winter has some practical value. Maybe that is because I am a man and cannot get the viewpoint of the women who casually wear neck fur when the thermometer is nearing 90 degrees in the shade. She may demand to know what makes the men in the market wear straw hats when there is snow on the ground. I repeat, that when the mercury is low it is just as well to keep the head covered. Why, when it is a puzzle as far as I am concerned. However, I will speak for the men, hoping that some woman will speak for her sex. A straw hat in Winter can do more than protect one's head from the icy blasts. It can cheer the customers with the thought of a bright and beautiful Spring that is bound to come or it can recall that there has been a hot and sizzling Summer which had its glories though they be now faded. As a reminder of past delights the store-man's straw hat best serves. Some of these hats that I have taken account of remind one of several past Summers.

I suspect that being by nature chivalrous the store man likes to have something on his head to lift off when a lady customer enters and it is his cue to say "Good morning." Any kind of a straw hat, particularly those known as sailors, are easily doffed—much more so than the felt hat. I do not mention the stiff or so-called "iron" hat as that is almost entirely nonexistent except for stage and movie detectives. I recall that I once played a stage sleuth in "Stop Thief" and I flattered myself that the audience was roaring at my comedy. I have an idea that it was more likely the black derby I wore, but it's too late now to mend matters.

It would never have occurred to me to bring up this matter of the straw hats in Winter if it did not come to my mind. You see I am a believer in bareheadedness. I not only practice it but I preach it. Therefore, with the friendliest of intentions I said to a man whose store I patronize, "Don't you know that by going without a hat you can keep your hair from falling out?"

"Yeah," he replied, "I understand that. But I notice that going without a hat don't keep your hair from turning gray."

Every time there is an election somebody telephones me thus: "Say, Lev, where can I get registered? I want to vote in this election. The wife and I have been talking it over and we think we'd like to cast a ballot, or two ballots I should say, for Soandso. He's all right, isn't he? You're going to vote for him, aren't you or who do you think we'd ought to vote for?"

I insist that this does not show that these friends are among the unintelligent or the illiterate. The people who say such things as I have quoted above are among the very best citizens of Newton. The fact that they possess a college degree and a more than substantial bank account does not guarantee an interest in political matters. Other things intrigue them and politics is put aside.

Our elections are getting to be more and more like Christmas or Thanksgiving or some festival or occasion that needs celebrating. We put off Christmas shopping and turkey-buying until the last minute, so why not registering as a voter? Why be any more forward about this than in other things than come only once a year or once every two years?

It may seem that I enjoy being mean but I love to answer a query such as I have described with, "You're too late, you big chump. You ought to keep track of such things. Where is your patriotism?"

I once sprung that very thing on a friend. He came back at me with, "Where's my patriotism? Man, didn't I go to war. Didn't I do my bit in France?"

"Yes," I replied, "You did those things to save democracy. The very democracy that requires that your wife and you should be registered voters."

"Is that so," he snapped back. "Well, let me tell you, big boy, that if I had thought I was fighting for the fun of casting a ballot for a bird I never saw in my life I might have been shot for desertion."

For daring originality there is nothing like the weather as a topic of conversation. During a recent train ride I was obliged to listen, until I found a seat elsewhere to a husband and wife and another man who had wandered up from another part of the car to extend them his greetings. This was the way it went:

"Well, what kind of weather did you have?"

"We couldn't complain."
"Didn't have any at all?"
"Nary a drop."

"I wouldn't say that, Ezra, we come pretty near having rain the last of it."

"O, yes, that's so we did have showers that day before we came away, but that was all. How was it with you?"

"Awful dry. I would have liked to have had rain 'cause my garden was terrible. Things seem to dry up and spoil for want of rain right before your eyes."

"Is that so. Well, that's too bad. I'm awful sorry."

"Yes, that's the way it goes. What kind of weather do you think we're going to have tomorrow?"

"Seems to be gathering for a storm, don't it?"

"Does look that way, I must say."

"Yes, I guess we'll have rain before we get through with it."

"Yes, I think so."

"Course you never can tell."

"That's right, you never can tell."

For all I know they kept it up for the remainder of the three-hour journey.

TELEPHONE BUSINESS GROWING

The executive committee of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company has recently authorized the expenditure of $73,748, in the Newton North Central Office.

According to Manager R. J. Davis, the work is necessary at this time in order to take care of the constantly growing telephone business in the Newton North Central Office area. Recent trends indicate that the new subscriber wishes only the highest class of telephone service—the individual line, while people who have been subscribers for years are realizing the benefits of our individual line and are changing their service accordingly.

The work includes the removal of the present power equipment, the installation of two additional sections on the switchboard and a number of miscellaneous changes and additions.

Thanks are due the Graphic Press of Newton for loan of the above sketch of the Open Bible, which we shall use as our heading for this column this Fall. This picture has a two-fold significance. The lighted candles surrounding the Bible remind us that this book is itself a light. "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." It also means that more open Bibles well lighted by good teaching and right living are needed in our communities, our homes, our nation.

To teach the Bible, to apply its truths to modern life and to inspire true religious experience in those we teach is a most difficult and vital task, worthy the time and thought of busy, successful men and women. No teacher is so well prepared that she or he cannot learn more to help in class lessons and class management.

For the above reason, the Norumbega District School of Religious Education is held each year at Newtonville. The opening sessions for 1929 will occur next Monday evening, October 7, at the Newtonville M. E. Church, and at the same time there will be a simultaneous school at Newton Centre Methodist Church. Instructors in the first period at each place will become the second period instructors at the other location, changing during the 20 minute Assembly period. Further notice will be found elsewhere in the Graphic.

Recent Weddings

Scott of 1530 Beacon street, Waban, on Saturday evening, September twenty-eighth, at the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John S. Moses, rector of the church. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Ernest Shorrock, a sister of the bride, of Dorchester, was the matron of honor. The four bridesmaids were Miss Manice Ricker, Miss Martha Ricker, Miss E. Dick Hastings and Miss Dorothy E. Shorrock, a niece of the bride, all of Dorchester. Another niece of the bride, Miss Ruth Bonita Shorrock, also of Dorchester, was the flower girl.

The matron of honor wore peacock blue velvet with hat of matching shade and carried deep pink roses. The bridesmaids' gowns were of taffeta and point d'esprit in pastel shades with capes of silver lace and they carried garden flowers in tones to match their costumes. Before and after the wedding there was a special program of nuptial music played by Chandler Goldthwaite of New York and France.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the church ceremony.

GIRL SCOUTS

This week, October 6th-13th, is Newton Girl Scout Week, and the time when the Girl Scouts ask your co-operation and assistance.

Girl Scouting is twelve years old in Newton, and has grown by leaps and bounds. Today we have 900 Girl Scouts, 70 Officers, and over 100 interested women who give freely of their time and energy to help further this movement. Girl Scouting is America's accepted program for girl development, character building, and citizenship training. It is international in scope and one of the most influential factors today in promoting and developing World Peace.

Our Newton Local Council has its Headquarters at 297 Walnut street, Newtonville. This is the second year for our Headquarters, and our greater growth and usefulness to the city is the result of our increased efficiency. Miss Caroline Freeman, our Local Director, has two assistants to help her put over the program for our ten villages. When we realize the benefit these 900 girls are deriving from this training, it is our aim to grow and expand until every girl of 10 years of age or over may have the privilege of becoming a Girl Scout and learn to play the "Game of Girl Scouting" with us.

You are all familiar with our Camp Mary Day, where many of our girls spend their vacation growing mentally and physically under ideal conditions and influences.

On Sunday, October 6th, our Girl Scout Troops will attend churches in their respective villages. When you see these large groups of eager and enthusiastic young citizens, think of the power behind this character-developing program, and the great asset it is to Newton as a city! Look at our window displays; attend your local Girl Scout Troop meeting, and ask questions about Girl Scouting. We want you to know all about us—our aims and our ideals, and why we are an asset to the city of Newton. Then, realizing and appreciating the worthiness of this movement, write out your check immediately so that our work may go on in a finer, broader way.

It is our aim to make this Girl Scout Week, and to go over the top by October 13th. Please do your share.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION OF CENTRAL CHURCH

On Wednesday, October 2, the activities of the Woman's Association were renewed and notwithstanding the storm more than one hundred gathered before luncheon and remained until mid-afternoon. The Food Sale, in charge of Miss Louise Sherman, yielded seventy dollars. Mrs. H. M. Waybright was chairman of the Luncheon Committee.

"Let us not be afraid to venture," said Mrs. George Auryansen, in her opening remarks, reminding the Association of the words of St. Paul: "Not the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind." In introducing Mrs. Arthur Stanford, formerly a missionary in Japan, Mrs. Auryansen recalled their girlhood days at Abbot Academy when her friend became the fiancée of the young Andover student who has chosen Japan as his field. Mrs. Stanford was also a childhood friend of Mrs. Auryansen. Mrs. A. T. Hill during years passed in Japan.

"Those misleading statistics," was the subject, and Mrs. Stanford endeavored to give a fair estimate of the country in which she had served as missionary for many years. "There are two trends," she said. "One is ultra-admiration for Japanese art and customs. The other is the attitude of suspicion often felt." The one and one-half per cent given as the number of Christians is misleading and does not include the many thousands who are vitally interested and guide their lives by Christian ethics. Social service, the press, politics, and even the religious activities of the Buddhist are strongly influenced by Christianity.

Mrs. Stanford admired the restraint exercised by the government when our immigration act was passed. The central government sent word not to molest Americans in any way.

Miss Isabelle M. Chute was present and was welcomed as the new Director of Religious Education.

WEST NEWTON COMMUNITY CENTER INC.

The first meeting of the Board of Directors of the West Newton Community Center Inc. was held in the club rooms of the Davis School portable on Tuesday, October 1st, at ten o'clock, the president, Mrs. Phister Cowin, presiding.

The report of the Director of Activities, Miss Gertrude MacCallum, showed that July and August had been busy months filled with picnics and excursions for the various groups.

The mission which was carried on for the distribution of fruit and flowers, received and sent out flowers to cheer many shut-ins.

During September the two Mothers clubs have had meetings, the Moulton Club being delightfully entertained by the Wenecocomo Club with a very enjoyable program of games and music followed by refreshments.

On Wednesday, September 25th, at 4 o'clock the teachers of the Davis School were entertained at tea in the club rooms, the officers of the Center assisted by Mrs. Matt W. Emerson and Mrs. Fred Allen dispensing hospitality.

The first big event of the season is to be the Out-Door Fete to be held on Friday, October 4th, from four until ten o'clock at the Davis School playgrounds. In case of rain it will be postponed until Saturday. There will be dancing and booths for the sale of grams, white elephants, tonic, ice cream and candy. A bicycle and a doll carriage parade will be features. The proceeds are to be used for materials for the handwork projects during the winter.

Plans were discussed for a bridge party to be given during October on the recommendation of the Finance Committee for the purpose of raising funds to carry on the work of the Center.

The next meeting of the Board will be on Tuesday, November 5th.

THE DANGEROUS DRIVING SEASON

This is the most dangerous season of the year for motorists. To protect yourself and your car from the accidents caused by slippery leaves on streets replace the old smooth tires on your car with new GOODYEAR TIRES. Their rugged threads will prevent skidding. If you contemplate a trip over October 12th, remember that three years ago on this date the Mohawk Trail and other popular New England routes were covered with snow. Don't delay buying chains. Purchase your GOODYEAR TIRES and MCKAY CHAINS from the C. M. Evans Company at 52 Mount Auburn street, Watertown. Only a short drive from Newton Corner.

NEWTON CIRCLE, INC.

Following another series of four Summer Concerts, which were enjoyed not only by the citizens of the Newtons, but by many passing motorists, as well, the Newton Circle Incorporated began its autumn and winter work with a meeting at the Red Cross House, on Friday September 27th, 1929. There was a large attendance at this opening meeting. Preliminary plans for the Annual Bazaar were discussed with enthusiasm. Mrs. Wellman made an interesting report on the summer's work which consisted largely of a health and vacation program. The Circle is looking forward to a year of increased opportunity for service.

Small homes as well as large need lower heating costs

THE owners of large houses nearly always economize—that is, they buy wisely—and, in building they nearly always insulate. It is the latest kind of economy for the owner of a small house to think he cannot "afford" to insulate. He can't afford not to insulate now that Johns-Manville has perfected a method that does away with costly re-plastering or re-siding.

This new Home Insulation can be quickly and cheaply applied to any house—whether frame, brick-veneer, or stucco, so as to provide an insulating wall four inches thick against summer heat and wintry winds.

We know you will find it profitable to learn about the genuine savings in fuel it will make possible, and you will be amazed to learn how much more comfortable it will make every room in your home both winter and summer. Come in and see us, or phone and we shall be pleased to call at your convenience, without obligating you in any way.

ROTARY CLUB

Arthur L. Lewis, a resident of Oak Hill and president of the Rotary Club of Watertown was the guest and speaker at the regular Monday luncheon of the Newton Rotary club held at the Woodland Golf Club. Mr. Lewis is president of the Lewis-Shepard Company manufacturers of material handling equipment and one of the leading business men of New England.

Mr. Lewis said that every January he and his associates prepared an estimate of the business they were to have the ensuing year and allocated it among the 14 products they manufactured. This estimate was sent to all their 65 salesmen and they were expected to produce results. The expenses were also budgeted and allocated in similar manner. Due to this methodical handling of its affairs, the company now does a prosperous business of about a million and a half each year. Mr. Lewis also believes in forecasting business of the future. He predicted that the tariff would be settled by December and would help business materially. He thought Mellon and Davis would both retire from the Cabinet and that Hoover would be re-elected in 1932.

SCHOOL FOOTBALL
GETS GOOD START

Although a few of the Greater Boston schoolboy football teams got into action a week earlier the first real opening of the season took place last Saturday when practically every team in the state made its first bid for honors. Upsets were quite frequent and if they continue in the next few weeks the mythical state championship will be almost a free-for-all scramble. A glance at the doings of Newton's coming opponents is fitting at this time. Taking them in the order that they will meet the orange and black the first is Cambridge Latin.

The Cambridge High and Latin school team opened its season two weeks ago today against Boston College High. Coach Leander MacDonald of the Cantabs was forced to put a green team in the field, graduation having taken most of his veteran material. Frequent fumbles and lack of timing led to the Cantabs' defeat, Boston College High winning 13 to 0. Last Saturday Salem High showed surprising strength blanking Cambridge 31 to 0.

Everett High, despite the early reports that predicted one of the weakest teams in years, continued its showing of the week previous and hung up its second win of the year. In its first game Coach Gildes' team sprung a surprise and defeated Nashua High 13 to 0. Last week Warwick High of Rhode Island was the visitor to Everett and they went home smarting under a 33 to 0 score. Everett opens its Suburban League season tomorrow against Rindge which apparently has one of the strongest teams to represent the Cambridge Technical school in some years.

Quincy High opened its season against Melrose and was defeated by the latter 25 to 0. Warren Kinney, Melrose star, tallied three times to beat the Granite City lads.

Somerville High and Cranston (R. I.) high battled on the Dilboy field gridiron Saturday afternoon in the former's first game of the 1929 campaign. Martin's pass to Wells (these two are Somerville's only letter men left from last year's outfit) gave Coach Dickerman's team the only touchdown of the game and enabled Somerville to win 6 to 0. Somerville and Waltham tackle each other on Dilboy field tomorrow afternoon in one of the headline attractions of the day.

Medford high kept its slate clean by scoring one touchdown against Brockton to win 7 to 0. Both of these teams opened their season the week previous with Medford topping Pinkerton Academy 12 to 6. In last Saturday's game with Brockton the Collins' coached outfit was lucky to win. Capt. Lawrence Spellman proving the hero by intercepting a Brockton forward pass and running 85 yards for the touchdown in the middle of the last period. In justice to Brockton it should be said that four of the regular players, letter men from last year, were out of the game through sickness.

Rindge Technical school showed up unexpectedly well in swarming over Revere to the tune of 26 to 6. It was the first game for both elevens. Gilgun was the big gun for Rindge. The Everett-Rindge game tomorrow is another of the best attractions on tomorrow's slate.

Waltham, although inexperienced, was expected to defeat Watertown, despite the fact that the latter is largely a veteran eleven in the opening game of the season for both outfits. But the Watch City was not expected to run up a 32 to 6 score, the largest score made by one of Coach Leary's teams in two years. Pendergast, Waltham flash last year, was the star of the game, reeling off several long runs which included two touchdowns. Krol, a recent transfer from New Hampshire, played a good game and scored twice in the third period. Bill Gerrie added the other while Johnson of Watertown saved a shutout by running 75 yards for a score in the last period.

One of the biggest surprises of the day took place at Lynn where the Classical high eleven held the heavy Brookline outfit to a scoreless tie. Both teams have little experienced material but the Wealthy Towners were expected to be too much for the home team. It was a thrilling contest despite the lack of point-scoring with the final whistle finding the pigskin in Brookline's possession on the Classical one-yard line.

HUNNEWELL SMOKER OPENS SEASON

The annual Hunnewell Club smoker and open house, ushering in the fall season of club activities, was held Wednesday night with a large gathering of members and guests present. The feature event of the evening was a 10-string bowling match, Boston pins, between Paul Poehler and Archie Walsh, New England champion bowlers.

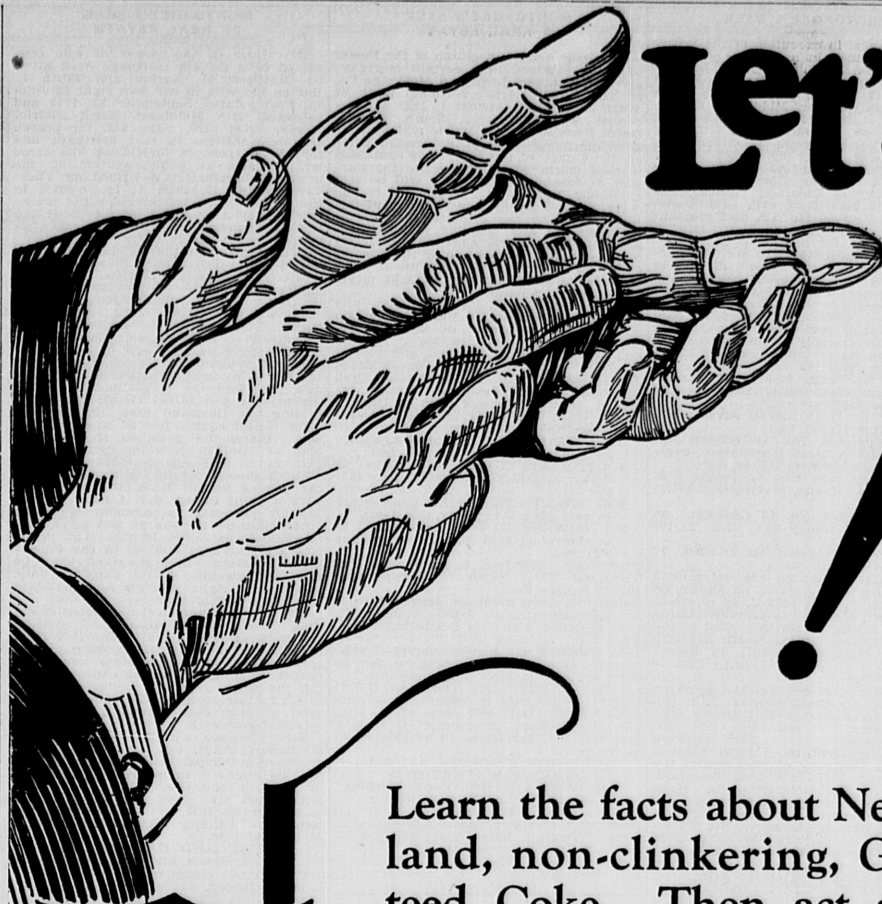

The match was thrilling throughout with neither man having too formidable a lead at any time. At the end of the ninth string Walsh was five up on the total pinfall. He kept adding to his lead slightly during the string but Poehler came fast at the finish and with a strike on his final bow won the match by four pins. Poehler's total was 1269 against 1265 for Walsh.

Following the match the alleys were thrown open to those who wished to bowl while others enjoyed the use of the card and billiard tables. Refreshments were served.

SPORT NOTES

Local Pair Win Finals

Abbot Gotshall and Francis Broughton of the Burr Tennis Association of Newton won the doubles championship of the Old Colony Tennis League on the courts of the Longwood Cricket club last Sunday. They defeated Benson and Bruster of the Winsor Club of Watertown in the semifinals, 6-1, 6-1, 6-6, 6-3 and then met S. P. Jewell and Clifford Jones of the Bellevue Club of Melrose in the final. The final match was a long hard three set battle with the Newton pair winning 6-4, 12-10, 9-7.

Dunnell And Partner Win

Richard Dunnell, a member of the Newton high school tennis team, and his partner, Miss Lee Martin, won the mixed doubles championship in the finals of the 14th annual boys' and girls' lawn tennis tournament at the Longwood courts on Sunday afternoon. The defeated Miss Jones of Swampscott and Ralph Pope, Jr., of Brookline, 6-5. Dunnell reached the semifinals of the boys' singles where he was eliminated by Richard Riley. One of the other semi-finalists in this tourney was Charles Houghton of Newton who was put out by the ultimate title winner, Robert Bentley.

Stone Going Good

Stuart Stone has been showing up well in the backfield of the Newton varsity football team during the recent practice scrimmages there. The West Newton youth will probably do much of the line-plugging for the Brunswick eleven. Bob Thayer, a former Waban youth, who was out of the game last year on account of appendicitis, is also expected to be a regular in the Polar Bear backfield.

St. Charles Wins Opener

St. Charles School of Waltham won its opening football game of the season last Friday defeating St. Mary's High team of Brookline on the Stony Batter gridiron 12 to 6. The Waltham eleven is coached by Donald Houghton of Waban. The victory came in the closing minutes of a thrilling game. The Brookline team, outweighing their opponents by many pounds, scored in the first period after blocking a St. Charles kick and completing a forward pass to the four-yard line. In the second period St. Charles tied the score. With the game drawing to a close St. Charles intercepted a Brookline pass. A long forward pass, which went 42 yards in the air was caught by Boudreau, Waltham star back, on the goal line for the winning points. St. Charles is playing Dover High on the Stony Batter field this afternoon.

Give - your children a REAL HOME to remember

WHAT are your own happiest memories? The old home—the yard you played in, the trees you climbed. And the quiet, pleasant hallway, with mother waiting for you. You cannot think of a mother without associating her with a home—a house.

You can and should have a home that will make you and your family happy. Figure up what you have paid out for rent and for other things that represent no permanent investment—and realize what you could have been doing toward owning your own home.

Ask us to estimate costs and help you plan. Among other things, ask us about Upson Board for walls, ceilings, partitions, lining and insulating attic and cellar. Goes up in $\frac{1}{2}$ the time of plaster, at a fraction of the cost. Phone or write us today.

COMING EVENTS

Christian Era Study Club

Miss Ella B. Smith, the founder president of the Christian Era Study Club of Auburndale, is opening her home at number 5 Vista avenue, for the first meeting of the season, on Monday afternoon, October 7th, at 3 o'clock.

The course of study this year is a continuation of the events connected with the growth of the Christian church since its earliest days, and "Forward Movements in the Nineteenth Century", is the general topic.
There will be two papers on this afternoon, one on "President Monroe and the Monroe Doctrine", which will be given by Mrs. Arthur W. Desoe, and one on the "Steamboat and the Great Waterways", by Mrs. H. E. B.
Case.

Newton Mothers' Club

Mrs. C. E. Benson, Mrs. A. C. Blunt, Jr., and Mrs. S. M. Bolster are the hostesses for the Informal Tea at the home of Mrs. Benson, 9 Somerset road, West Newton, which marks the first gathering of the Newton Mothers' Club. From 4 until 5 o'clock, on Monday afternoon, the 7th, members of this Club will enjoy this social hour.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

Miss Ethel Sabin, new president of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club greets her fellow-members in a most interesting reception at her home, 1206 Boylston street, on Monday, evening, the 7th, at 7.30 o'clock.
There will be reports of the General and State Federation meetings during the business session. Besides the reception to new members, and refreshments served there is a bit of mystery about an entertainment promised that rounds out an enjoyable affair.

Waban Woman's Club

Although the regular meetings of the Waban Woman's Club do not begin until November, there are special events sponsored by this Club which occur during the coming month.

On October 8th, the Conservation committee, of which Mrs. Thomas I.
Taylor is chairman, will hold a Garden Bazaar, on the Union Church grounds from 2 to 6 o'clock. The aim of this bazaar is one of splendid community spirit, to swell the Club's fund for the new library at Waban; to suggest varied ideas for the individual garden; and to promote the spirit of conservation. There will be an attractive display of house plants, and perennials. Bulbs can be bought for winter use or for fall planting.
Expert advice can be obtained on all garden matters. There will also be a gay showing of pottery, garden smocks, and scarfs. The specific interest in conservation will be brought out by a sale of bird houses, feeding stations, and small evergreens. Everybody is cordially invited.

On the afternoon of October 21st, at 2 o'clock, there will be a Pivot Bridge at the Neighborhood Club House for the benefit of the Philanthropic Fund, of the Club. Mrs. Clifford H. Walker, who is the chairman in charge of the arrangements for this affair, plans to make this a very pleasant social afternoon. The Girl Scouts are to have candy for sale. The committee under Mrs. Walker will have sole charge of the sale of tickets.

The Dramatics Committee of the Waban Woman's Club of which Mrs.
Reuben M. Ellis is chairman, wishes to announce at this time that they will present "Hay Fever" by Noel Coward, a play in three acts, under the direction of Mr. Alan Hay, on the 7th, at the Waban Neighborhood Club for the benefit of the Waban Public Library Fund.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Mrs. W. C. Noetzel, chairman of the Art committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club announces a most interesting series of lectures planned for the pleasure and instruction of Club members. The first of these will be held on Wednesday, October 9th, at 3 p. m., in the Club House, on the subject "Giotto and the 14th Century".
Miss Frances Varney, a Newton Centre woman, who has been studying art in Italy, will give the series of lectures, illustrating them by some beautiful reproductions that she has secured.

Mrs. Norman Pratt, of Grant avenue is in charge of tickets, which may be secured either for the Course, or for single lectures.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

On October 9th at the Workshop, there is to be a President's Conference, instead of the usual President's Day, as a fall sociability, the Waban Woman's Club joining with the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands in this affair, which includes a luncheon and opportunity to discuss Club problems. Fifty-one Club presidents and other honored guests have accepted,
among them Mrs. Azel A. Packard,
Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, and Mrs.
Horace B. Gale, of the State Federation, and Mrs. Phister Cowin, of the Newton Federation.

STATE FEDERATION

RADIO. Mrs. Azel A. Packard, president of the State Federation, will broadcast a message to Clubwomen from WNAC, Wednesday morning, October 9th, at 11.30 o'clock. Anne Demirjian, Soprano, accompanied by Dorothy Jefferson Paine, is to entertain at 11.35 and at 11.50, Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, chairman of Legislation is to broadcast: "Legislation; What Price Progress?"

Many interesting announcements for Clubwomen, and many bits of news come from the State Federation, so many in fact, that only in brief can they be taken up this week, to be developed more fully as the month progresses and the dates become nearer for committee meetings. Dates of appeal may, however, be reserved
by Clubwomen at this time.

The first noted is that, strictly speaking, an activity of the State Federation, but because of its discussion by Clubwomen at the moment it is called to their attention by the State Federation.

CHILD PSYCHOLOGY. Under the auspices of the Judge Baker Foundation, a series of lectures on Child Psychology, Inc., a fall lecture course will be conducted Wednesday, at 4 o'clock, in Ford Hall, Boston, beginning October 16th devoted to "The Behavior of Youth."

Prominent child specialists will present these subjects: Only in brief Nature and Nurture in the Early Years; October 23rd, Teasing, Individual and Social Problems; October 30th, The Normal Adolescent; November 6th, Mental Hygiene Contributions to the Understanding of Problems of College Students; November 13th, to be announced; November 20th, Family Configurations in Human Maladjustments.

MOTHERCRAFT AND CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE. On Tuesday, October 29th, at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, will be held by the Department of Child Welfare, a Conference, at 1.45 o'clock, that will include besides prominent speakers, the Mothercraft Playlet, and the reading of a prize essay on this subject, is the announcement of Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, the chairman. All Clubwomen who would like to attend should secure tickets as soon as possible from Mothercraft headquarters, 180 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. Tel. Commonwealth 5586. A bit of "good news" is that Mrs. John D. Sherman will be guest of honor and a speaker.

PUBLIC HEALTH CONFERENCE.
Dr. Anna C. Palmer, chairman of Public Health calls attention to a conference, to be held October 24th, in Chipman Hall, Tremont Temple, Boston, at 10.30 a. m., under the auspices of the Ladies' Physiological Institute, of which organization A.
Emma Polson, M.D., is president, and Elizabeth Briggs, M.D., is chairman of the Public Health committee. Mrs.
A. A. Packard and Mrs. W. J. Mc-Donald will respond to greetings from the State Federation. Milk, Tuberculosis, Household Nursing, Community Health, and Occupational Therapy will be among the subjects discussed by specialists in these topics, and this will give an idea of the breadth of the Conference, so that Clubwomen may know whether or not there is something of appeal to them individually.

FALL MEETING. The State Federation accepts the hospitality of the Brookton Woman's Club this year for its Fall Meeting, to be held on Friday, October 25th, with the morning session opening at 10 o'clock, in Brookton Theatre, Main street, Brookton. Information as to train service will be given later. Those who travel by auto will be glad to learn that cars may be parked all day in City Hall extension, one block in rear of the theatre. White tickets are NE-CESSARY for admission (unless one is a delegate, with the tax collector's tickets are issued) and may be obtained from the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, 47 Terrace avenue, Newton Highlands.
Luncheon tickets MUST be obtained before October 18th, and may be purchased of Mrs. Allison C. Baldwin, 54
Ash street, Brookton, for one dollar.
Be sure to enclose self-addressed stamped envelope, with check.

COMMITTEES. Mrs. Arthur G.
Webster, chairman of the Division of Citizenship Training, says that "it seems to be very fitting, on the eve of the Ter-Centenary for Massachusetts that the State Federation should found a new division of the American Citizenship Department, that of Citizenship Training". The functions of this committee are to increase the sense of patriotism and loyalty to our government, and to make every woman an intelligent voter with a sense of the obligations which rest upon her as an American Citizen.

Mrs. Webster urges Clubs and Club-women to keep posted on public affairs by giving some time to current events at each meeting and she urges them to study various movements of public interest, and to familiarize themselves with the functions of government.

And Citizenship Training is only one of the divisions of the American Citizenship Department, a second appearing under a new name, that has been known through the years as the Americanization Department. Its title, with which it makes its bow to the Club world in 1929, is the more imposing one of Interracial Unity in America. These divisions, with Law Observance, and Civil Service make a new group of four.

Another Department shows the old order changing—the old friend we have met for so many years as Social and Industrial Conditions has become Social Welfare, and the Department of Public Welfare counts this as a division, with others of Community Service, Cooperation with Veterans, Mothercraft and Child Welfare, and Public Health. The field of Social Welfare will include philanthropy, mental hygiene, wage earners, protective measures and correctional institutions. New members have been added to the personnel, experts in their particular subjects, who will be glad to consult with Club members on their problems. Recently the Governor appointed an unpaid Commission of five persons to study the problem of protection of children.
The Social Welfare chairman, Mrs.
Frances Mayer Carter, is asking Clubs to give opportunity at meetings for presentation of the work of this Commission, and, also, to have presented the progress of another committee recently appointed to study the need for raising the school age.

Mrs. Daniel M. Goodridge, asking announcements as State Federation of Conservation, have special interest in Newton since she is one of our own Clubwomen, has had a most happy inspiration in a memorial, for accomplishment in her Department this year, that shall stand as most opportune as a part of the recognition of the Ter-Centenary. She suggests that there be purchased some beauty spot that shall be a lasting proof of the vision and enthusiasm of the members of the Massachusetts State Federation, this to be presented to the State, a worthwhile gift to be enjoyed throughout the ages by those who will bless them for their foresight and appreciation of the beautiful. She asks that all energies be bent toward accomplishment of the raising of a fund that will buy a substantial acreage and make the gift a truly splendid one. To this end the more money contributed, the larger purchase is made possible.
Subscriptions are to be sent to the treasurer, Mrs. Frederick S. Davis, Massachusetts Chambers, Boston.
Each donor's name will be suitably recognized.

A new piece of work to be undertaken for the State Federation has been placed under the supervision of Mrs. John H. Kimball, fourth vice-president. Federation Extension, it is called, and its aim is to bring about closer relations between units of the Federation and of the Clubs, especially of those not yet fully in touch with the Federation's organized work.

The Department of Legislation has increased its membership to 30 members, doubling its personnel—not that it intends to double its labors, however, Mrs. Fred S. Pigeon, the chairman, demurs—two representatives coming from each Club District. And in her appeal for presentation of this subject before Club audiences, she gives as pertinent arguments that political science is the highest edu-

SUBURBAN HOOP LEAGUE FORMED

Dr. Oscar Martin, faculty manager of athletics at Newton High school, was re-elected president of the Suburban league at the meeting of the organization at the Hotel Commander, Cambridge, last Friday night. Feature events of the evening were a farewell dinner to the retiring Secretary, M. C. O'Neill of Everett, formation of a basketball league of five teams, and the adoption of the 1930 baseball schedule.

Secretary M. C. O'Neill was presented with a shaving set by the faculty managers and coaches of the various schools in recognition of his ten years of service. The presentation was made by Coach Leander MacDonald of Cambridge Latin school. The Suburban league has allowed Mr. O'Neill full power in selecting football and basketball officials for the league games. Mr. Garrett Foley, faculty manager of athletics at Cambridge High and Latin school was elected to the office vacated by O'Neill who has also served his connections with the Everett schools in order to become a majority candidate in that city.

On a motion offered by Coach Thomas Murphy of Rindge Technical school a basketball league was formed for the coming winter. Five of the six schools that are members of the league voted in favor of the resolution. Brookline High, which has no facilities for this sport, will not be represented. It was agreed that two games with each team will be played, one at home and one away. Dr. Martin and Coach John L. Sullivan were present from Newton.

NEWTON COPS LOSE TO WORCESTER

The Worcester Police baseball team evened its series with the Newton police nine last Sunday afternoon on the West Newton Common by winning the return game 6 to 1. The first game was played two weeks ago at Worcester with the Garden City outwitting the Newton team 14 to 3. The defeat of the Newton team on Sunday means that the mythical state championship will be undecided as the lateness of the season prevents the playing of another game between the two teams. The Newton team had a clean slate prior to the final encounter, winning from the police teams of several of the nearby towns.

The locals could collect but four safe hits off the delivery of Kelley of Worcester. Mullins led his teammates with two of the four hits. O'Connor and Murphy made one apiece with the latter scoring the lone tally for Newton in the last of the final frame.

Worcester scored twice in the second inning and three times in the fourth to clinch the game and added an extra run in the seventh.

Following the game a banquet was held for the two teams in the Old Venice restaurant at Norumbega Park. Many invited guests were present including Chief Bernard F. Burke of the Newton police and other city officials.

Hapgood's Rib Not Broken

GOOD ADVICE

Drivers' Code. There are certain traffic laws and many customs which should be stressed at the present time. The increasing number of deaths, injuries and accidents, due largely to ignorance, carelessness, and disregard of law and courtesy, indicate the necessity of such a restatement.

1. Drive well over on the right hand side of the road.
2. Pass approaching cars on your right hand.
3. Overtake and pass cars on your left hand.
4. Be very careful when making a left hand turn.
5. Do not overtake and pass on a curve, nor approaching a hill top.
6. Be extra careful of pedestrians, particularly children and elderly people.
7. Drive slow rather than fast. You will get there just as quick.
8. Observe scrupulously all traffic signals, signs, and directions.

Your personal convenience is of little consequence on the road, with thousands of other cars, and many people. Deaths, accidents, and the maiming of people, must stop. Always use left hand signals as follows:

1. Point left when intending to turn in that direction.
2. Rotate your hand when turning to right.
3. Raise your hand vertically when stopping.
4. Move your hand up and down when reversing.
5. Always look before doing any of the above.
6. Don't be afraid to use your horn.
7. Do not take risks.

Remain in line, and on your own side of the road, unless you have 300 to 500 feet clear view. Cutting out and in is a frequent cause of accidents. Be courteous at all times. Every vehicle you meet or pass has as much right on the road as you.

Report infractions of above, first being sure you yourself have obeyed all of them.

William G. Starkweather.

TO OPEN A WELLESLEY SHOP

Wellesley Square is to have another shop added to its ever-growing business section. For early this month Thayer McNeil, famous as merchants of the finest footwear for almost fifty years, is opening a new store at 572 Washington street.

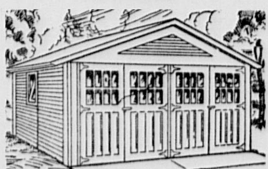

This new shop will specialize in footwear for women, and will also carry a complete assortment of misses' and children's shoes. At the hosiery counter will be found an abundance of hosiery for women, misses and children. With traffic and parking congestion as it is today in Boston proper, this shop should prove a real convenience to suburban residents.

The Wellesley Shop is to be managed by Mr. Charles Reid, formerly of Thayer McNeil's Boylston street and Magnolia Shops. Mr. Reid is already well-known to many of Thayer McNeil's customers. He will be assisted by a well-trained personnel.

This is the fourth store now operated by Thayer McNeil. The main store is downtown at 47 Temple Place and 15 West street, where there are special departments for men, women, and children. Another shop, exclusively for women's footwear and hosiery, is located at 515 Boylston street, near Berkeley street. While at 1288 Beacon street, in Coolidge Corner, is a store devoted to misses' and children's footwear and hosiery and women's hosiery.

There is a SAFETY POINT in Battery Value

You never save by paying too little for a battery. An unusually low price usually means low quality and scant capacity. Trouble, expense and a need for early replacement are sure to follow. What you may save in first price is lost many times over.

But at the safety point of fair price and high quality, you'll get full value in a Willard—selected materials, dependable construction, built-in durability and correct electrical size that mean many added months of money-saving service.

cation that can be given to the human mind, and that, consequently, political ignorance, common as it is, is not a safe thing for this or any other country. Whatever may be said as to its being "the highest education that can be given to the human mind", it will be assuredly good for the soul in the protecting of our country's fundamental ideals from the assaults of its material-minded foes.

Junior Membership has taken a great stride forward as a Department, since the Annual Meeting in May, Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, Jr., its chairman, reports. To Newton comes the pleasure of learning that a member of the West Newton Women's Educational Club is one of the new members of Mrs. Bennett's committee of eight, representing all parts of the State—Mrs. B. Howard Lester. A leaflet has been compiled that should be helpful to Clubs contemplating having Junior organizations, in that it gives definite information both for organization and for activities. Junior pins are available, and are a source of pleasure and satisfaction to Juniors. The Department has already accepted the gracious invitation of the Dorchester Woman's Club to hold its Annual Conference at their guests on Saturday, April 5th, 1930.

Newton Community Club

The first meeting of the Newton Community Club will be held on Thursday, October 10th, at 2:30 o'clock in the Underwood School Hall. The program, which is in charge of the Music Committee, promises to be a most enjoyable one. Miss Gertrude Ehrhart, considered to be one of Boston's leading sopranos, and Mr. Nicholas Slonimsky, pianist, composer, and lecturer, will give the program. Mr. Slonimsky has been associated with Serge Koussevitzky as private secretary for a number of years.

Following the music, there will be a reception, with the new president, Mrs. H. P. Curtiss, and other officers in the receiving line, and tea will be served.

Auburndale Woman's Club

A very attractive title is that for the lecture which is to be the program for members of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, October 10th. "The Psychology of Laughter" should be a keynote for a year of happiness and good will. Virginia Lind Buquo, A. B., and A. M., known as a "consulting psychologist", is the lecturer and her purpose will be to explain laughter, summarizing and illustrating by amusing stories. There will be a reception and tea, with the new president, Mrs. Charles C. Wilson, greeting her Club members and guests. The place of meeting is in the Auburndale Club House Auditorium, and the time is 2:30 p. m.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The president, Mrs. Joseph A. Otis, hopes to greet each member of the West Newton Women's Educational Club at its opening meeting on Friday, October 11th. Two-thirds is the hour of meeting at the Unitarian Parish House.

Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard will tell of her experiences in welcoming the guests at the station for the Biennial Club meeting.

Mrs. Clarence Glazier will give an account of events, in her capacity as hostess to the National Federation's vice-president, Mrs. Eugene Lawson, of Oklahoma. "Policies and Ideals of the Biennial Club Meeting" will be described by the president, Mrs. Otis. These should make a well-balanced account of the Biennial, infact and in humor, in activities and in personalities.

Mrs. Arnold Hartmann, Dinsmore will entertain with music.

On Monday, October 7th, at 10:15 a. m., the first Executive Board meeting occurs.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

On account of the change of place of meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands, for Monday, October 14th, announcement of this program is made earlier than usual in the Column. The opening meeting which was scheduled to be held with Mrs. Florence E. Foster, will be at the home of Mrs. George W. Barker, 31 Duncklee street. The program, "Get-together" social is in charge of Mrs. J. S. Patton and Mrs. George M. Hayden. It will consist of music, a Colonial Play, and Tea.

RECENT EVENTS

Auburndale Review Club

The Auburndale Review Club began its course of study for the year 1929-1930 on "The Growth and Present Phases of our Foreign Policies" with the most interesting morning, a pleasing mixture of serious and lighterweight. Mrs. Wickliffe J. Spaulding opened her home on Wolcott street for the regular meeting, beginning as usual at 10 o'clock. After vacation greetings and inquiries had been exchanged, and Club business matters settled, the members listened first to an interesting and instructive paper by Miss Elizabeth A. Rider on "The Texas Question, 1821-1844". The pros and cons of admittance to statehood, and the brief existence of the Republic of Texas, refreshed the memories of many, and proved interesting to all hearers. Continuing the tone of this paper, Mrs. George Campbell, dressed appropriately in blue, sang "The Blue Bonnets of Texas", with Mrs. Spaulding accompanying, to the great pleasure of the audience. The second paper by Mrs. George E. Martin, dealt with the "New Franklin Letters", considering those exchanged between Benjamin Franklin and Mary Stevenson, or "Polly", at whose mother's house, 7 Craven street, London, he lived many years, forming the friendship with the young girl of 19 which lasted as long as he lived. The delightful quaint formality of wording of those days, with the strong undercurrent of humor and true affection, make them letters which all will be eager to read for themselves.

After this instructive part of the program the Club adjourned to the house of the president, Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, across the way, where pooled sandwiches brought by the ladies; coffee, ice cream and cakes donated by various members, made an appetizing and charmingly informal luncheon, the Club's beginning for the year being voted most auspicious.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The opening meeting of the season of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands commenced with the usual enthusiasm shown in the large attendance of Club members.

The president, Mrs. Ward I. Cornell, presided most graciously. The program was filled with many interesting affairs.

As of old, yet of always new interest, the report of the State Federation Annual Meeting of last May, at Swampscott, was given by the Club's new State Federation Secretary, Mrs. Luther W. Piper. The vivid description of each session was so pictured, and so cleverly and wittily given, that the hearers felt they had attended the conference.

The guest of honor, the esteemed first president of the Club, Mrs. Charles G. Weatherbee, who is now corresponding secretary of the State Federation, greeted the members delightfully.

A resolution was presented to the Club to have the section on Lincoln street, numbering 69 to 75, remain as a residential zone. After a discussion by the members it was unanimously accepted and sent to the hearing, at City Hall, for presentation.

The Club had pleasure in greeting Miss Eunice Avery again, after her summer sojourn through India. Her interesting and educational talk on "India, as I Traveled Throughout the Country" shown in its high spots, and lack of progress, gave a most vivid picture of that gorgeous country of color and of religious superstitions. Miss Avery brought several articles of Indian for display, as scarfs, turbans, Temple hangings, all of exquisite colorings; water bowls of copper and brass, always carried by the women balanced on their heads, and an elephant-pick—a most cruel-looking weapon—which is used in the manner of a whip by which to drive the beast of burden. The story "Mother India," she said, was true and yet unfair.

A social time followed the meeting, with a Tea served by Mrs. Carl Kolb assisted by her committee. Mrs. Albert C. Hutchinson and Mrs. Fred G. Sandford poured.

Newton Federation

One of the pleasant opening events of the club season was the informal luncheon given by Mrs. Philetia Cowin at her home on Prince street, West Newton, on Wednesday, October 2nd, for the presidents of the Clubs and Associate Organizations in the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. Twenty guests enjoyed the hospitality of the President of the Federation, and opportunity to get acquainted and talk over affairs informally before the beginning of the club year.

POLICE NEWS

It is an expensive matter to assault a policeman. Two residents of this city discovered this, to their sorrow, when tried in the Newton court on Monday. By a peculiar coincidence both had assaulted not the policemen who arrested them but the policemen who happened to be assigned to the patrol wagon on the trips which brought the pair to police headquarters. Henry Smith of 49 Elmwood street, Newton was arrested by Patrolman Walsh for drunkenness. Patrolman Goodale testified that Smith had hit him while being carried to the police station at West Newton. Judge Bacon fined Smith $15 for drunkenness, $50 for assaulting the policeman, ordered him to pay $15 restitution for damage done to Goodale's uniform. In addition a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail was given Smith.

The second party in court on Monday to be penalized for getting rough with an escorting cop while being transported to a cell was Dominic Tiberio of 22 Beecher place, Newton Centre. Tiberio was arrested early Sunday morning for being drunk by Patrolman J. P. Kelly. While en route from Thompsonville direction to West Newton Dominic started to mix things up with Patrolman George Mulen who was in the patrol wagon with him. Tiberio severely scratched Mulen's face, but the latter, though slight of build can take care of himself and subdued the prisoner. Tiberio was ordered to pay $20 to Mulen for tearing his uniform, given a suspended sentence to the State Farm for having been drunk and given a suspended sentence of three months in jail on the assault charge.

Charles Nix of Brown street, Waltham was arrested Sunday night by Patrolman J. P. Murphy charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He will be tried next week.

In the Newton court Monday Andrew J. Peters Jr. of Jamaica Plain was fined $5 for failing to STOP before entering Washington street. Others fined like amounts for similar offences were—William Horneman, Allston; Cornelius Washburn, Marlboro; Bernard Silch, Natick; Arthur Sculio, Brighton; Katherine Martin, Dorchester; James Lavash of Waltham and Henry Vozina of Cambridge were fined $10 each for speeding.

In the Newton court on Friday "speeders" fined were—Mary Mery, Framingham, $10; Samuel Ostroff, Mattapan, $10; Melvin Klein, Lynn, $25. On the charge of reckless driving a suspended fine of $50 was imposed on Klein. George Covell of West Newton was fined $10 for driving without a license and $10 for driving without a registration certificate. Hugh Bannigan of Malden was fined $5 for driving on the north side of Commonwealth avenue. Fifteen persons were fined $5 each for not STOPPING before entering Washington street.

Antonio Dimambro, 33 School street, Newton was in the Newton court on Friday last charged with manslaughter and driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public. His case was continued until October 16 and he was held in $5500 bonds. Dimambro's arrest came as a result of an inquest held on Friday, September 20 before Judge Brown. Judge Brown decided that the evidence produced at the inquest showed that negligence on the part of Dimambro contributed to the cause of an automobile accident which resulted in the death of Edward Warnock of Boston. On September 12th, a car driven by Dimambro crashed into a truck on Walnut street, Newtonville. Warnock was riding on the truck and received injuries which resulted in his death at the Newton Hospital shortly afterwards.

IS THERE AN EXPERIMENTAL LABORATORY IN YOUR CELLAR?

There is such a laboratory if you are trying first one coal and then another; if you are buying without a brand name to identify the better coal from the poorer.

When you buy Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite you get a coal that produces conclusive results instead of contributing to a series of experiments.

Analysis shows this coal to have the highest heating-value per dollar of any household fuel.

Moreover, the Old Company's own laboratories have gone to great pains to work out for the consumer the most efficient methods of heater management . . . so that its users may get full benefit from the surpassing heat value of this unusually pure, dense and uniform hard coal.

These methods have been embodied in a booklet that Old Company's dealers supply, without charge, to their customers. It's called "Handling Your Heater with Ease and Comfort."

Order Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite by its full brand name; and so make sure of getting a coal that represents known value.

For name of your nearest dealer, look in your classified telephone directory under "Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite."

Round the World With The Alphabet

The . . . nation's the oldest one
Of all the countries under the sun.
And the . . . people are honest and true.
They are very polite and industrious too;
Of course, their ways, to us, appear Decidedly backward and very queer;
When a . . . boy means, "Yes," instead
Of nodding, he shakes his head.

(1) Question—What country does this refer to?

Number Work

A letter plus horse food equals a garment?
A letter plus nickname equals a heavenly body?

A letter plus writing fluid equals a color?
A letter plus a distance equals an expression of joy?

(2) Give the answers to the four problems.

Riddles

When is a door not a door?
What has 4 feet in the morning, 2 at noon and 3 at night?

What has 100 eyes and never a head?
When I go my body stands; when I stop,
I lie; What am I?

(3) Give the answers to these four riddles.

Broken Words to Mend

Mend these words by putting the parts together to make the names of eight men in American History.

bus, top, ma, ton, ant, on, it, is, ve, gr,
lit, on, ng, da, nth, um, col, a, wi, ose, was, wi, ham, ro, hi.

(4) Give the eight words.

What Do You Know?

Who wrote the "Star Spangled Banner"?
What besides honey, do we get from bees?
What famous general was at Valley Forge?

What is the largest ocean?
(5) Answer all four questions.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

Among worth-while opportunities now open to boys and girls at the Children's Museum learning-combined-with-fun activities—is the Naturalist Club, now organizing. Seventh and eighth graders will probably be best suited for this. The club will study indoors and out birds, trees, flowers, and many other things. There is no registration charge. Just give your name to Miss Sawyer, and the sooner the better.

Boys who are interested in building boats may form a boat-building club by speaking to Miss Sawyer. The membership will be limited. Boys who admire the remarkable boats in the Reading Room made by Helmut Buschmann of Brookline may have a chance to emulate his accomplishments at the Museum this winter.
Each boy must supply his own tools.

The Stamp Clubs, one for beginners and one for advanced boys and girls, have a few vacancies at this time, but only those boys and girls will be accepted for membership who are genuinely interested in the study of stamps. The clubs are distinctly not for commercial trading only.

Our Hobbies, the natural history magazine group, welcomes new members at its regular Saturday meetings at four o'clock in the Hobbies club room in the basement.

Now is the time, also, to start earning points for the Museum League.
Boys and girls may do this by coming to the Museum and playing the "museum game." The game consists of 20 or 40 typewritten questions, the answers to which may be found by studying the museum exhibit to which the particular game refers—like the Doll House, or the American History case, or the India case. There are also games based on books in the Reading Room. For answering 20 questions correctly a child receives a half point; for 40 questions, a whole point. To win a Museum League diploma he must earn 35 points, and to win a Museum League pin, 40 points.

He may also earn points by attending club meetings and lectures, by making nature collections, by helping about the Museum, and in other ways. He then is eligible for the title of Junior Decent on passing an examination, and following that may work for the rank of Advanced Junior Decent, by which he becomes a sort of unofficial staff member, with responsibilities toward the welfare of the Museum and special privileges.

CHILDREN'S SALON

A Salon of Children's portrait is being held at the Bachrach Studio on Hunt street, this week, with Mrs.
Henry P. Curtiss, president of the Newton Community Club, Miss Fannie Broderick and Dr. Warren W. Marston as judges.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Arthur Wright wish to express their appreciation of all those who manifested sympathy in their recent bereavement.

CITY AFFAIRS

Miss Ethel A. Tinker, for the past 31 years clerk in the Board of Health office at City Hall, has tendered her resignation to take effect October 19.
Miss Tinker's long service in the department made her unusually well informed on matters pertaining to health work and her resignation will be a serious handicap to the Newton Health Department.

In the Newton court on Tuesday
Judge Brown decided against John
J. Prendergast of Cummings road, Newton Centre. In the hearing demanded by the latter on the allegation that he had been illegally discharged from the employ of the Sewer Department of the City of Newton. Several months ago Prendergast was discharged by Street Commissioner Stuart for insubordination. Prendergast contended that one of the men whose orders he had been accused of disobeying was not a foreman but a pipe-layer. Judge Brown found that there was no evidence that Prendergast had been "framed." Prendergast intimated that he will appeal the case to the Supreme Court.

Buildings Commissioner Chadwick attended the conference of Massachusetts Planning Boards held at Fitchburg on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

During the month of September 108 permits for new buildings and alterations were issued in Newton. The estimated value of the work to be done under these permits is $413,275.
Twenty-two of the permits were for single dwellings valued at $231,500 and five for double dwellings valued at $48,000. For the first nine months of this year 1107 permits have been granted with a valuation estimated at $5,634,756. For the same period last year 1248 permits were granted with a valuation of $7,541,033.

TO OBSERVE LORD'S SUPPER

The Lincoln Park Baptist Church,
West Newton, will return the celebration of the Lord's Supper to its original hour in the evening of the day on this Sunday. During the month of September this church, which is now in the 76th year of continuous Baptist work on the west side of Newton, resumed the evening service of worship which had been dropped nearly a decade past. The response has been encouraging to the pastor, Rev. John Shades Franklin, who states that he will endeavor to build up as strong and attractive a service of worship as possible for the sake of those who are not able to attend the morning service.

Last Sunday the Rev. Dr. Woodman Bradbury, of the Newton Theological Institution, preached on the subject
"Running Past The Signals."

This Sunday the pastor will preach at both morning and evening services, his topics being respectively, "Workmen Unashamed" and "In Remembrance." The Lord's Supper will be observed at both hours, 10:45 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.

NEWTON JAMBOREE TROOP IN INDIAN CEREMONIES

The first public appearance of Newton's Jamboree Troop will be at the Nobscoot Reservation of the Newton Boy Scouts on Sunday afternoon, October 6th, at 3:15 o'clock. To reach Reservation, take the Boston Post Road towards Worcester, just beyond South Sudbury, immediately across the second railroad tracks, turn left on Route 126 and the entrance to the Reservation is about one mile on the right.

Troop to Present Dances

The Jamboree Troop will appear in their full Indian Costumes, made by them for the World Jamboree held in England last summer. They will perform the ceremony of the Tribal Protection and will give the Scalp, War and Social Dances of the New England Indians. The scene of the ceremonies will be in the pine Grove near the pond known as Nuppsiseminneash, or "pond where the berries grow," as there is an abundant growth of wild cranberries along the north edge of the pond.

Cabin Keys to be Turned Over to Council

In addition to this ceremony, Troops which have built cabins or shelters at Nobscoot will turn over their keys to the Council and will receive in return a certificate of life-tenancy from President Hutchinson. Troops 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 11, 13 and 19 have built or are building cabins on the Reservation; Troops 3, 9, 10, 15, 20 and 21 are planning to start their cabins as soon as possible.

Monson Lodge to be Dedicated

The Gate Lodge, named Monson Lodge, presented by Captain Frank L. and Mrs. Nagle of Newtonville, will be officially presented to the Council by Captain Nagle at this affair. It has been named Monson Lodge in memory of the surveyor, Arthur Monson, who laid out the line between the towns of Framingham and Sud-bury in 1703 and the cabin stands very near that township line.

Officials of the two towns have been invited to attend the ceremony, as well as all the citizens of the city of Newton.

Mr. Charles H. Center has been named by Scout Commissioner John
M. Bierer as the Assistant Deputy Commissioner to work with the Troops of Newton Center, 5, 18, 19, 20 and 21.
Lieut-Commander Kellar has been appointed by Troop 20 as Scoutmaster of that Troop, due to the resignation of Mr. Bernard Z. Nelson.

Troop 4, Newton Highlands, because of its large membership, is being split into two Troops. Scoutmaster Lich-tensheler, formerly Scoutmaster of Troop 4, is to remain in charge of one Troop and Mr. Dana Sylvester, who has a very successful record as "Uncle Frank's" senior assistant, is to take charge of the new Troop.

Troop 4's Associate Scout, Merrill Dubay, who lives in Amsterdam, Holland, has become a King's Scout there and on the basis of that high award will doubtless be awarded the Star Rank at the October 25th Court of Honor.

A very successful Scout leaders' dinner of officers of the Council was held at the Newton Center Women's Club on Wednesday evening last. The dinner was prepared by Scout Commissioner Bierer and was followed by a presentation of the plans for the year by President Hutchinson, Commissioner Bierer and Executive Bruce,
Mr. Woodbridge, Director of Camp Cape Cod, the joint summer camp of the and the Cape Cod Councils, told of the summer camp and showed motion pictures taken by Mr. G. D.
Macey, 1st Vice-President of the Council.

Following that a reel of educational motion pictures on Scout First Aid, prepared by Messrs. C. F. Liscomb, John M. Bailey and Jack Mc-Cordy, with the co-operation of several Troops, was shown.

Troop 1, Newtonville, with the approval of the Executive Board and his Troop Committee, is taking his Troop to the Brockton Fair on Saturday, October 5th, to take part in the Scouting competition of Troops from several Councils.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

Four Feathers, Paramount's screen adaptation of E. A. Mason's well known novel will be shown at The Paramount Theatre, Newton, for four days starting Sunday, October 6th, featuring a cast headed by Richard Arlen, Clive Brook, William Powell, Fay
Wray and Geo. Fawcett.

Four Feathers tells the story of a youth raised in the proud traditions of an old English family of fighting men.
As time passes he learns to dread the day when he will be forced to take part in the English campaigns in Africa. Something inside makes him afraid and hands in his resignation giving as his reason the coming marriage of his childhood sweetheart.
When his three friends discover this they mail him a white feather, a symbol of cowardice. Even the girl who loved him also gives him a white feather not understanding why he resigns. In the end he proves himself the braver of all others who have condemned him. On the same program Billie Dove will be seen in "The Man and the Moment" with Rod LaRocque in Elinor Glyn's story. A story of loveless marriage made in a moment of madness and broken in a moment of love.

Thursday the main feature on the program will be Edward Everett Horton and Patsy Ruth Miller in "The Hottentott a Vitaphone picture. Also Joan Crawford in "Our Modern Maidens." This program for the entire week is above the average and sure to be popular.

Life Saving Taught To Many By Red Cross

Over 350 Boys and Girls Instructed The Past Summer

The success that has attended the instruction of boys and girls in life-saving by Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, has added another to the list of accomplishments for which the chapter has received both the congratulations and the gratitude of Newton citizens.

During the Summer more than 350 boys and girls attended the life-saving classes at Crystal Lake, Newton Centre, or at camps of Girl Scouts where they acted through the chapter. These numbers, when the final list was completed, 57 juniors, 18 seniors, 78 beginners and 205 swimmers, a total of 358. With the cooperation of the Newton Playground Department and under supervision of competent instructors the young people learned not only the pleasures of swimming and the feats that may be done without danger in the water, but they obtained a knowledge of far greater value—how to save lives from threatened drowning.

Three Newton girls, who were life-savers, Mary Wakefield of Newtonville, Claire McCarthy of Newton Centre and Alice Simpson of Auburndale, at a swimming meet held to demonstrate swimming and life-saving, won the noted distinction of the highest total of points for the various events. Two Newton boys, Carl Anderson and Charles Gallagher, were the winners among the boys. Suitable awards were made to all of these.

In addition to the classes at Crystal Lake a group of youngsters from the Working Boys Home at Newton Highlands made a remarkable record for themselves under the Newton Chapter Red Cross instructors. They were given their lessons in the Charles River near Kendrick bridge.

Of the classes from the Working Boys Home 13 boys qualified as life-savers and 12 more as swimmers. Each received an emblem and a pin. Proof of their proficiency was unexpectedly demonstrated by an actual happening. A boy who had received no instruction undertook to show his supposed ability as a swimmer. He soon found himself in peril and but for the prompt action of the boys from the Home might never have reached the shore. They speedily went to his rescue and applying the knowledge that they had acquired saved his life.

Throughout all the courses observers have been particularly impressed by the practical value of the instruction given. It has been no small undertaking for Newton Chapter, which must of necessity receive the substantial aid and endorsement of all citizens in carrying on and extending this highly important work. However, the officers of the Chapter feel more than well repaid for their efforts and are confident of the approval of the public in furthering the scope of Red Cross work in Newton.

The annual meeting of Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held Wednesday evening, October 23, at 7:30 o'clock in the headquarters of the chapter at 12 Austin street, Newtonville. An election of a board of directors and the consideration of reports are among the matters to be acted upon. Members of the chapter are urged to attend.

THE JEFFERSON CLUB OF NEWTON

A meeting of the Jefferson Club of Newton will be held this evening at eight o'clock in Dennison Hall, Newtonville. The speakers will be Hon. Joseph A. Conroy, former congressman; Mr. LaRue Brown, former Asst. Attorney-General of the United States and president of the Jefferson Club of Massachusetts; Atty. Wm. C. Thompson, one of the leading lawyers of the country, and Frank J. Donahue, chairman of the Democratic Committee of Massachusetts. There will also be an entertainment.

Objections Raised To New Regulation

Residents on Boylston Street Want More Crossovers

At the hearing held before the Board of Aldermen on Monday night on the matter of amending the traffic regulations so that Boylston street will be made a one-way street on the north side going westerly, and on the south side going easterly, a number of citizens residing on or near that street appeared to protest against the proposed changes unless facilities are afforded them by means of new cross-overs.

John P. Young of 1272 Boylston street, Upper Falls, stated that he is not opposed making Boylston street one-way as proposed provided a cross-over is made near his residence, to enable him to drive over the street car reservation. Otherwise, because of the steep grade near Mr. McDonald's house, it will cause him and his neighbors great inconvenience if they have to travel to Chestnut street to make the crossing.

John Hurley of 30 Hurley place, Newton Centre said that crossovers should be made opposite Hurley place and at a point between Hurley place and Parker street where he is building a new street. He uses horses in his business and if the crossings are not made over the Boston & Worcester Street Railway reservation it will be necessary to climb the steep elevation towards Dudley road before one could proceed westerly on the north roadway. Frank Hurley of 26 Hurley place informed the Aldermen that he is engaged in the milk business and if the one-way regulation would be put into effect without a crossover being provided opposite Hurley place it would be necessary for his horses to struggle up the steep incline towards Dudley road before they could be driven in the direction of Newton Highlands and Newton Centre. He called attention to the reckless driving and the very heavy automobile traffic along Boylston street. Mr. Hurley told the Aldermen that his brother and himself had for about 40 years cared for the south roadway on Boylston street. He predicted that within a couple of years this street will become the main traffic artery to Worcester.

Paul Mullen of 843 Boylston street called attention to the need of a STOP and ENTER signal at the intersection of Walnut and Boylston streets and asserted that before the south roadway of Boylston street can be used for heavy traffic it must be properly surfaced. Anthony Maudie of 975 Boylston street informed the Aldermen that he is filling in a large tract of land which he owns along this street and agreed with John Hurley that two crossovers will be needed. John Simcock of Hurley place asserted that the city does not take very good care of the section where he resides. He does not believe making Boylston street one-way on the north roadway will relieve traffic hazards there and claimed that if crossovers are not built people using vehicles in that neighborhood will have to climb the 20% grade in the direction of Dudley road. President Weeks of the Board of Aldermen questioned Mr. Simcock's accuracy in the matter of the grade and inquired of City Engineer Morse. Mr. Morse stated that the grade is 8 per cent. Michael McDonald of 1268 Boylston street also asked that crossovers be provided near his residence. Alderman Powers, as a member of the traffic committee, told those protesting against the new regulations that they will be given a hearing before the Traffic Committee.

MAYOR CHILDS' SON IMPROVING

The condition of Edwin O. Childs Junior, son of Mayor Childs, continues to improve. The boy was seriously injured on the morning of October 4th, when the bicycle he was riding collided with a truck owned by a Lexington milkman. His jaw was fractured, his right elbow fractured, he received a slight concussion of the brain and severe cuts on his face.

Aldermen Hold Long Routine Meeting

Many Hearings and Petitions At Monday's Session

At the regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night James P. Gallagher, appearing as attorney for James Holian, asked that a permit be granted the latter to establish a gasoline filling station at 11 Park street, Newton, to keep and store 4,000 gallons of gasoline in four tanks underground and to erect five pumps. Mr. Gallagher explained that this lot is in a business zone, is bounded on one side by another gasoline station and on other sides by an automobile repair shop and garages. He stated that an old house now on this site will be replaced by an attractive filling station and this change will be for the benefit of surrounding properties. There was no opposition.

The Finance Committee reported adversely on the recommendation of the Public Buildings Committee for an appropriation to furnish additional garage accommodations for city owned automobiles. Alderman Ball stated that this matter has been before the Public Buildings Committee since last Spring and this committee believes more garage room is required. Seven cars are garaged in a building on Cherry street at the rear of City Hall and the city has no legal rights to use this building for more than three cars. This structure is a fire menace. The garage at the rear of police headquarters should be enlarged to house 10 more cars.

Chairman Collins of the Finance Committee replied, saying that no emergency exists, immediate action is unnecessary and when this matter is brought before the Finance Committee at the beginning of next year it will receive proper attention.

The Board accepted the report of the Claims and Rules Committee recommending leave to withdraw on the following claims against the city: Gertrude Welch, a pupil at the Day Junior High School, for an injury received when she was assisting in closing a door in the school gymnasium at the request of a teacher. The law does not hold the city liable for such a claim. Marion Howland of Waverley avenue, Newton, who asked $10.75 for a pair of shoes which were ruined by tar on Washington St.; Alfred W. Hammel a motorcycle officer, $152.50 medical expenses incurred as a result of injuries received while he was on duty. Hammel made a settlement with the owner of the automobile which hit him, so the Committee was advised that the city should not reimburse the officer because of this.

The Board accepted the favorable report of the Licenses Committee on the following petitions:

Anthony R. Colantuono, permit to conduct and maintain Garage Repair Shop, 2-car capacity, at 17 Shamrock street, Ward 2.

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, permit to keep and store 300 gallons of gasoline in tank in emergency gasoline engine room in basement of Newton North telephone exchange, at 56 Elmwood street, Ward 7.

Forrest T. White, 1st-class hackney, 1203 Washington street, Ward 3.
Querino Quacquarelli, Common Victualer license, 1007 Chestnut street, Ward 5.

August P. Osterlund, license to deal in motor vehicles at 1929-2 Commonwealth avenue, Ward 6, and at 724 Beacon street, Ward 6, after October 10th.
Joseph Pillon, changing construction of garage to be erected at 19-21 Auburn street, Ward 3, from concrete block to wooden garage. Abutters' consent filed.

Anderson Cadillac LaSalle Company, petition for transfer of new car show room from 405 Washington street to new location at 321 Washington street, Ward 7. Old show room at 405 Washington street, Ward 7, now being utilized for display of used cars.

Newton Buick Company, license to deal in motor vehicles at 720 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

Ald. Earle Makes Mayoralty Statement

October 9, 1929.
Editor of Newton Graphic.

A few weeks ago your associate editor asked me if I was to be a candidate for Mayor and I replied that when I had any announcement to make, it would certainly be given to you. Since that time I have been misquoted and misrepresented so many times by campaign workers for Alderman Sinclair Weeks that I feel it is my duty to write you a few lines for the information of the Newton people.

On August 22nd Mr. Weeks came to me and asked for my support in his campaign. I stated to him at that time that I could not see my way clear to do so. I know that he understood me clearly at the time and it is hard to understand why his workers should tell Newton people that Earle is all "feet" and that he will not run against Weeks or that Earle is "working for" Weeks now.

Eight years ago I ran for Alderman-at-Large on the Childs' ticket, being elected by some 2500 majority and have been re-elected without opposition three times since. I have consistently followed Edwin O. Childs and would continue to do so if he were to run.

The voters of Newton have continually by their votes demanded a Childs' administration instead of a Weeks or Hatfield regime which they have both experienced and I am not yet convinced they are now ready to go back to that regime at this election. There may be a Childs' candidate. Who knows? Thanking you, I am,
Very truly yours,
(signed) WILLIAM E. EARLE.

Transfer Of Pole Ownership Refused

Committee Turns Down Petition Of Edison Co.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the majority report of the Licenses Committee refusing the petition of the Edison Company and Middlesex & Boston Company for a transfer of ownership of 55 poles was sustained. This petition has been before the Board for several months. The poles in question are located on Walnut, Crafts and Waltham streets in Newtonville and West Newton. Aldermen Powers, Smith, Temperley and Woodcock of the Licenses Committee voted against granting the petition. Chairman Hawkins of the committee voted in favor. In reporting on this matter at the meeting Monday night Mr. Hawkins stated that these poles have been used for years by the Edison Company to carry the wires which furnish service to the streets named. The Middlesex & Boston Company has no further use for the poles and the Edison Company desires these poles in their present locations.

Alderman Powers defended the action of the majority of the committee by stating that the contract between the City of Newton and the Middlesex & Boston Company calls for the latter to remove its tracks and poles when they shall no longer be used by the transportation corporation. Although the tracks have been removed the poles have been allowed to remain. It has been the policy in this city to have as many poles as practicable removed from the streets and replaced by underground service. The Edison Company for a number of years has annually laid considerable lengths of conduit because of this policy. It was proposed by the Licenses Committee that the Telephone Company transfer its cable from poles on the southerly and westerly sides of Walnut, Crafts and Waltham streets to the poles on the other side of these streets which are used by the Edison Company and owned by the M. E. B. If this were done, many poles could be removed from these three streets. The Ward 1 Alderman stated that the Telephone Company showed a willingness to cooperate in this matter, but the Edison Company had not manifested the same willingness. The Edison Company, in common with other public utility companies enjoys a monopoly, and should be willing to assume the comparatively low amount which the transfer of the Telephone Company cable would cost.

Chairman Collins asked if the refusal of the Board to grant the petition of the Edison Company would mean that the poles now used by the Telephone Company will be removed. Alderman Powers replied that it quite likely will not result in the removal of the poles, but the immediate future but it will assure the city retaining the right it possesses to demand the removal of one line of poles and will probably result in these poles being eventually removed.

Alderman Gallagher supported Alderman Hawkins in favoring the granting of the petition. He contended that the real reason for the reluctance of the Edison Company and Telephone Company in not wanting their service wires and cables on the same poles is because of the element of danger, but this reason is kept under cover. Alderman Bowen, who is an official of the Telephone Company, and who had asked to be excused from voting on this matter, was asked to give some expert information as to the danger which Alderman Gallagher alleged would result from having the wires, or cables, of both companies on the same poles. Mr. Bowen stated that under modern methods there is not much danger and that it is a regular thing the same line of poles to be used by both companies.

On a voice vote the report of the committee was accepted by a large majority.

Zoning Changes Are Disapproved By Board

Planning Board Rejects Several Requests

At a meeting of the Planning Board held this week certain petitions which are being considered by the Claims and Rules Committee of the Board of Aldermen were discussed and recommendations made upon them. The Planning Board recommends that the Aldermen do not grant these petitions: Daniel Hoar, to change land on Beacon street between Walnut street and the Mills-McDonald property line from private residence to business zone; Annid McDonald, to change land on Beacon street from Walnut street to a point 11 feet from Mills-McDonald line from private residence to business zone; reasons—no demand for business, area not suitable for business, one sided street, lots too deep, should await completion of drainage work now under way. The petition of John Davis to change land on Commonwealth avenue between Rowe and Lexington streets from general to private residence zone was approved by the Planning Board for this reason—"Commonwealth avenue in general is zoned as a residential street and should remain so as far as possible."

The Board also approved of the petition of William A. Wagner which asks that land bounded by Melrose street and the present business zone on Auburn street, Auburndale, be changed from general residence to business zone with the recommendation that a strip 15 feet wide be given the street to allow for the widening of the street. The Planning Board states that this location is not suited for residential purposes and borders directly on a business zone. On the other hand, the Planning Board disapproves of the petition of Harry Guerin who asks that his property at the northeast corner of Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street be changed from general residence to business zone. The reason given is—"Sufficient business area in Auburndale already provided. Would seriously injure existing private residences adjacent by removal of building line and use as business."

HIGHLAND GLEE CLUB

The Highland Glee Club started its 22nd season on Monday evening, October 7th, with an active membership of seventy. A majority of last year's members attended a most enthusiastic first rehearsal given in the leadership of D. Ralph McLean. Plans were discussed for the coming season and invitations were extended to the club by George Wight, President, for appearances before the Brightelmstone Club of Allston on November 15th and the Boston City Club January 14th under the auspices of Aaron Richmond. The first regular concert of the season will be at Newtonville at the Auditorium on December 16th. A number of men who enjoy music and good fellowship have already applied for membership this fall.

NEWTONVILLE MEN'S CLASS GROWING

The Men's Class of the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday School has been growing rapidly during the past two years. This year's class is expected to be an even greater attendance than that of a year ago. The class began its season last Sunday under the leadership of Prof. C. M. McConnell of Boston University.

Local Business Men To Meet Next Week

Efforts Last Year Show Results in Several Directions

The Newton Business Associates, an organization of business men in Newton Corner, hold their 1st meeting since April on Thursday the 17th at the Hunnewell Club. This organization has been working steadily during the past four years toward improving conditions in the Newton Corner section and has met with very good success.

The past year shows more of a result than any year previous and the Associates should look with pride upon its accomplishments. The traffic tower which is now installed in the square has long been advocated (manually operated) by this group of men and finally was installed after a hard struggle and part payment by the business men. Painting of white traffic lines on the street both for parking and to direct traffic is another point upon which the organization has been rather insistent.

The closing of the stores on Wednesday afternoon during the summer months has always been advocated as members feel that employees of stores which stay open Saturday evenings are entitled to a half holiday once a week. This year a great deal of opposition was met as the chain stores refused to close their stores even though all other stores did close. However, the independent stores closed nearly 100%.

Elimination of the car lines running into Newton Corner is another accomplishment of the organization during the past year and all seem to feel this has improved traffic conditions a great deal.

At the present time what is probably the best accomplishment of the organization is now being installed. Alderman Powers for some time has advocated an up-to-date street lighting system for the Newton Corner section and during the past year with his aid and that of members of a committee from the business men appropriation has been made and the system is now being installed placing Newton Corner on a par with other up-to-date sections.

The purpose of the Newton Business Associates is at all times to work toward the improvement of conditions in Newton Corner and the organization is always open to suggestions from the people.

OPPOSE HUGE GAS TANK AT AUBURNDALE

Alderman Silvanus Smith of Ward 4 introduced a resolution at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday night requesting Mayor Childs to inform the Public Utilities Commission that residents of Auburndale and the Board of Aldermen object to the proposed erection of a huge gas holder on the easterly side of Grove street. The site where the big gas holder would be erected is on land owned by the Boston & Albany railroad adjoining the Woodland Golf Club links. It adjoins a single residence zone. The Boston Consolidated Gas Company is planning to purchase this land and erect an 80 feet gas holder on it. On the opposite side of Grove street the railroad company has a storage yard and roundhouse. A cement block factory and gravel pit are also located on this side of Grove street.

NEWTON TOPS CANTABS 13 TO 6

The Newton High school football team staged a thrilling comeback last Saturday to defeat Cambridge High and Latin in the opening Suburban league game of the season 13 to 6. The locals took the field confident of coming through with a victory, but overcame William Swisher, Cambridge halfback, and the opening kickoff eighty yards through the whole Newton team for a touchdown it was quite a setback for Newton. Perhaps it was the best thing that could have happened to them for from that time on Cambridge did not have a look-in. Coach Sullivan's backfield kicked right down to business and when they got possession of the ball pushed right through for the tying touchdown. A pass for the extra point put Newton in the lead never to be headed. In fact the score does not show the superiority of the local man over the visitors. Newton rolled over Cambridge first downs, four of which were with the aid of penalties against Cambridge, while the latter could make but one throughout the game.

First Period

Cambridge won the toss and elected to defend the south goal. Newton kicked off. Swisher, Cambridge left halfback, caught Elrod's kickoff on his twenty yard line and ran eighty yards through the entire local eleven for a touchdown. After getting by the first two lines of the Newton defense Elrod and Furden were the only Newton players having a chance to nail Swisher. Elrod was brushed aside by an interferer while another spilled Furden neatly as he was about to overtake the runner. Newton gathered itself together and the line staved off the rush for the point. Elrod again kicked off but Swisher fumbled the catch momentarily but recovered as the Newton tacklers downed him. The first two Cantab plays netted but four yards and Barry, the quarterback, kicked a 35-yard mark on the Cambridge 35-yard mark. Elrod made three yards at right tackle and Furden four at left tackle. On the next play Elrod's gain of 10 yards was offset by an offside by the Newton line and it was third down and eight to go. A short pass from Elrod to Reggie Bankart, playing left end for Newton, made it first down. Elrod and Norton made nine yards through the tackles but Furden's plunge for two yards was called back and Newton penalized five yards for offside play. Elrod hit left tackle for four yards and then tossed a short forward pass which carried him five yards more for a first down on the five yard stripe. Furden and Elrod made the distance in two plays to tie the score. Elrod passed to McCarthy for the point. Elrod again kicked off with Schipper nailing Swisher on the Cambridge 35. The Newton line offset when McCarthy and Furden tossed Barry for a five-yard loss on an end run play and Cambridge had to kick. Newton returned the kick and Cambridge failing to gain kicked again to end the period with the ball in Newton's possession on their own 20-yard line. Newton 7. Cambridge 6.

Second Period

Norton made twelve yards and Cambridge was penalized fifteen yards for tripping bringing the ball nearly to midfield on the opening play of the period. Elrod made six yards in two rushes and Furden five on the next but Newton drew a penalty of fifteen yards to make it third down and fourteen to go. Elrod passed to Furden for ten yards and then kicked to the Cambridge 40-yard line where McCarthy nailed the Cantab safely in his tracks. Three Newton linemen tackled Swisher for a three yard loss before Barry kicked outside on the Cambridge 40-yard line. For the rest of the period the two teams battled back and forth on the Cambridge end of the field. Near the end of the period Newton got possession of the ball. Barry's kick was blocked but he recovered for a five yard loss. He got off the next one, but it was short, and it bounced back ten yards to the Cambridge 20-yard line. The half ended before Newton could score in three plays. NEWTON 7. CAMB. 6.

Third Period

Elrod kicked off to Leahy, Cambridge end, who ran it back fifteen yards. Bankart nailed him on the Cambridge 35-yard stripe. On the third play Norton tackled the runner on a lateral for no gain and Dugan kicked to Stromborn on Newton's 35-yard line. Furden and Elrod made a first down in three plays with Furden taking the ball twice. Another first down was made aided by an offside penalty against the Cantabs which carried the ball past midfield into enemy territory. Furden made no gain at centre but Elrod picked up fifteen yards in two plays at the tackle for still another first down. Again Elrod made seven yards at the tackle but Newton drew a 15-yard penalty making it third down and eight to go. A pass was grounded and Elrod had to kick to the Cambridge 18-yard line where Schipper downed the ball. Dugan made five yards at left tackle but on the next play was stopped dead as Bankart spilled the entire interference all alone. Muello made five yards at right tackle for the sole first down for Cambridge as the period ended.

Fourth Period

Failing to gain on the next two plays Cambridge kicked to Stromborn on the Newton 20-yard mark. Furden made six yards in two plays. On the third play Cambridge was offside as Elrod kicked and Newton took a first down. Two plays gained but little and Elrod kicked to the Cambridge 40-yard line where Schipper tackled the receiver in his tracks. LaRonde made a yard for the Cantabs. On the next play McCarthy nearly intercepted a lateral pass but it fell to the ground with Swisher recovering for a ten yard loss. A Cambridge punt was blocked and it was Newton's ball as it rolled outside on the Cambridge 35-yard line.

On College Gridirons

Many former Newton High School athletes are now representing their respective colleges or the gridiron. This column will be devoted to their accomplishments.

Gilligan Scores First

Tommy Gilligan, former Newton and Exeter Academy star, was in the starting backfield for Harvard against Bates last Saturday at the left half-back berth. Harvard, as was expected, overwhelmed Bates 48 to 0 with the local youth scoring three of the seven touchdowns. Midway of the first period Harvard was deep in Bates territory but failed to score. Bates put the ball in play on their 20-yard line but was forced to kick to midfield. Gilligan took the ball through tackle and cut to his left into open territory to get away on a 50-yard run for the opening score. There was good interference both ahead and side of him with Ticknor, Crimmon, centre, taking out the Bates end, the only player with a chance of nailing the runner. The second period began with Harvard again in Bates territory and three plays brought the ball to the seven yard line. On the next play Gilligan was clear again and could have made another long run if necessary. His third touchdown was the first of the second half and the fourth of the afternoon. Harvard had taken the kickoff and was soon at their own 40-yard mark with a second down. Huguley tossed a forward to Gilligan for fifteen yards and the Newton youth was away for 45 yards more and the goal-line. Francis Gilligan was on the bench but did not get into the game as his leg injury had not improved sufficiently. He has taken part in but little heavy work this week and it is doubtful whether or not he gets into tomorrow's game with New Hampshire.

Newton Youth On Hobart Team

Warren, the 160-pound tackle of the Hobart college eleven which was soundly trounced last Saturday by Dartmouth at Hanover, is reported to be a Newton youth by one of the Boston papers. The sporting editor has attempted to verify this report but without success and would be glad to obtain the facts. At any rate Warren is one of the outstanding linemen on the Hobart eleven as evidenced by his playing against Dartmouth. He was one of the two linemen to play the entire game.

Haggood Back In Line-up

Ernest Haggood, former Newton tackle now at Brown, has recovered from his injury of two weeks ago and is back at a guard position on the Brown eleven this week. The local youth did not get into the game with Rhode Island last Saturday which the Brown team won, 14 to 6, but took part in the scrimmages this week as a first string player. He will probably take the field against Princeton tomorrow.

Stone Scores Twice

Bowdoin defeated the Mass. Aggie eleven last Saturday at Amherst, 18 to 6, with Stuart Stone of West Newton scoring two of the three touchdowns for the Polar Bears. Souther, a Waban youth, played left end for Bowdoin while Bob Thayer, a former Newton high athlete, was in at quarterback for a time.

McCullough At End Again

Injuries to the Boston University first string ends have given Carleton McCullough, former Newton and Exeter star athlete, a chance to regain his left end berth. He started against New Hampshire last Saturday and Taking advantage of this opportunity Newton set out for another touchdown. Elrod made seven yards through tackle from punt formation but on the next play Newton was offside and penalized five yards. Elrod passed a pass to Boston, who had relieved Bankart, for a twenty yard gain and a first down on the Cambridge thirteen yard line. Elrod slid through tackle for eight yards. On the next play Furden's plunge through centre was a foot shy of a first down. He made two yards on the next play and made it first down on the two yard line. Twice more Furden plunged and cut the distance down to a foot and then Elrod took the ball through tackle for the score. Schipper's pass from centre on the try for the point was low. Elrod fumbled it for an instant and then his pass to the end was grounded. Elrod kicked off to the Cambridge 25-yard line and it was run back fifteen yards. As the end was approaching Cambridge took to the air. Furden intercepted a forward at midfield for the final play. NEWTON 13. CAMBRIDGE 6.

COUNTRY DAY WHIPS BELMONT HILL 27-0

What was reported to be a strong Belmont Hill School football team proved itself to be nowhere near aggressive enough to stop a powerful and fighting Country Day eleven last Friday at Belmont. The Green and White outfit rolled up a score of 27-0. In the four 10-minute periods and kept its real-line still uncrossed in two games.

Within five minutes of the opening kick-off, Country Day had forced its way to a touchdown overcoming a stubborn Belmont Hill defense. Capt. Bottomley carried the ball over on an off-tackle slant, and Cobb made the point by rushing.

In the second period another long march netted a touchdown and point. Francis Gleason carried the ball over. Belmont could do nothing on offense and was forced to kick every time they had the ball.

Edwin Lyman of Brookline, star end for two years, received a very serious leg injury in the third period, which has put him out for the balance of the season. Late in this period Cobb, Country Day fullback, intercepted a Belmont lateral and raced sixty yards for a touchdown. The point was awarded when Belmont Hill was offside.

A recovered fumble by Madden, Country Day end, in the fourth period gave the green team another chance to score. Belmont Winchell tore off a ten-yard end-run for the touchdown and Gleason made the point.

Country Day put in numerous substitutes who advanced the ball to the seven-yard line but failed to put over a fifth score when an offside penalty held them on downs.

Martin Belmont captain, played a splendid game, and the Belmont Hill right guard was very aggressive. Country Day's power is evident when it is said that they made 14 first downs to 3 for their opponents. They completed every pass but one, while Belmont completed but one out of eight attempts. Francis Gleason, Capt. Bottomley, Winchell and Cobb gave their usual fine performance in the backfield. Winchell contributed numerous spectacular tackles. The line held well, and opened good holes. Winchell has been converted into an end and full Lyman's position in the forthcoming games. Ritchie, Chestnut Hill boy, is the new member of the backfield. He is a fast open-field runner, although a little light.

Country Day plays Thayer Academy this afternoon at Newton, and a sparkling contest is predicted as Thayer is very strong this year. The Country Day line-up for this game is as follows:

Greene, Winchell, ends; Vose, Downes, tackles; Johnston, Brown, guards; Donald Gleason, center; Capt. Bottomley qb; Ritchie, Francis Gleason, halfbacks; Cobb, fullback.

SPORT NOTES

Gotshall Wins Title

Abbot Gotshall of the Burr Tennis Association of Newton won the singles title in the Old Colony league championship tourney by defeating Daniel Murphy of the Arlington Heights Club in the final round of the past week end. The matches were played on the Longwood Cricket club courts with Gotshall winning 6-8, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5. The match was started Saturday and halted with the score one set and two games each. When it was continued on Sunday Gotshall had the better command of his strokes and his southpaw play overcame Murphy. The latter forced the last set to twelve games before relinquishing the match to Gotshall.

Baseball Club Holds Banquet

On Saturday evening, Oct. 5, the Newton Upper Falls Baseball Club were given a banquet by the manager Thomas Simpson in the new recreation hall of St. Mary's Church to celebrate the winning of the championship of the Twilight League series by the club during this season. Manager Thomas Simpson acted as toastmaster, introducing Mayor Edwin O. Childs, Rev. Frederick Lyons, Police Inspector J. H. O'Shaughnessy and Assistant Superintendent of Playgrounds John Lane. Mr. Lane in behalf of the playground department presented to the team pins of baseball bats in gold. About 150 men and boys were present and a wonderful evening was enjoyed by all.

Other Sports on p3

played the entire game. He has also been at his old berth during the practice sessions this week and will probably go in against Vermont tomorrow at Newton Field. New Hampshire defeated the Hub team 24 to 6 at Durham mainly because the Terriers were weakened by injuries to their best backs.

Dartmouth Runs Wild

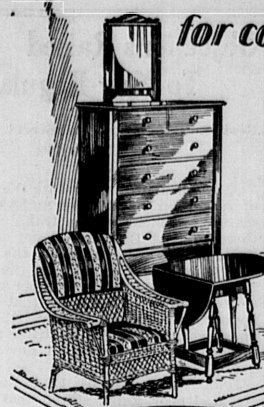

Arlington Al Marsters ran wild last Saturday to lead Dartmouth in swampy Hobart college 68 to 0. He scored six of the ten touchdowns with Len Clark and Henry Johnson, both former Newton high stars, each scoring once. Clark intercepted a forward pass in Hobart territory for his touchdown and Johnson made his through the line.

Freshmen Trim Varsity

Wednesday afternoon the Boston University freshman eleven defeated the B. U. varsity 7 to 6 in a practice game at Nickerson field. Three former local youths were in the game. McCullough was at end for the varsity and Arthur Chamberlain and Daniel Harrington at centre and fullback respectively for the freshmen. Harrington, who was a tackle at Newton high, played an especially good game as defensive fullback, stopping the varsity many times.

WOBURN JOINS HOCKEY LEAGUE

At a meeting of the Greater Boston Interscholastic league this week Woburn High was accepted into full membership for the coming hockey season. Last year Woburn High was the "guest" of the league playing the games scheduled for Everett high which dropped out because of lack of interest in and facilities for the sport. Thus the league will have a complete membership of eight schools this year. They are Newton, Cambridge Latin, Rindge Technical, Arlington, Melrose, Stoneham, Belmont and Woburn.

It was voted to open the season on Jan. 2nd or 3rd with Belmont playing Woburn High at quarterback, with Newton, Melrose at Woburn, Arlington at Stoneham and Cambridge against Rindge. As usual the teams will play a preliminary round with each team meeting the other twice. The four top teams will then meet in a round robin series to decide the championship. This latter series will be played as usual at the Arena.

It is possible that some, if not the majority, of the preliminary round games will also be played on the Arena surface. The transfer of the Boston Tigers, professional league team, to the Boston Garden surface may make it possible for more of the schoolboy teams to use the Arena. A committee has been named to interview manager Geo. V. Brown of the Arena as to what afterwards he can offer. Most of the teams, including Newton, Arlington, Belmont, Rindge and Cambridge Latin are in favor of the change to the indoor surface but Melrose prefers to play on the El pond rink where they always draw large crowds of spectators.

Officers for the coming year were re-elected with Garrett Foley of Cambridge Latin as president and Dr. Oscar Martin of Newton secretary-treasurer. There was also some talk about the rules but the coaches and faculty managers decided to wait until the colleges acted before making any changes.

CITY CLUB IN FIRST HARD TEST

The Newton City Club football team, having won its first two games of the 1929 season, faces its first hard test on Sunday afternoon at Cabot Park when they meet the strong Quincy Tiger's eleven. The Newton Club has proven its right to be classed with the leaders in semi-pro football in this section of the state when it hung up a string of victories last year with but one defeat. This was the club's first season on the gridiron.

This year's team should be as strong if not stronger than that of a year ago as evidenced in the two games on the past two Sundays. Last Sunday the locals had little difficulty in defeating the North Cambridge C. C. 13 to 0 on the Cabot Park gridiron. Morris and Perner speared forward passes to score the touchdowns after the backfield players had carried the ball into Cambridge territory showing that the locals can put on a versatile attack, either by rushing or via air.

The backfield is built around William Sullivan, former St. Mary's High of Waltham star, at quarterback, with Geggan, former Pals fullback, doing the line-plunging. The halfbacks are Daley and Murdoch. The line, which shows considerable promise of developing into a strong, fast charging unit has Chisholm at centre, J. Sullivan and Mloca at the guard positions, Coleman and McBride at the tackle berths and Perner and Morris on the ends.

SPORT NOTES

Bob Bennett and Frank Spain are playing in the Exeter academy backfield with Bennett at one of the half-back berths and Spain at quarter. Last Saturday Exeter defeated St. Anselm's Prep 26 to 6. Bennett tallied one of the points after touchdowns by a plunge through the line.

SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT AUTHOR

Newton children, pupils of the Hyde School, Newton Highlands, made a pilgrimage Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 8, to the home of the author of one of their best loved books that they use in their reading classes.

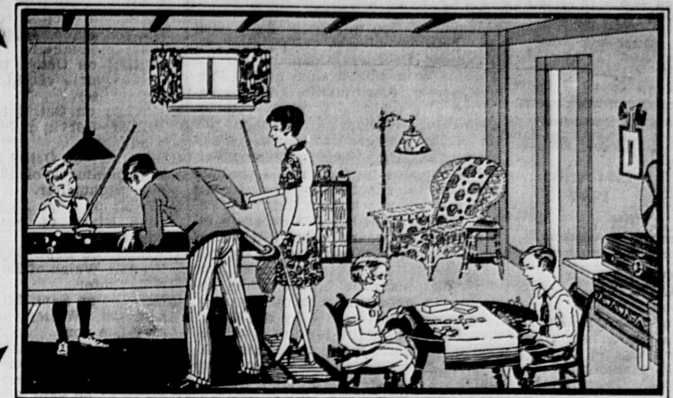

The book is a reader called "Arlo," by Bertha B. and Ernest Cobb, who reside upon a seven acre farm on Richardson road, Newton Upper Falls.

Guided by their teacher, Miss Mabel A. Sampson, the 35 children walked to the Arlo farm, where Miss Cobb greeted them. They picked rosy-cheeked apples, romped through the fields, stopped for games at the camping place, and were shown through the house, seeing the room in which their well loved book was written.

THE 18th AMENDMENT

Massachusetts is undoubtedly facing the most intensive drive against the 18th Amendment in the entire history of the prohibition movement. The Wets are seeking first nullification and later the repeal of the prohibitory amendment. They hope to bring about increased disregard of the law and some have stated that they were quite willing to create an orgy of lawlessness in the hope that by so doing they will cause a great reversion against prohibition. Acting under the initiative provisions of the State Constitution they will file with the Legislature a petition looking to the repeal of the State law enacted for the purpose of expediting enforcement in the State. This law makes it possible for police officials to apprehend and prosecute in the State courts, rum runners and operators of stills as well as other manufacturers of liquor. In the event that the Legislature does not repeal the law the wets will undoubtedly file a supplementary petition and the question will be placed on the ballot at the election November, 1930.

In order to combat this movement the dries all over the State are beginning to organize. Local committees will be formed and every dry will be urged to conduct a personal canvass for votes. Already there are indications that many persons who are not keenly interested in Prohibition but who do believe in upholding the Constitutional laws and maintaining orderly government will join forces with the dries in defense of the concurrent legislation on the Statute Books of Massachusetts.

LASELL SEMINARY

The senior class at Lasell has elected the following officers: president, Mary Moss, Buffalo, New York; vice president, Katherine Fitch, St. Johnsbury, Vermont; secretary, Janice Whittaker, Winchester; treasurer, Dorothy Kaul, Newport, R. I.; song leader, Elinor Taylor, Malone, New York; cheer leader, Helen Crego, Harrisburg, Pa. Miss Fitch was president of the class last year, its junior year; Miss Whittaker is re-elected. The election was held in secret, the juniors knowing nothing about it until the class, in a body, announced the results with songs and cheers at each house on the campus.

The Lasell golf club has organized with the following officers: president, Helen Morgan, '30, Highland Park, Mich.; secretary and treasurer, Kathleen Comstock, '31, Richmond, Ind. Meetings will be held on Fridays. There are in the neighborhood of thirty members.

Speaker at the seminary vespers Sunday will be Rev. Douglas Horton, The Leyden Congregational Church, Brookline.

GUEST'S PIPE BURNS AUTO

Milton Carley of Hillcrest avenue, Nick had his automobile badly damaged by fire Wednesday morning. Carley, after leaving home stopped to pick up an acquaintance and the latter lighted his pipe. Sparks from the pipe ignited the upholstery in the rear of the car and when Carley and his passenger discovered this, the conman of the car was blazing merrily. The automobile was stopped at Elliot and Chestnut streets, Upper Falls and Box 625 brought Hose 7 to the scene.

NEWTON-EVERETT GAME IS TOSS-UP

Tomorrow afternoon on Claffin Field, Newtonville, the Newton and Everett high school football teams will play their annual gridiron contest. As in the past it will be one of great rivalry and if it is anything like the game at Everett last year it will be long remembered. For six years now Newton has not tasted victory over Everett and the Newton team is confident that this will be their year. Everett is just as determined that the game has not yet arrived. Time alone will tell.

Last year the orange and black came the closest it has come in a long while to defeating the Glidea coached outfit. It was halted in the final period within a few inches of the Everett goal and Everett was the victor 6 to 0. The year before was a scoreless tie with neither team cashing in on an opportunity to score. Prior to that Dick Ahlin, Everett star back, was the big thorn in the locals' side. In two games it was his sole efforts that repulsed the Newton team.

Early in the season it was the common opinion that Everett would be represented by one of the weakest teams in years, notwithstanding the Everett team scored an upset in trimming Nashua High, a heavier and more experienced team. The following week Warwick High of Rhode Island was Everett's victim, 33 to 0. Some of the Metropolitan papers at the time stated that Warwick was in the thick of the state championship battle last fall in Little Rhody. Such was not the case. Warwick has two high schools, the one which played against Everett and the other (West Warwick High) which is the school that was in the thick of the state championship. While this does not detract any from Everett's 33 to 0 victory it does not mean what it would have had it been West Warwick that Everett played. Last Saturday Rindge, with a heavy and powerful appearing eleven, upset all predictions and downed Everett by two touchdowns but later forfeited the game because of the ineligibility of its centre as told elsewhere in these columns.

Tomorrow's game will be the crucial test for both teams. At present it looks like a scoreless tie with the possibility of the breaks of the game deciding the outcome. Here again the unknown is encountered as for some years now it seems that Everett has had more than their share of these breaks. If—and if is always a little word with a lot of meaning—the worm turns and Newton has its turn the orange and black may be triumphant.

Newton has but to show as much improvement over its playing in the game last week as it did over the week before and victory should be theirs. It will be a real battle and while it may not be the spectacle that Malden and Melrose or Medford and Somerville will put on it will be well worth seeing. The stands are almost certain to be filled as both teams have always drawn when pitted against each other.

Everett will not give out the weights of the members of its squad but it is said that the average is slightly under 160 pounds which would make it appear that the two teams are quite evenly matched in this regard. The Everett line-up will probably be as follows: ls, A. Coviello; lt, Goldstein; lg, MacEachern; c, Doherty; rg, Ellis; rt, Masiello; re, J. Coviello; qb, McLean; lbh, Brickley; rlb, Valentine; fb, Capt. Del Isola.

Newton journeyed to Wellesley on Wednesday afternoon to hold a practice session with the latter high school eleven. Newton scored three touchdowns showing a decided improvement over the previous scrimmage between the two teams prior to the Newton-Malden game. That session was scoreless. Perry Elrod, Newton halfback, got away on several long runs Wednesday which led to the touchdowns. The Newton lads are mostly in fine shape for the game due to the efforts of Frank Sammons, the trainer. The only two members of the squad who may be kept out of the game because of injuries are James Connelly a halfback who has a pulled ligament in his leg and Joe Frechette who is still handicapped with a Charleyhorse received in the Malden encounter. Frechette has been working out with the squad this week but will not start the game at tackle and if Kenslea goes as well as against Cambridge the Newton mentor will probably keep Frechette on the bench.

EDITORIAL

The attention of our readers is called to the wide and interesting program of the Mather Class for the coming season, on the fundamentals of religion and science. Prof. Mather has an unusual faculty of presenting his subject in a clear and concise manner and in consequence, the class is constantly growing larger.

Governor Allen has made a ten strike in appointing Mr. Frank A. Goodwin as chairman of the Boston Finance Commission. Mr. Goodwin has an ideal equipment for that responsible post.

The Girl Scouts should receive a hearty endorsement this week.

LINCOLN PARK BAPTISTS LOOK AHEAD

With the Fall program opening up splendidly in nearly every department the Lincoln Park Baptist Church are looking ahead to the coming weeks and months with great enthusiasm.

The Women's Missionary Society is offering a series of attractive meetings, beginning next Wednesday, Oct. 16th, with a message from Mrs. Hjalmar Ostrom of Ntando, Belgian Congo.

Aside from the usual sewing meetings the first main objective ahead of the Ladies' Aid Society is the Good Fellowship Supper on November 6th. This annual supper was originated by the Rev. Edwin F. Snel over twenty years ago. It has continued through the years as a "love feast" between the different denominations and is highly cherished by the ladies of Lincoln Park.

The Senior Society of C. E. is planning for the annual rally of Norumbega Union of C. E. which will be held in this church. State officials will be present to lead in the conferences and to give the inspirational addresses for the occasion. The date is Tuesday, Nov. 12th.

The Prayer Meeting attendants are looking forward to the remainder of a series of studies on "The Background of the Bible." This and another series on Baptist Missionary enterprises will be illustrated with new and attractive pictures.

The most recently organized group within the church is the Junior Choir which is rehearsing weekly on Tuesday afternoons. Already Thanksgiving music is under way and the boys and girls are expecting bigger things by Christmas.

IS NEW ENGLAND'S RELIGION MORALLY PARALYZED?

"There is a school of critics which says that New England culture is decaying," said Rev. M. A. Kapp of the Newtonville Universalist Church in a recent address. "They say that New England is morally paralyzed at the point where Victorianism lost its influence. They say that New England's religion is a sterile, barren intellectualism which cripples personality and hinders spontaneous creativeness. Proud of its provincialism, desperately conscious of its tradition, New England is embalmed in the atmosphere of a century ago, and is pitifully unready to face the pressing problems that cry out for large, masterful attention today. Such problems as industry, freedom of speech, morals, and politics are smothered with rot, rather than pouring their energy into the lives of the people."

"If this is true, we are indeed in a precarious plight, for we are dying in a despair that has no hope but a complacent, self-satisfied smugness in our own well-being and our own self-righteousness. But as a matter of fact, the critics vent their prejudices in exaggerated fury against New England. Granted that deep reforms and sweeping transformations need to be made, there are stock, and staff and rugged brain power that are not afraid to meet exigencies when they arise, and not afraid to plan for the future in an intelligent way."

One of the deepest needs of all Protestants and Liberals today is to become aware of the power of modern religion, the job of modern religion. Protestantism is in danger of petering out. Catholicism has a great and persuasive system of world-wide power to offer. Liberalism has a new approach, a new power for today.

Mr. Kapp will speak Sunday on "The New Covenant" outlining the importance and the task of liberal religious education.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

"Columbus, Great Adventurer" is the subject of the Columbus Day talk tomorrow, at 3:00, at the Children's Museum of Boston. Motion pictures and lantern slides will tell the ever thrilling tale of 1492, and show modern close-ups of the West Indies, the land Columbus discovered. Admission is free.

"Seeing America First" is the title of the two-reel motion picture talk on Sunday, October 13, at 3:30. The first reel will take us on a saddle journey to the mountains of central California, a region of wild and rugged scenery, of canyons and valleys and towering mountain peaks, one hundred and forty-one of which are snow-capped. There are neither railroads nor roads, and saddle and pack animals are the only means of transportation. Passing Devil's Postpile, Pilot Knob, Bishop Pass, Jackass Meadow, Mammoth Peak and other picturesquely named points, we reach Mt. Humphrey, 14,000 feet high. Continuing, we see Graveyard Peaks, Silver Pass, Devil's Washbasin, the Minarets, beautiful Shadow Lake, and finally Mt. Ritter, also 14,000 feet high. On account of the inaccessibility of this region, these sights are seen by comparatively few travelers, and so this film offers the Museum audience an opportunity to see what the majority would miss.

Other motion picture reel takes in the most famous points of interest around Niagara Falls, and gives close-up and distant views from both the American and Canadian sides. Admission is free. Don't miss this scenic Sunday cinema!

A Paris doll of about 1870 is a recent accession, the gift of Miss Lucy A. Paton of the Hotel Victoria, Boston. The doll has a complete wardrobe of lovely Paris clothes of the same period, as well as some furniture and a cunning silver tea set.

SEPTEMBER HEALTH REPORT

The report of the Newton Board of Health for September shows that communicable diseases were not very prevalent in this city last month. Whooping cough had 10 cases reported, measles 2, mumps 2, chicken pox 3. There were 36 deaths in the city during the month; the death rate per 1000 being 7.41. The Sanitary Division of the Health Department during the month investigated 18 complaints, abated 39 nuisances and made 237 inspections. Twenty samples of milk were tested, 5 dairies visited, 175 markets and stores inspected and 15 bakeries.

JOHNS-MANVILLE HOME INSULATION

The Home Insulation Company at 172 High street, Boston, preferred house-insulating contractors of the Johns-Manville Corporation, say the J. M. process of thick wall insulation against loss of interior heat in winter and exclusion of the sun's heat in summer is bound to be acknowledged the greatest aid to comfort and economy that enters into modern home-building.

By this method any occupied house can be insulated as effectively as if it were in the process of construction and all without any interference with the interior.

The Johns-Manville House-Insulation is composed wholly of fleecy rock fibres which, being all mineral, are entirely proof against fire, decay of all kinds, settling, or any change whatsoever.

In filling up all open spaces between the inner and outer walls, this fluffy mineral fibre makes them truly dead air spaces, thus stopping all draughts and flow of heat as well as sound transmission. In other words this process makes a thermos bottle out of the ordinary house and insulates against sound as well. In addition this home-insulating material automatically insulates all of the heating risers, thus doing away with the expense of having this done separately.

After once enjoying the added comfort and economy of a home insulated with this Johns-Manville thick insulation, the wonder will be why it was never done before.

The Home Insulating Company of Boston invites inquiries by either mail or phone—Hancock 1846—for free estimates of the cost of their Johns-Manville House Insulation.

"Our past troubles were good cocktails and poor citizens. Our present troubles are poor cocktails and poor citizens. If our citizens, in the next few years, would advance in excellence as rapidly as our cocktails, in the last few years, have deteriorated in quality, we would have no prohibition question."—The Window Seat.

1,200,000 CHEVROLETS SOLD.

The Chevrolet Motor Company have announced here that more than 1,200,000 of the new six cylinder Chevrolet cars have been placed on the road since the first of the year.

This achievement, accomplished in little over nine months, is three times the best showing of any other manufacturer of six cylinder cars in a calendar year and tops Chevrolet's record total for the entire year of 1928.

It is now certain that six cylinder production will set a world record this year, surpassing for the first time in the history of the industry the output of four cylinder cars. This leadership of the sixes will come about chiefly because of Chevrolet's record showing this year.

Chevrolet factory officials declare that the dominating reason back of the leadership of the sixes is the public preference for the advantages which this type of construction affords. They point out too that the influence of great volume production, which has enabled the industry to get six cylinder prices down to the lowest on record, and has made it possible for Chevrolet through maximum volume to offer six cylinder performance at a price that formerly bought only a four.

With a new yearly record already assured, Chevrolet factories are continuing on the biggest Fall production program ever undertaken by the company. Nine manufacturing plants and seven large manufacturing plants are facing the busiest final quarter that Chevrolet has ever known.

The heavy Fall factory program was made necessary, it was explained, to bring production up to the level of the demand and make possible quicker deliveries to owners.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Since the radio tube industry has moved into the mill buildings on Chapel street, Nonantum, formerly owned by the Saxony Worsted Company, both sides of that street for a considerable distance are lined every working day with automobiles owned by employees of the new industry. This situation causes a serious traffic condition which would be relieved if the company employing the owners of these automobiles would acquire the vacant land on the opposite side of Chapel street as a parking space. If this is not done and the opposite side of the street is developed by the erection of either dwellings or manufacturing buildings, it is inevitable that all-day parking on that side of the street will be forbidden to employees of the company on the other side of the street.

Another parking problem that has grown more acute is that which occurs nights in the parking space along Washington street from Centre avenue westerly. Business appears to have so improved at the Paramount Theatre that many more automobiles than formerly are now parked in the area mentioned. For a considerable distance west from Centre avenue cars are parked nights two and three rows deep. As a result of this persons who park their cars before 8 o'clock evenings next to the curb in the parking space return to find other cars parked behind thus preventing the car next to the curb from being removed until the theatre performance is finished at 10:30 or later. So many cars are being parked along Peabody street that a petition has been presented from residents of that street asking that parking be prohibited on the west side of the street.

Employees of the Edison Company are busily engaged at Nonantum Square and along Washington street at Newton Corner in making excavations for conduits and in erecting new poles for the boulevard type electric lights which will soon provide greatly improved illumination for that section. Sixteen of the old type poles will be replaced by the more modern type poles. In addition 48 additional poles and lights will be installed. The old lights were of 1000 candle power each. The new lights will be of 1500 candle power. The lights on the old poles were 24 feet above the street. The new lights will be 16 feet. Not only will Nonantum Square and the business section at Newton Corner be adequately lighted, but Washington street as far west as Crafts street will be changed from a street with many dark spots to a well lighted thoroughfare.

As soon as the car tracks formerly used by the Middlesex & Boston will be removed, Nonantum Square and Washington street westerly to Church street will be resurfaced with Vulcanized pavement similar to that recently laid on Centre street. Street Commissioner Stuart also hopes to have funds available which will permit him to resurface Washington street easterly to Felton street with Warrenite bitulthitic pavement.

This is the class in lip reading, conducted by Miss Eva Macnutt. Miss Macnutt has had a most successful career as a teacher of lip reading and anyone who has difficulty with his hearing will

"The best way to overcome the difficulties caused by loss of hearing is to study speech reading, or lip reading, as it is often called. You can make the eye take the place of the ear by watching the movements of the speaker's face and thus be able to follow conversation with one person very readily and to hold your place in the business and social world. Free classes in speech reading are held in the Technical High School at Newtonville, in connection with the regular evening school, every Monday and Thursday evenings at 7:15 p. m. Many people have availed themselves of the opportunities offered in these classes since they were established in 1924 and have become proficient speech readers thereby, but it is felt that there must be many other hard of hearing people in Newton who have not known about this work. If you are hard of hearing, why not investigate for yourself and try your ability at the subtle art? You will find many other "in the same boat," both old and young. If you know of somebody who is hard of hearing, tell them about the classes, that they too, may "learn to hear with their eyes."

A really efficient Insulation—as good as a wool blanket 4 inches thick!

NOW you can make your home really comfortable both winter and summer. The new Johns-Manville Insulation is one of the most interesting products that modern science has developed for the home!

Imagine if you can, your home completely walled in by a four-inch thick barricade against winter's icy blasts, and summer's scorching sun; a protecting wall that is fireproof, rot-proof and vermin-proof—for it is made of rock.

Johns-Manville Home Insulation is rock, melted and blown into fleecy fibres which entrap tiny air-cells making a light fluffy substance that is placed in all the open wall spaces in your house by an ingenious method that will amaze you in its simplicity.

Phone or write us and let us tell you how this Insulation will save fuel for you, and how it will make your present home truly livable both winter and summer.

This shows how all the wall spaces between studs are filled—making a blanket 4 inches thick that can be placed around any house—frame, brick-veneer or stucco.

in the evening when it is very easy to reach out-of-town friends by telephone.

The family hour after dinner, before social engagements call them away, is the real "telephone hour."

To add to your pleasure, a low evening rate is in effect from seven to eight-thirty. On calls by number at distances above forty miles, the rates are about one quarter less than normal day rates.

Traffic records show that a greater percentage of calls can be completed promptly in the period from seven to eight-thirty than at any other time in the evening.

Plan your social calls during this period. We are sure you will be pleased with the speed and economy of this evening service.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

A man once said to me, "If you want to learn ingratitude, do something for somebody." I cannot accept that cynical view of life, but I will admit that there are supremely selfish persons who fall to show appreciation of favors done and opportunities provided. It isn't a matter of great concern—the instances I am about to describe—so I offer them as a source of amusement and not of grave sorrow.

The scene is the reading room of a public library—any public library like our own in Newton where the newspapers, magazines and other periodicals are accessible as they may be found on the tables and racks and are not obtained from an attendant. When newspapers, etc. are to be picked up by patrons there is nothing to prevent the first-come from gathering in as many as he desires. And that's the joker I am holding up—some of these grasping people do that very thing. Instead of taking a newspaper or a magazine and sitting down and reading it, they collect a number—the choicest, of course—and, hiding them as best they can, prepare for a literary feast.

It is laughable the way they go about it. They first take a newspaper and then slyly reach first for the Atlantic Monthly, we'll say, and then the Edinburgh Review and so on until they have accumulated a goodly store, five or six altogether. They have no intention of carrying off any of these, but they want to be sure of getting them before their two or three hours' visit to the reading room has ended. When they have corralled all they wish the newspaper is used to cover them. Simple, isn't it? And silly, too.

What harm, someone may ask, if nobody else wants them? That's it.
Someone may come in any minute looking for one of these very periodicals. Furthermore, can anybody read more than one magazine or newspaper at a single time? Why this miserly, dog-in-the-manger business?

For the life of me I cannot answer for these reading room hogs, for that's what they are, and certainly I am not going to sit up nights trying to figure out what is in the back of their heads.

On the contrary I get a big laugh
every time I see them in action.

Another group of public library patrons are not so entertaining. In fact they are irritating, if you ask me.
They not only make themselves appear boorish but they upset the conduct of the whole place, get on everybody's nerves and drive otherwise peaceful citizens into a state bordering on frenzy. I refer now to the men and women who bring young children to the library and permit the youngsters to run wild while they sit down and read.

I suppose that parents soon become accustomed to the noise made by their own youngsters. That must be true, otherwise they could not remain placid and unruffled while the little folks make a nursery out of the entire library. And it isn't so funny because the children, who are not to be blamed for their bad manners, have an idea that they may rough-house the place and get away with it. Meanwhile there is a din that precludes other people from concentrating their thoughts and turns the silence of the cloister into a boiler factory.

If the children confined their activities to noise it wouldn't be so bad, but they pull books from the shelves and toss them around, making a lot of work and inconvenience for assistant librarians and the patrons.

I am happy to report, on the word of library officials, that a small minority among patrons causes all this trouble. The great majority of patrons try to observe the rules of the library, respect the feelings of others and show themselves appreciative of the library's benefits. It's the few who stir up the rumpus, who seem not to know how to bring up their children and who show no consideration for the rest of humanity.

The effort to repeal the so-called "Baby" Volstead act in Massachusetts, which, the "wets" tell us, will show our disapproval as a State of the 18th amendment to the Federal constitution, has begun in earnest. Blanks have been put in circulation for signatures of registered voters to be attached to the initiative petition that will be presented to the 1930 General Court. Suppose the Legislature next year should vote to repeal this law, which it won't do—but suppose it did,
or that it was finally repealed by vote of the people in 1930 State election.
As I say, suppose it is wiped off the statute books and we have only the Federal law left, what has been accomplished? As one with not altogether a remote knowledge of how the liquor traffic is prosecuted I must say that if we are to have prohibition let us have it enforced. This crippling the State enforcement is, in my opinion, merely tying the hands of the officers and is almost a childish way of placing obstacles in the path of officials who are sure eventually to apprehend offenders.

The "wets" are certain to obtain the necessary 20,000 signatures. So certain are they that they will probably be inclined to pick and choose.
They will probably select with care their list, striving to include much-liked citizens—clergymen preferred—who unexpectedly announce themselves
"wet" when the ordinary citizen would assume them to be "dry." It is easy enough to get the signatures and approval of those with a hankering for alcoholic spirits. What makes a far more convincing case, however, is a group of sterling citizens who would be expected to favor strict enforcement of liquor laws. Have you ever noticed how the "wets" always make a point in their arguments of the fact that their speaker is a man "who never touches liquor!"

How often have I heard a man start his statement with, "Now I have never taken a drink in my life" or, "Now I'm a man who never touches a drop."
They say these things because they know it will add weight to their assertions. If they said, "Take it in my case, I take a drink whenever I can get it," there would be little or no attention paid to their opinions. The arguments against prohibition must be made by strictly sober men in order to carry weight. That's a bit inconsistent, isn't it? Nevertheless it's true.

Let's look into this initiative petition business. It's only been in operation about 10 or 12 years. The people who supported it originally were urged to do so by the owner of a chain of daily newspapers. He was the champion of the "I & R" (the initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution of Massachusetts).
I recall distinctly that when it was offered to the Constitutional convention there was assurance that it would give "the people" an opportunity that had long been denied them. For my part I don't remember what in particular had been "denied," but that was a small matter. Something might possibly be denied in the future so it was just as well to put the "I & R" into operation.

It may be that those who favored the amendment could not foresee the consequences. But there were those opposed who tried to point out the dangers. These latter might well have saved their breath and energy. They were charged with favoring the capitalists and trying to create an autocracy, etc. I should like to hear the honest and frank opinion of a number of those who a dozen years ago supported and helped bring about the change in our constitution. From what I have heard and believe to be the case some of the strongest "I & R" boosters are ready to admit that it did not prove a cure-all but rather a two-edged sword. It can now be used to put good legislation on the statute books and also bad legislation. And it can be used to repeal bad legislation and good legislation. It seems to me that after all it is little more than a seesaw since it can undo the good as easily as it can reform the bad.

I can only say that I am one of those who never could believe in the
"I & R" and am still from Missouri.
You will see a lot of scurrying around on the part of the "wets," a lot of money spent and a lot of time wasted to repeal the "Baby" Volstead act. It will be a cinch to get names, while the initiative petition to prevent the torture in traps of fur-bearing animals is likely to have no takers. I don't say that we are impervious to the suffering of fur-bearing beasts when maimed in traps, but most of us are indifferent. An effort to stop the torturing and killing of these animals is not likely to arouse public interest to any great extent. Animals, in their dumb way, have no craving for booze or love of liquor liberty. They seek only to be left alone. Why bother with their suffering when there are so many men and women suffering for light wines and beer?

He was one of those individuals who liked an audience. In this regard he was far from lonely. In fact he showed a common human trait in his desire to address a group of listeners who would show a sufficiently satisfactory reaction to his most startling statements. His usual line was a fish story, though it might be varied with the tale of a hunting achievement. I might more fully identify this man, but I will go no further than to say he happens to be a resident of Newton.

One of his resourceful associates, tiring of the role of listener, thought of a plan to discourage the booster, for that is in plain English what the man was. When the next long fish story was told the friend, instead of saying, "Is that so?" and sitting in open-mouthed amazement, merely remarked,
"I believe you." At first the teller of

CHANGING IDEAS

People used to have their automobiles refinished only when the present finish had completely gone to pieces. This was, of course, a carry-over from the days of colorless motorcars when the only finish was black, and hence, there was no advantage in having a new finish while the old one was in good shape.

But today, with the ever changing array of stylish colors on automobiles, fenders in color, two-tone finishes and the like, people have found out that the whole appearance of their cars can be changed and the value increased through having new Duco colors applied over the old.

(Let us show you how your car will look in a brand new Duco color scheme.)

This body of men had during the preceding week attended services which included masses at 5.30 and 7 each morning and evening services at 7.45 o'clock.

The first week of the mission was for the women of the parish and 1800 attended these services. ROTARY CLUB

Mr. Kenelm Winslow, a member of the club and principal of the Stearns school at Nonantum, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Newton Rotary club on Monday.

Mr. Winslow has been the master of the Stearns district for 21 years and has a thorough knowledge of that part of the city. He said that there were 700 school children in his district, representing eleven different nationalities 90% of which included, French Canadians, Italians and Hebrews.

He paid a high tribute to the teachers many of whom had refused transfers to other parts of the city. The good work done by the Boy Scouts in that district, and the splendid work done by the Stearns School Centre were also mentioned.

In the absence of the president and vice president, Andrew J. Ford presided.

OFFICERS ELECTED

At the annual meeting of the Gov. John A. Andrews Home Association, held Oct. 7, the following officers were elected:

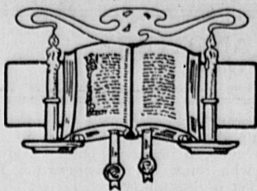

President, Mrs. Sue Stuart Wadsworth, Newtonville; Secretary, Mrs. Helen A. Phinney, W. Somerville; Treasurer, Wilfred A. Wetherbee, Newton.

Friday was Daughters of Union Veterans Day at the Home. A large number were present and a pleasant day was enjoyed by all. A fine entertainment was provided which the members of the Home greatly appreciated. The Home is situated at 92 Washington Park, Newtonville. It is organized for the purpose of making a home for Civil War veterans and their wives and widows. Our citizens are cordially invited to visit the home. Contributions and bequests will be greatly appreciated.

THE NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The Newton Choral Society held its regular meeting at Central Church, Newtonville, Tuesday evening, with a good attendance. The music selected for the December concert is very much liked, and the singers feel pleasure in working over such beautiful compositions. One of the features of this concert will be the short cantata, "Rex Gloriae" by Gaines. This has parts for violin with recitations by a narrator, and will be especially appropriate to Christmas.

Singers who desire to take part in this concert should apply at once at the meetings held each Tuesday evening at 7:45 at Central Church, Newtonville.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSN

The Norumbega District Schools of Religious Education, held this Fall in four locations instead of at one only, have made a splendid start, enrolling at their first sessions about 230 persons from 32 churches.

The Newton Centre section had a supper last Monday evening to open their school, followed by registration and regular class work, at the Methodist Church. Their Assembly period was in charge of Professor Albert E. Bailey, art specialist, who gave a talk on "Qualities of a Great Teacher", using as a basis an interpretation of the picture "Christ and the Fishermen", by Zimmermann.

Newtonville is the largest of the four sections, drawing as it does from Waltham and the North Side Newton churches. Fred Becker of Newtonville, employed at the Methodist Book Concern, is in charge of sale of books at the first few sessions in Newtonville and Watertown schools.

The Newton Inter-church Young People's Council, conducted under the auspices of the District, is off with a good and early start this year. A well attended Council meeting was held last Saturday evening at the Newton Centre Congregational Church. Thelma Bailey of Auburndale was elected to take the place of Miriam Lockwood, who has had to resign that office. The Y. P. Conference dates, November 29 and 30 at the Newton Centre Congregational church. Committees of young people representing all parts of Newton are at work under adult advisers planning program, publicity, eats and registration.

LUCY JACKSON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The regular meeting of the Chapter will be at the Chapter House on Monday, October 14th, at 2:15 p. m. The program includes: Reception by Hostesses, 2:15 p. m.; Business Meeting, 2:30 p. m.; Dedication of Assembly Hall, 3:30 p. m.; Presentation of Flags, and Songs by Mrs. Kingsbury. Hostesses—Mrs. Ralph E. Hatch, Chairman, Mrs. O. R. Hartel, Mrs. H. H. Haskell, Mrs. S. N. Hoag, Mrs. J. P. Holmes, Mrs. A. G. Hosmer, Mrs. C. P. Hutchins, Mrs. L. H. Howe, Mrs. A. F. Jones, Mrs. G. I. Jones, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Miss E. F. Jordan, Mrs. F. M. Lowe, Mrs. Wm. H. Lucas, and Mrs. G. B. H. Macomber.

All friends of members of the Chapter are cordially invited to the opening of the Chapter House from four o'clock until nine p. m.

Those who have visited this charming old historic mansion at Newton Lower Falls need not be told of its many attractions. Its preservation and restoration have given to Newton a building which is of value as a reminder of the past years of this community. Furnishings in keeping with the manse have been assembled and an interesting collection of antique center house.

Two serious handicaps have prevented its usefulness as a place of meeting—the lack of an assembly room, and an adequate heating system. These difficulties have been recently overcome, and alterations have been made requiring but a slight addition. The dignified exterior has not been changed, but much has been done to add to the convenience and comfort as well as the beauty of the interior building. The work was begun last spring under the leadership of the former regent, Mrs. John N. Eaton. Mrs. Henry W. Newhall was chairman of the building committee. During the summer the members have been busy making curtains and furnishing the needed touches.

Mrs. Liverus H. Howe is the present regent and the members of the chapter are looking forward to the year's work, hoping to make some contribution to the patriotic endeavors of the city of Newton.

BENEFIT ENTERTAINMENT

The famous German Sea Devil, Count Von Luckner, is being presented on Monday evening, October 21st, at eight o'clock, at the Newton Centre Woman's Clubhouse, by the Junior Mother's Rest Club.

An evening with Count Luckner promises exciting entertainment with tales of enthralling sea adventure. His dramatic manner of recounting his experiences places him among the most interesting of lecturers. His exploits as captain of the "Seadler" were among the most romantic and daring in the sea history of the World War. The committee in charge of this evening of entertainment, arranged for the benefit of the home conducted by the Mother's Rest Association, Inc., is Mrs. Lawrence C. Farwell, chairman, Mrs. Robert F. Miller, and Mrs. Roger W. Weeks.

Public Buildings Commissioner Cecil C. Chadwick departed on Wednesday for Pittsburgh to visit the steel plants for the purpose of securing information regarding more economical construction of buildings by the use of steel. Building Inspectors Campbell and Warren will attend a meeting of the American Society of Welding on October 10th at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Newtonville Troops consider themselves very fortunate in having for a meeting place this year the portable schoolhouse behind the Claffin School. This building the girls have entirely to themselves on Wednesday afternoons, and it is possible for them to use the rooms as one might those of a Scout House, leaving their equipment and other Scout things right there. Troop 10 the Senior Troop of Newtonville, began its meetings Monday night, with an attendance of 40; Mrs. Ballard is their Captain. Scouts Suvalla, Driscoll, and Shea of this troop will assist Captain Pennessy with Troop 19 in Newton Lower Falls.

On Friday, October 11th, a course in Red Cross Swimming and Life Saving will begin at the Swimming Pool in the Walnut Park Country Day School for Boys. This course will be given by Miss Ruth Pennessy, Red Cross Examiner, with the assistance of several Red Cross Life Savers. During the course of ten lessons, there will be opportunity for beginners' swimming, swimming for pleasure, Swimmers' Merit Badge work as well as the regular Red Cross Life Saving. Registration should be made at once, as the number taken is limited.

Tuesday, October 15th, a course in Home Hygiene will begin at Headquarters, given by Miss Norcross of the Newton Red Cross. This course includes four different Merit Badges, as well as the Red Cross certificate.

Those Scouts interested in Community Service should report at Headquarters Tuesday, October 15th after school. A Shop is maintained at Headquarters for the convenience of Newton Girl Scouts; here books, pins, and other Girl Scout necessities may be had, and things not on hand may be ordered. We are glad to serve you in this way and would like to know anything you would like to have us keep in stock.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

Stephen Cupoli, 9, of 91 Los Angeles street, Nonantum, received possible internal injuries Saturday evening when he fell from a spare tire carrier on the rear of an automobile which was backing out of the yard at 81 Los Angeles street. He was dragged for a number of feet. Peter Sampson, the driver of the car, stated to the police that he had ordered the Cupoli boy off the running board of the car and the boy then had climbed on the tire carrier without Sampson's knowledge.

Another collision between an automobile and a child riding a bicycle occurred Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Summer street and Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre. According to the report made to the police by Henry Schmidt, Jr., of Old Colony road, Chestnut Hill, as he approached the intersection while driving his car on the avenue, he saw Roselle Hudson, 12, of Irving street, Newton Centre, coming down the grade on Summer street on a bicycle. He stopped the car, but the girl could not stop the bicycle and hit the side of the automobile. She received cuts and bruises.

A car driven by Aran Kalayjian of Bridge street, Dedham and a Boston & Worcester bus collided on Sunday at Worcester and Cedar streets, Westley. Kalayjian and John Shanahan of 16 Highland avenue, Newton Upper Falls, who was riding with him were injured.

Massachusetts registers 102% increase in EIGHTS

As proof of the tremendous growth in public preference for eight-cylinder cars, registration figures in this state for the first seven months of 1929 tell their own story. Eights above $1000 showed an increase of 102 per cent while Sixes in the same price field decreased 18 per cent.

The tendency is the same the nation over. In 43 states, * Eights above $1000 increased 94 per cent. Sixes declined 18 per cent. Nobody can doubt the evidence. We are passing into an eight-cylinder era!

Studebaker today leads the world in the manufacture of Eights—Eights that are champions—holders of 11 world records for speed and endurance and more American stock car records than all other makes combined—Eights which are remarkably economical—smooth, flexible, brilliant.

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

COMING EVENTS

C. L. S. C. Of Newton Highlands

Mrs. R. Earle Tinkham, of Newton Upper Falls, opens her home, 1123 Boylston street, on Monday afternoon, October 14th, for the meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C., with the business session beginning at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. N. F. Van Housen has charge of the program, and will discuss Chapter X of Will Durant's "The Story of Philosophy," which takes up "Contemporary European Philosophers—Bergson, Croce, Bertrand Russell." There is also a current event period at each meeting of the Club, which discusses such matters as foreign affairs, science and nature, art, music and drama, lectures, current literature, educational affairs, and sociology, keeping members in touch with vital matters of daily interest, and giving resumes that are both illuminating and time-saving for those who haven't leisure to delve deeply into reading such topics.

Monday Club of Newton Highlands

Study of American Literature will be the subject for the coming year for the Monday club of Newton Highlands. The opening meeting, with the new president, Mrs. J. H. McCready, presiding will take the form of a "Get-together" Social at the home of Mrs. Florence E. Foster 1058 Walnut street Monday afternoon, October 14th. (There is change in the place of meeting, as was previously reported.) There will be songs by a group of Club members, under the leadership of the Music Committee, Mrs. F. S. Fairchild and Mrs. M. S. Wallace. Mrs. George E. Walcott, in costume, will give a Colonial Play: "Phebe, a True Story of Revolutionary Days." The Hospitality Committee, Mrs. Florence E. Foster and Mrs. James Kingman, have charge of the social hour.

Mrs. J. S. Patton and Mrs. G. M. Hayden arranged the program for the afternoon.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

"Where the Three Continents Meet," the subject chosen for this year's study by the Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, without doubt will present many interesting topics.

"Alexandria and the Delta Lands" is the name of the paper to be presented by Mrs. Ethel Leach, followed by one on "Cairo and The Pyramids," by Mrs. Sarah Jordan.

Mrs. Arthur D. Batson opens her home for this, the first meeting on Monday, October 14th. Mrs. Victor D. Ratzburg will assist the hostess.

Business And Professional Division of Auburndale Woman's Club

Monday, October 14th, marks the opening of another year for the Business and Professional group of the Auburndale Woman's Club. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock, in the Auburndale Club House by Miss Rosa Allen, chairman.

Mrs. Albert Hubbard will be in charge of the entertainment which is a "Gymkhana." Refreshments will be served by the Hospitality Committee, of which Miss Susan Philbrook is chairman.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

"Your Home and Your Clothes—What has Art to do with Them?" will be the subject of Mrs. Elsie K. Chamberlain's lecture to the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, on Tuesday, October 15, at 2:30 p. m., at the Congregational Parish House.

Mrs. Chamberlain is editor of "Your Home" column in the Boston Herald and well known to many Clubwomen as Art chairman of the State Federation. She is a pleasing speaker with a sense of humor and a vivid way of expression. Mrs. Chamberlain was one of the Judges at the Flower Show that the Club gave last year.

The Philanthropic Committee commences its work of raising funds by a Food Sale at this meeting. Also the delayed Cook Book will be on sale. It is hoped members will come prepared to buy the goodies and the Club members' favorite recipes.

The Public Health Committee have changed the date of its Hike from the 17th to the 18th. The Hike will be to the Blue Hills. More definite notice will be posted on the Bulletin Board.

A Harvest supper and entertainment will be held at the Congregational Church, on the 18th. Mrs. Earl Manning and Mrs. Albion Brown will be in charge of the supper, and Mrs. Larson, Olkes and Mrs. Charles will provide the entertainment. An urgent invitation is given to every Club member to come and bring her family and do her part to make it a community affair, in which to become better acquainted with one's neighbors. Tickets are on sale by Mrs. Lawrence Smith and her committee. The Art Committee is arranging a Class in Design for children, for Saturday mornings.

Auburndale Review Club

The Auburndale Review Club will meet on Tuesday, October 15th, at 10:00 a. m., at the home of Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, 324 Central street. Continuing its study of "The Growth and Present Phases of our Foreign Policies," papers will be read by the following members: Miss Elizabeth Wells, giving the "Early History and Development of Oregon"; Miss Eleanor M. Pinkham, telling of the "Oregon Boundary Dispute"; and Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, giving a "Biography of Calhoun."

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Newton Centre Woman's Club members are enjoying the series of Art lectures, given by Miss Frances Varney, of Newton Centre, on Florentine Art. The second in this attractive subject will be given on Wednesday, October 16th, at 3 p. m., in the Club House, with "Masaccio and the Realists" as specific sub-title. The Art Committee, of which Mrs. W. C. Noetzel is chairman, has arranged this course of four lectures, and single tickets may be obtained through Mrs. Norman Pratt, of Grant avenue, Newton Centre. Miss Varney has spent some time in Italy studying art, and is well qualified to present her topics, besides which she has some very beautiful illustrations in reproduction of the subjects she mentions.

Community Service Club of West Newton

The first meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton will be held Wednesday afternoon, October 16th, at the Parish House of the Unitarian Church.

A reception will be tendered Mrs. Axel Packard, president of the State Federation, Mrs. Horace Gale, director of the 12th District, and the presidents and secretaries of the Clubs of this district, having as guest of honor, Mrs. Katherine P. Cowin, past president of the Community Service Club and now president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

The speaker will be Mr. Guyas Williams, who will illustrate his talk on "Some Aspects of Cartooning".

The afternoon will be in charge of Mrs. George Hatch, assisted by the Membership committee and the Refreshment committee.

STATE FEDERATION

RADIO. Mrs. Albert Bradley Carter, chairman of Social and Industrial Conditions, will broadcast "A Song in the Heart of a Child" next Wednesday morning, October 16th, from WNAC at 11:30 o'clock. A twenty-minute musicale has been arranged for 11:40 by the following artists: Blanche Haskell, Soprano, accompanied by Almer W. Allen; Mildred Taylor Shaw, Violinist, with Frances Adelman at the piano.

CHILD PSYCHOLOGY. A fall lecture course on the subject "The Behavior of Youth" is offered to Clubwomen and others interested by the Judge Baker Foundation and the Massachusetts Civic League. Six lectures comprise the course which will be held on Wednesdays at 4 o'clock, in Ford Hall, Boston. The first is on October 16th, when the specific subject will be "Nature and Nurture in the Early Years." Prominent child specialists, acquainted with their various topics, are promised as the speakers for the series.

EDUCATIONAL. Last week an account was given of the various Committees of the State Federation, as a basis of work and for understanding of new personnel. This week space will be given to take up some of the less prosaic and "practical" matters, in the cultural field of art and literature. Mrs. C. A. Stockbridge's appeal, as chairman of Education, is an excellent way to start this new topic for Clubwomen's consideration. She asks each one to pledge herself to spend some time during the Club year on self-improvement, such as reading—and more important, digesting—one or more really worthwhile books upon an educational subject; to study and know more about her own school system; and to interest herself in the placement of practical educational books in her libraries.

especially fine. It is pleasing, therefore, to learn that the State Executive Board voted to Amherst Agricultural College for women studying in the household arts department, and allied home arts subjects, the income from the sum of $3,000, to be used in scholarships annually. The scholarship is to be known as "Scholarship in Art Applied to Living." Certainly this practical application of the topic of art to the lives of women is a worthy memorial to the woman the State Federation delights to honor in her field of the artistic.

On Monday evening, October 7th, about eighty-five members of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club met at the home of Miss Ethel Sablin, 1206 Boylston street, for the informal reception with the president, Miss Sablin welcomed the members not only to the first meeting of the Club year but to the first meeting of the second decade in the Club's history. The Membership Committee reported a membership of 123 to start the Club year. Mrs. Warren H. Hoey, delegate to the State Federation meeting at Swampscott, read what was necessarily a lengthy report of the convention, but which sprinkled with witticisms and pleasantries, made a very interesting report.

Mrs. Robert McLaughlin gave a short report of the National Biennial meeting, also held at Swampscott. Mrs. H. E. Child, in a reminiscent vein, gave some of her experiences on the Federal Ushers and Meetings Committee of the State Federation, giving some of the workings behind the scenes in preparing for the conventions.

In speaking of the work of the Club this winter Miss Sablin urged all to work together and to come to the meetings to know what was going on. The Club "Traveling Bazaar" was started on its way at this meeting and it is hoped that by Christmas all members will have had an opportunity to buy from it and put an article in.

Before the members went down stairs each was tagged, former members with yellow and the new members with blue tags. Later in the evening pictures cut in two were given out, half to those wearing yellow tags and the other half to those wearing blue tags—the yellows served as hostesses to the blues, and these saw to it that their partners had refreshments, and was introduced to as many as possible. Guests were requested to draw yellow cards from a silver urn and those holding the numbered cards received a souvenir of the occasion.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The Art Committee, under the leadership of Mrs. William C. Noetzel, is offering many unusual courses. On Monday morning the first of a series of lessons in Furniture Painting was held with Mrs. A. C. Caldwell as instructor. The class showed particular interest in the painting of trays, old chests and in the fascinating Italian gesso work. Through the courtesy of Mrs. Charles Bond, her cozy "Barn Studio" at 112 Gibbs street, was used for all club art classes.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Annual Reception of the Newtonville Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. Albert P. Everts on Tuesday. The spacious lawn, with its background of shrubbery, made a splendid setting both for the reception and the play which followed.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Albert P. Everts, Mrs. Albert D. Auryan, Mrs. William C. Noetzel, Mrs. Phister Cowin, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, The ushers were Mrs. Arthur H. Burdick, head usher, Mrs. George A. Edwards, Mrs. G. Willis Hanson, Mrs. Lewis T. Heath, Mrs. Ernest L. Nichols, Mrs. Frank B. Thompson, and Mrs. Harry O. Williams.

The Drama Committee presented a very clever little one-act play, "The Grounds." The action took place on the grounds of a fashionable hotel in one of New England's most exclusive summer resorts and was full of unexpected situations and humor. The parts were taken by members of the Drama Committee: Mrs. Lowell A. Burrows, Mrs. Howard W. Liven, Mrs. Anton R. Fried, Mrs. Myron M. Davis, Mrs. Edward P. Hendrick, Mrs. Ellison Day, Mrs. Percy Woodward, Mrs. Frederick Tonnant and Mrs. Pitt F. Drew. Miss Estelle Marsh was in charge.

Before the play the Newtonville Girls' Orchestra rendered several selections. This orchestra is made up of seven High School girls: Judith Andrews, leader, Ruth Andrews, Charlotte Lindley, Charlotte Jones and Ellen Grove.
During the tea the new members, who had been brought by their sponsors, were made welcome. Mrs. George A. Clapp and Mrs. Clinton W. Kyle poured at a very attractive table decorated with pink roses and blue larkspur, while the Social Committee, Mrs. William B. Hanna, chairman, served. The members of the committee are: Mrs. Guy F. Bauer, Mrs. Harold D. Billings, Mrs. Edwin T. Campbell, Mrs. LeSaur T. Collins, Mrs. Donald O. Cornish, Mrs. Lester B. Hunter, Mrs. Royal B. Packer, Miss Mary Rolfe, Mrs. Fred Rust, Mrs. Robert C. Nobscot Reservation Scene of Big Event—Cabin Keys Delivered to Council and Gate Lodge Dedicated Under blue skies and the warm sun, hundreds of people and Scouts from the city of Newton witnessed an inspiring ceremony at the Nobscot Reservation of the Newton Boy Scouts last Sunday afternoon. Estimates made by several indicate that more than 1,200 were present at the clearing in the woods where the ceremonies were held.

The event was the first public appearance in Newton of the Norumbega Council Jamboree Troop of Boy Scouts who were in England and Europe, the turning over by Troop-builders of their respective cabins on the Reservation to the Council, and the dedication of Monson Lodge, presented by Captain and Mrs. Nagle.

Colors Flouted to the Breeze

After the officers of the Council and their guests had filed into position in the circle, under the huge white pine tree, where the affair was to be held, in came about 400 Scouts led by Commissioner Bierer and the Scoutmasters and Assistants. When in position, all remained standing, the sharp roll of the drum sounded among the trees and then the clear, inspiring notes of the bugle, sounding "To the Colors" rang out. With all at Salute, the Color Guard of the Eagle Circle, under Chief Eagle Harry Colony, raised aloft the Stars and Stripes and the Council flag and broke them to the breeze.

Immediately after this, Harry Colony introduced Mr. Maynard Hutchinson, President of Norumbega Council, who spoke briefly of the progress of the Council during the past two years, its remarkable growth and the great interest and support which public-spirited citizens of Newton are giving to Scouting locally. He also paid tribute to the wonderful work of the volunteer leaders who are making the great success possible here and then spoke of the Reservation, which is rated as one of the finest in the Country, and expressed appreciation of the foresight of William T. Halyeas, who was President of the Council when the Nobscot Reservation was acquired and of Mr. Horace W. Orr, whose interest and initial gift made the Reservation possible.

Nobscot Mortgage Lifted

As the climax of his brief talk, President Hutchinson announced that through the enthusiasm and generosity of several men of the city, approached during the 48 hours preceding the Sunday event, $7,500.00 had been subscribed to pay off the mortgage of that amount on the Reservation, so that the Council now owns it free and clear!

President Hutchinson then introduced Captain Nagle, who, on behalf of his wife and himself, spoke of the splendid work which the Scout organization is doing and then presented the Gate Lodge to the Council. President Hutchinson accepted with thanks and the Scouts gave the Captain a ringing and rousing cheer.

The Lodge is a vertical, sectional log cabin, very attractive and located at the main entrance to the Reservation. It is called Monson Lodge in honor of Mr. Arthur Monson, the surveyor who laid out the Framingham-Sudbury line, which runs within a few feet of the cabin, in 1703. On the cabin is a small plaque which names the donors. On the front are four very old and uniquely designed and painted boards, the only ones on any Scout reservation in the United States. They were presented to the Jamboree Troop at the Jamboree by the Scout Commission of New Zealand. They are boards such as used by the Maorians, natives of New Zealand, on their grass and thatch huts, to keep the evil spirits away and to bid the good spirits welcome.

Troop Cabin Keys Delivered

Chief Eagle Harry Colony then called forth the representatives of Troops 1, 4, 5, 7, 11 and 19, which have built or had built on the Reservation cabins or shelters. Robert Spooner, Senior Patrol Leader, Troop 1; Scoutmaster Lichtenhauser, Troop 4; Senior Patrol Leader William Stone, Troop 5; Senior Patrol Leader Russell Taylor, Troop 7; Patrol Leader Clay Lewis, Troop 11; and Scoutmaster Hill, Troop 19, marched forward and handed over their keys with appropriate words. President Hutchinson returned the keys and with them a certificate of tenancy, printed in gold and blue, and a reduced map of the Reservation to each one.

Jamboree Medals Presented to President and Commissioner

At the close of this short, dignified ceremony, Harry Colony introduced Mr. Bruce, the Scout Executive. He asked President Hutchinson and Commissioner Bierer to come forward. They were each presented, on behalf of the Staff, a Jamboree medal for their splendid work in behalf of the Newton Jamboree Troop, whose success they made possible.

Jamboree Troop Appears

The Executive then turned and summoned the Norumbega Tribe of Indians, the Scouts who went to the Jamboree as New England Indians. Slowly, dignified, in stride the Chief of the Tribe, White Eagle (Wilson P. Harris, Scoutmaster of Troop 10, Waban and Associate Scoutmaster of the Jamboree Troop. He explained the preparations made for the trip, the learning of the Indian dances and ceremonies and the making of their own costumes by the boys. With his furred-leather jerkin, fringed leggings, gay headdress and bead work and the awesome war-painting, Chief Eagle made a distinct impression. After his introduction, he turned and summoned the Tribe. From the woods, the Medicine Man, Charles Frary, moved slowly in. He knelt and built a small fire by the friction method. As the whitish wisp of smoke floated heavenwards, the Medicine Man laid his offering by the fire, laid his hands on his breast and then flung them towards the sky, calling on the Great Spirit to be present with them. With arms outstretched, he sang the mournful notes of the Seneca Call, which was echoed from the woods.

As the last notes faded away, silently filed in the Norumbega Tribe, clad in the costumes they had made themselves; furred-leather jerkins, fringed leggings, roach headdresses, gay with eagle plumes and red fluff; and their faces fearfully streaked with red and black war-paint and some with weird designs drawn upon their bodies. Silently, to the throbbing notes of the tom-tom, they formed the tribal circle. One by one they walked forward to the center of the circle, laid their weapons in a pile and returned to the circle. As they sat there, in came the evil spirit (Richard Shaw) and frightened the Indians so that they crouched to earth. Finally he stood and flung the blanket aside and they knew him for a friend, then they took their weapons from the pile and again formed the circle.

In turn they did the Social, Scalp and War Dances. The Scouts certainly put their very souls into the dances; for they stepped and cavorted and leaped into the air like veritable Indian dancers. As they "took scalps" and as they "fought" in the war dances, their piercing cries and shrieks rang through the woods, till a wanderer, not knowing of the event, might truly have thought the Indians were again infesting the woods at Nobscot!

As one man who has lived among the Indians remarked, the boys were not playing Indians, they were real Indians, going through their dances.

After the dance, the Tribe filed off; the sweet, lingering notes of Retreat sounded and the assembly departed to visit the Reservation and the cabins. All the Troops held open house at their cabins or cabinettes and welcomed parents and friends. The woods were full of friends, enthusiastic about the affair and about the beauty of the Reservation.

Lucy Jackson Chapter House Is Reopened

Alterations Completed at Considerable Expense

The re-opening of the Lucy Jackson Chapter House on Monday afternoon was a happy occasion for the large number of members who gathered in the beautiful new Assembly Hall. The attractive alterations and furnishings were much admired, every detail showing the skill and taste of the builder, Mr. Clark Macomber, and the committees who had given the matter thought for some years.

Mrs. Henry W. Newhall, chairman of the building committee gave a report which announced that all expenses had been met and no indebtedness had been incurred. The alterations had cost something over $8000.00. Mr. Macomber had been very generous in his dealings, and the House Committee had contributed from the sinking fund so as to have no deficit. They hope to be able to replace the amount later. Mr. Macomber had also shown remarkable interest in the restoration of the old house and when a fireplace was uncovered back of the kitchen range he made a study of models at the Boston Art Museum so as to secure designs that were most suitable. His research was rewarded and the fireplace in the dining room will always be one of the most pleasing features of the building.

Already gifts have enriched the property and it is hoped that the window draperies, chairs and rugs will be the expression of the loyalty of the individual members. Among the gifts are a framed copy of the Salute to the Flag and The American's Creed, presented by Mrs. Arthur S. Tucker and Miss Nella J. Pearson, electric light sconces, Mrs. William G. Starkweather, and the regent's chair, Mrs. Liverus H. Howe. Abundant and colorful flowers were given by Mr. Macomber.

The new regent, Mrs. Howe, presided and in a few graceful remarks paid a tribute to the former regent, Mrs. John Eaton, through whose endeavors the improvements had been made possible. A vote of thanks was given Miss Nella Pearson who has been untiring in her efforts and to whose vision is largely due the form of the present alterations.

A report was given by Mrs. Hatch of the work done for disabled soldiers at the Rutland Hospital.

Rev. Guy Wilbur Miner, rector of St. Mary's Church, brought congratulation from the members of his parish, who have a warm interest in the preservation of their former manse. He spoke of the value it was to them to have that corner retain the dignity which the house imparts and to be protected from further encroachments. As a member of the Sons of the American Revolution the historical aspects were appreciated by Mr. Miner.

Mrs. Kingsbury sang some very pleasing selections; an aria from Don Giovanni, Spanish Serenade, and "Be-

High School Faculty To Stage Annual Play

"So This Is London" To Be Presented Nov. 1st and 2nd

The annual play by members of the Newton High School faculty will be presented on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1st and 2nd in the high school auditorium. The production committee has selected "So This Is London" and the leading roles will be played by Edward N. Tisdale and Miss Helen B. Lee. Miss Louise Wetherbee will again be the head coach. Other leading parts will be taken by the Misses Helen E. Nute and Alma A. Thomas and Messrs. Carl L. Swan and Charles H. Mergendahl. The remainder of the cast includes Raymond A. Green, George E. Hardy, Daniel F. Koughan, Abner H. Bailey and Miss Edith E. Newcomb.

The proceeds of this year's production will be used to form scholarships. In addition to a faculty fund there will be two scholarships of from $200 to $300 each for a senior boy and girl who plans to attend some higher school of education, not necessarily a college. In former years the proceeds have been used to purchase the picture hanging in the foyer of the Administration building, the new interior scenery set, and to help pay for the brown velvet curtains on the stage.

The posters are being drawn by the freehand drawing classes of Miss Margaret Ellis and Miss Ethel W. McGregory.

The scene of the play is laid in England. Elinor, only daughter of Sir Percy Beauchamp, and Hiram, Jr., only son of Hiram Draper, American millionaire shoe manufacturer have fallen in love. As Sir Percy hates everything American and Hiram, Sr. scorns everything English, the announcement of the engagement meets violent opposition on both sides. Mr. Draper is in London to negotiate the purchases of Botts Bros., a rival shoe company and the situation is greatly complicated when he discovers that Sir Percy is his own. When young Hiram attempts to aid his father by applying American tactics to handling Sir Percy's business man, the results are far from the expected. All troubles eventually vanish and the story closes with Sir Percy and Mr. Draper settling a heated discussion as to whether the wedding shall be in England or America by the tossing of a coin. "Heads always" says Sir Percy. Come and see which way the coin falls.

Heve me if all those endearing young charms." She added to the charm of their rendering, by some explanatory words.

Tea was served with Mrs. Gardner I. Jones and Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer presiding. The chapter is looking forward to some pleasant activities in the near future which include a card party to be held October 19 and a Harvest Supper Nov. 4.

Newton Merchants Hear Talk On Credit

Development of Credit Organizations Outlined

The first regular meeting of the Newton Business Associates for the Fall season was held last night at the Hunnewell Club. President Thomas H. Burns presided and Secretary Dwight Colburn gave a resume of the activities of the association during the past summer. Larry Fredericks' ensemble provided instrumental music and Clem Hernandez led the choral singing.

The speaker of the evening was Edward P. Tuttle of Vernon Court, Newton, introduced as an old Newton resident. Mr. Tuttle informed the gathering that he has resided in Newton since he was a year old and thus has lived in this city over three score years. He contrasted the friendly relations which prevail among business men today with the jealousies and bitterness which was characteristic 50 and more years ago. He told of the first move for the abolition of the old order when he helped organize the Boston Boot and Shoe Club in 1880. The success achieved by this club resulted in other lines of business forming co-operative organizations and in 1890 William E. Lipp of Blue & Hutchins gave the friendly trend of business men added impetus when he enunciated the "Live and Let Live" doctrine for competitors in business.

Mr. Tuttle told of the formation in 1896 at Toledo of the National Credit Men's Association to combat the growing menace of fraudulent failures which were causing millions of dollars loss annually to manufacturers and wholesalers and of the service this organization has rendered in subsequent years for the protection of business in the United States against dishonest business men.

Referring to the competition independent business men have to meet from chain stores, Mr. Tuttle asserted that this competition can be largely overcome by owners of independent business concerns capitalizing community spirit and bringing the people of their communities to a realization of the fact that the welfare of local business men and the welfare of the other residents of a city or town are mutually dependent. He mentioned the need of more apartment houses in Newton and cited the fact that Vernon Court, where he resides cannot commence to provide accommodations for all who desire to reside there. He asserted that Elmwood street and other streets in Newton, where property has depreciated, would bring more revenue to the city and present much more favorable appearances if the existing run down buildings would be replaced by attractive apartment buildings.

Campaign By Police To Stop Sunday Selling

Warnings Given That Sunday Laws Will Be Enforced

As a result of a protest from a number of business men in this city who conduct markets and grocery stores, members of the Newton police force, acting under orders from Chief Burke, have issued warnings to proprietors of stores which keep open Sundays in this city that in the future the laws relating to the sale of merchandise on the Sabbath will be strictly enforced.

Older residents of this city remember when the only stores open in the Newtons on Sundays were a few bakeries and drug stores. The bakeries kept open, as the law provides until 10 a. m. and from 4 to 6.30 p. m. In the old days some of the drug stores kept open all day Sundays; others opened but for a couple of hours. Gradually other stores were allowed to open Sundays by obtaining "common victualler" licenses. According to law, common victualler licenses were supposed to be granted to places whose principal business is the sale of food to be consumed on the premises. Many of the store owners who have been granted common victualler licenses rarely or ever serve a meal. But, according to the storekeepers who close their shops Sundays, the "common victuallers" have been doing a thriving business on the Sabbath selling groceries, bread, milk and other articles of merchandise, the sale of which is expressly forbidden on that day.

The General Laws of Massachusetts permit the sale of the following articles on the Lord's Day:—"drugs and medicines, or articles ordered by the prescription of a physician, or mechanical appliances used by physicians and surgeons; the retail sale of tobacco in any of its forms by licensed innkeepers, common victuallers, druggists and newsdealers whose stores are open for the sale of newspapers every day in the week; the retail sale of ice cream, soda water and confectionery by licensed innholders and druggists and by such licensed common victuallers as are also licensed to sell certain non-intoxicating beverages—the sale by licensed innholders and common VICTUALLERS of meals such as are usually served by them, which meals are cooked on the premises, but are not to be consumed thereon; the wholesale and retail sale and delivery of milk, or the transportation thereof; or the delivery of ice cream; the making and selling by bakers and their employees before ten in the forenoon and between the hours of four and half past six in the afternoon of bread or other food usually dealt in by them; the sale of Kosher meat by any person, who in accordance to his

Political Situation In Newton Is Quiet

Several Aldermen File Papers For Re-election

The political situation in Newton shows comparatively little activity so far. While it is probable that most of the present Board of Aldermen whose terms expire will again be candidates, to date but three have taken out nomination papers. These are John Temperley who will run for re-election as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 6 and Edward H. Powers who will be a candidate for Ward Alderman from Ward 1.

In Ward 2 Reuben Kilgman, 22 years of age of 45 Watertown street, has filed papers as a candidate for Alderman-at-Large. He is a son of Jacob Kilgman who has for a number of years tried unsuccessfully to obtain a junk license, and who, during the past few years has petitioned in vain several times for a permit to erect a public garage and a filling station. Young Kilgman will, oppose George W. Grebenstein the present incumbent.

James P. Akins of 48 Lewis street, has filed papers as a candidate for Alderman-at-Large from Ward 1. He is an attorney at law. The present incumbent, Alderman William E. Earle has not announced whether he will be a candidate for Mayor, as has been rumored, whether he will run for re-election as Alderman, or whether he will decline to seek political office this year.

On Wednesday former Alderman George M. Heathcote went to the City Clerk's office and obtained several nomination papers.

religious belief, observes Saturday as the Lord's Day by closing his store that day until six in the afternoon.

Many persons in the Newtons have formed the habit of purchasing groceries, milk, bread and other articles Sundays. In the future these persons may purchase bread at bakeries on the Lord's Day during the prescribed hours but if they attempt to buy groceries or milk from fruit stores, variety stores or neighborhood stores they are inviting trouble for any store owner who may take a chance by selling. Some Newtonians who have unwittingly either knowingly, or unwittingly in violation of the laws relating to the observance of the Lord's Day by making a practice of buying food supplies on that day, offer the argument that stores should be allowed to sell the dangers and hardships of modern traffic. Like a child at play he tramped on a lawn, nibbled at a tree or shrubbery and often aroused you from sleep. He was severely criticized, but never complained.

He was called mussy and a germ carrier reeking with stable odors. Milk produced and bottled under the most modern and sanitary conditions was delivered in the old-fashioned way.

Old Dobbin has been retained in but one industry, the milk business. The vacuum cleaner today does the work of the broom; electric lights have replaced oil lamps; furnaces put wood stoves in the discard; and milk bottles have caused the old bucket and dipper to be forgotten. But, until now, the horse and wagon delivery was retained as the only old-fashioned, obsolete feature of the milk business.

WOODLAND DAIRY milk delivery is 100% motorized in all of the Newtons and can give you clean, quiet, modern milk delivery.

WOODLAND DAIRY guarantees that its milk is fresh, pure and sweet from "Cow to Consumer." That means fresh, pure and sweet not only to the delivery vehicle, but to your doorsteps.

THE FIRST CHURCH OF PHILADELPHIA

Although William Penn founded the city, there were a few Swedes who settled there before him. One of the first things they did on settling was to build a church which is shown above. It was called "Old Swedes" Church and is the oldest religious organization of that city to-day.

A real desire to be helpful together with a keen sense of appropriateness in detail, is a distinguishing mark of our service.

THE TRUTH ABOUT NIGHT CLUBS

1. A night club is a poorly ventilated room over a garage, or under a banana store, to which people go and spend from $20 to $100 to have less fun than they could get at home for $3.75, including the cost of the oranges and ice.

2. It is a hole in the wall frequented by otherwise bright men and women who think paying $1.50 for a bottle of gingerale, $4.25 for a club sandwich, and $3.00 for the right to dance in a telephone booth come under the head of pleasure.

3. A night club proprietor is a financial genius who has discovered that innocuous desuetude can be made to pay big money if he guards it with several latch keys in the uniforms of Russian field marshals and lets people get the impression admittance can be gained only with great difficulty.

4. To open a night club—and nearly everybody is opening or closing one these nights—all you have to have by way of equipment is 12 hastily hatched musicians, a blonde singer, two Spanish dancers from West Hoboken, about 20 descendants of the James Boys to act as waiters, and enough wood to lay a dance floor that can be entirely covered by a Stetson hat in case of leaks in the roof.

5. It is the custom among the better clubs to let in only customers who have been introduced or have a pedigree. This is so the dissatisfaction will be limited to people known personally to the management.

6. Action doesn't begin until after midnight. This is the same rule that applies to other operations of reputable robbers.

7. The customers begin to drift in after all the other places close, the women patrons being dressed for anything from a hot bath to an All Ben Haggin tableau, and the men being attired in the customary funeral clothes.

8. The moment you take a seat you are in debt from $3.00 to $5.00. This is called a cover charge. It covers a number of things, including extortion, petit larceny and promiscuous sand-bagging.

9. Then you get a menu. On the left may be seen this year's automobile prices.

10. Now you are all set. If you wish to dance, you may locate the dance floor by joining the tangled mass of humanity in the center of the room and feeling around with both feet.

11. Edge in like a man and take your punishment.

12. It's the only thing you can do without having the waiter put it on the check.

Professor Fisher of Yale, one of the outstanding economists of the country makes an important point for prohibition with the statement that the deaths from alcoholism are now but 75% of the pre-prohibition period and drinking has decreased to 15% of former figures. Compare these figures with the latest facts about government control of liquor in Canada, such as number of complaints for violation of prohibition in 1922 were 2929 against 9,089 for violations of liquor act in 1928. In Manitoba the convictions of prohibition for seven years were 607, in 1928 the convictions were 1243.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The present crop of flies seem to have no common sense. Such stupid pests have never been seen or felt. They fly onto one's eyeglasses, alight on one's lips and do other stunts that ordinary flies in the past never were moronic enough to do. If they do not acquire wisdom quickly there will be a lot of vicious fly swatting before the winter comes to end their activities.

Watching employees of the contractors who are digging the trenches for the new Edison conduits at Newton Corner laboriously break into fragments the thick concrete manholes which are being removed to permit the new construction, one wonders if it would not be better to construct the manholes of bricks.

A complaint has been received that the rule which forbids automobiles parking longer than 30 minutes at Newton Corner's business section on Saturday nights and nights before holidays is not being enforced. The result is that persons desiring to shop at the stores on such nights can not find parking spaces.

The hullabaloo and indignation over the increased number of persons being killed by automobiles is futile. The slaughter will continue to increase while automobiles are permitted on public highways which can be speeded at rates of 45 miles an hour or over, while autoists who violate laws and are apprehended can escape punishment by having some friend who possesses a "drag" fix the case, while reckless drivers, no matter how culpable, are never convicted and rarely indicted for manslaughter after killing someone, while other reckless drivers are compelled to serve jail terms. Manufacturers of motor cars advertise that their products can travel 60, 70, 80 miles an hour. Cars that are driven at such speeds are thus operated not by careful, considerate drivers but for the most part by reckless, selfish individuals who care little for the safety of others and who like to "show off" or hurry unnecessarily at the risk of killing and maiming other autoists and pedestrians. There is but one practicable way to diminish the toll of the modern juggernauts. Enact a Federal law which will prohibit the sale and operation of cars which are capable of being operated at excessive speeds. Thirty-five miles an hour is fast enough for anyone to drive a car on a public highway—and too fast in congested districts.

The late Charles J. Maynard of West Newton was a gentleman and a gentle man. He took pleasure in studying birds, not in killing them. His knowledge of feathered creatures, as well as his knowledge of flowers and other pleasant phases of Nature brought happiness to himself and to hundreds to whom he imparted some of the knowledge he had acquired.

A chain is only as strong as its weakest link. The Zoning Ordinance of Newton which is supposed to protect this city against undesirable building conditions and to assure its future as a high class residential community has a weak link. It is that part of the ordinance which permits any building to be erected as near the street line as any existing building on the same side of a street within 250 feet, provided no intersecting street intervenes. In the best residential sections of this city garages may be found built almost on the street line. That part of the Zoning Ordinance referred to enables anyone to erect a large dwelling as near the street line as any garage within 250 feet on the same side of a street. The result, if this is done, can be easily imagined. This weak link in the Zoning Ordinance should be guarded against.

Death's Sting

"Death Proves Fatal to Stockman," reads a headline in a Klamath Falls (Ore.) paper. That is the sad fact about death.—Capper's Weekly.

Birds' Periscopes

Within the eyes of ground birds nature has provided tiny periscopes, reflectors which enable them to observe the approach of enemies from behind.

Oratorical Latitude

A good speaker must be somewhat of a poet, and therefore cannot ad here mathematically to the truth.—Bismarck.

Laws of New England

Harsh on Malefactors

The children of the early days in New England did not learn the letters of the alphabet in such simple fashion as "A stands for Ape, and B stands for Ball." But letters sometimes were used to mark the transgressor.

Lack of chastity was indicated in the scarlet A which Hester Prynne wore. The drunkard could be and was disfranchised, and must "wear about his neck and so as to hang above his outer garment a D made of red cloth and set upon white, and to continue it a year and not to leave it off when he comes among company."

The letter B did not escape being a mark of ignominy. "Any person who commits burglary by breaking up any dwelling house, or shall rob any person in the field or highways, such a person so offending shall for the first offence be branded on the forehead with the letter B; a second time a second B, and for a third time be put to death. If the offence is committed on the Lord's Day, for the first offence he shall have one ear cut off; the second ear for the second offence, and be put to death for the third offence."

Smoking Among Women
Alarmed Men in 1868

In 1868 the growing practices of smoking and dipping snuff by refined women in both North and South, writes Arthur Train in the Saturday Evening Post, were stigmatized by Schuyler Brightley in the April number of "The Galaxy" as shockingly on the increase.

In the South particularly, owing to the influence of their negro mammies, "young and tenderly nurtured girls, belonging to the richest and proudest families in the neighborhood, smoked to an extent that were regarded as dangerously excessive even among men, and not cigarettes or cigars or yet elegant little chibouks or nargiles, fashioned to suit their delicate lips, but short, black duccons from the North, and pipes of native invention made of a reed stuck into a bowl of red earth or a cornucob."

War Prisoners Made Slaves

All armies sent out from Rome were accompanied by speculators in the slave trade, who bought the captives as they were put up to auction after a battle and then undertook the transport to Rome of all who were suited for employment in Italy or were not brought up in the province which was the seat of war. Fowler says: "After the campaign of Pydna and the overthrow of the Macedonian kingdom, Aemilius Paullus, one of the most humane of the Romans, sold into slavery, under orders from the senate, 150,000 free inhabitants of communities in Epirus which had sided with Perseus in the war. Caesar, like Aemilius Paullus, one of the most humane of Romans, tells us himself that on a single occasion, the capture of the adulter, he sold 53,000 prisoners on the spot."

"Faint Heart Never—"

They were talking of a fellow club member.

"When I come to think about it," said one man, "I don't think I've seen old Harry for nearly a week."

"I'll bet you haven't," agreed another man, entering at the moment. "He's been dead three days."

"Dead? How did that happen?"

"Well, you know his wife had a little habit of making him carry everything she bought. Last week she bought a grand piano."

"But he didn't have to carry that, surely?"

"No; he took one look at it, though, and passed away without so much as a sound."

Unusual Mirage

To the tired and thirsty traveler in the desert there sometimes appears the tantalizing vision of an oasis, green with trees and sweet with running water. The camels wearily pad toward the promised spot, and, alas, the mirage slowly fades, leaving only the hot, cruel, desert sands! Dwellers on the shores of Lake Constance were enchanted the other day by a clear and vivid picture of that part of the town of Immenstadt with the Herzberg palace appearing in the heavens and remaining visible for some time. This is the first time a mirage has ever been recorded on Lake Constance.

Dikes Long Employed

The dikes which protect the Netherlands and the German coasts of the North sea go back to the old Roman times. Apparently even before the Romans appeared the Batavians at the mouth of the Rhine protected themselves by dikes. Dursus, after the conquest of Holland, 10 B. C., built an elaborate system of artificial canals and dikes. Pliny the Elder gives an interesting description of the artificial hills which were erected as places of refuge during the floods.

Yes, Please

The little boy had been sent to the drug-store to get some liniment and a special kind of china cement.

"Do you want the two things in separate parcels?" asked the druggist as soon as he had attended to the boy's demands.

"Yes, please," answered the little fellow. "I think it would be as well. The cement is for mother; she wants to mend the teapot. The liniment is for father. Mother broke the teapot over his head."

All Humanity Put on Level by Seasickness

It is refreshing to discover that, after all, the great and alleged-great are not unlike ourselves. One of the best places in the world to find this out is on board an ocean-going liner. We once saw a famous surgeon, whose skill in the attack of disease brought relief to thousands, fold up like a sack, in a heavy sea. The roll and pitch of the ship was more than his science could fathom.

On another trip was a celebrated woman athlete. Her name is familiar in midocean. The young lady was sitting in the ship's foyer by the side of a woman companion. The great liner was rolling as it plowed its way through the resisting sea. Slowly the lady began to show signs of seasickness. She turned pale and her chin sank low on her bosom. Then the craft suddenly pitched forward and the young woman nearly fell from her chair. Several times she vainly attempted to reach the bracing rail of the promenade deck. It was a few feet away, but inches spelled miles to her. Another lurch and the athlete was propelled to the staircase that led to the corridor in which her cabin was situated.

A few weeks later her name was on page one of the newspapers. Her prowess at her particular game was flashed around the world. It is comforting to know that the celebrated are not superhuman. — Washington Star.

Years of Experiments to Perfect Photograph

In the development of photography the first important step was the observation that certain salts were sensitive to light. In 1777 Carl Scheele, a Swedish chemist, discovered that silver chloride was blackened quickest by the violet rays of the solar spectrum and that light rays are not all alike chemically active. About 1800 Johann Ritter, of Jena, demonstrated the existence of nonvisible chemical rays beyond the violet rays of the spectrum. The first men to produce pictures on a sensitized surface were Thomas Wedgwood and Humphrey Davy. This they accomplished in 1802, but the pictures were not permanent. It was left to Joseph Niepce, of Chalon-sur-Saone, France, to produce permanent ones. His process was called heliography. He was joined in his experiments by Louis M. J. M. Nicéphore in 1826, and in January, 1839 they announced their discovery, the daguerreotype.

Poetry of Nature

"But turn out of the way a little—toward you honey-suckle hedge; there we'll sit and sing, whilst this shower falls so gently upon the teeming earth, and gives yet a sweeter smell to the lovely flowers that adorn these verdant meadows."

"Look! Under that beech tree I sat down when I was last this way—a-fishing. And the birds in the adjoining grove seemed to live in a hollow tree, near to the brow of that primrose hill. There I sat viewing the silver streams glide gently toward their center, the tempestuous sea; yet sometimes opposed by rugged rocks and pebbles, which broke their waves and turned them into foam."—Isaak Walton.

The Silver Lining

"Well," began the multi-millionaire, "there you have the facts of the case and I'll leave you to it."

The lawyer nodded and arranged the papers which the wealthy man had thrown down on his desk in more or less array. He knew that it was not going to be an easy task to straighten out the affairs of the rich man's son but still, money was money.

"Now, you'll look after my boy, won't you," went on the great man. "He has had a rotten time all told. He's lost a great deal of money, and his wife, too!"

"Lost his wife, has he?" echoed the lawyer, who knew the lady in question. "Well, I reckon he's about even then."

True to Form

An old actor-manager died, or at least his relatives thought he had died, and arrangements were made for the funeral.

On the appointed day one of his old colleagues arrived to pay his last respects, but to his astonishment the would-be mourner was informed that "deceased" had come to life after a period of coma.

"Just like Bill," said the visitor; "he was always a terror for rehearsals."

—Followers of Swedenborg believe in a doctrine which is called "correspondence" and see a relation instead of a difference between matters on several planes of life, natural, spiritual and divine saying that every spiritual conception has a counterpart in objective reality. One of their principal tenets is the "doctrine of use" by which Swedenborg first emphasized usefulness as a primary religious requirement.

RESIDENTS OF WARD 1 TO ORGANIZE

Next Thursday evening at Bay State Hall, 378 Centre street, Newton, a meeting will be held to form an organization of those residents of Ward 1 who are interested in the improvement of Boyd Park and other places in this Ward. For a number of years successive Boards of Aldermen have been asked to cover Laundry Brook at Boyd Park and along Jackson road. The Boyd Park playground is not, and will not be a safe and practicable playground until this brook is covered. A number of little children have had narrow escapes from drowning in the brook and the playing area is restricted. The brook along Jackson road has changed from an attractive little stream into a neglected eyesore. Because of the failure of the Aldermen to apparently give this section the same consideration accorded other parts of the city, the people of this district are to organize to systematically and persistently work for the desired improvements.

Plant Heart Beat Doubled

Plants have no beating pulse that propels the sap upward, and such pulsations as have been recorded are due to the trembling of improperly adjusted instruments and not to the beating of the plant, experiments recently performed by several American and European plant physiologists indicate.

The findings are directly in conflict with those of Sir Jagadis Chunder Bose, who announced some time ago the "beating heart" theory in regard to plants.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Reveals Simple Method of "Invisible" Writing

An ex-convict who spent 15 terms in prison, recently visited the office of the London Daily Chronicle, and left a letter purporting to reveal a secret method of invisible writing by means of which prisoners were able to communicate with friends outside. In the letter he claims that this was the method employed by two prisoners who committed suicide, when, as stated at the time, they were able to send a request to friends to forward them poisoned sandwiches under the system which enables prisoners on remand to receive food from outside. The letter continues: "In this letter is the method under which they sent out their messages. Can you find it?" The explanation and a test of the trick were finally volunteered. In the blank spaces of the letter the ex-convict had penned an invisible message by dipping the pen nib in his mouth and writing with saliva. Lightly done, this cannot be seen by the naked eye. To reveal the writing all that had to be done is to rub ordinary ink over the blank space, blot in quickly and the invisible words stand out like ordinary penmanship.

Daddy Stork the Victim of "Eternal Triangle"

Fratrieism is not uncommon in the snake world. Snake will eat snake, and very often does; but it must be said in justification that a snake must be very hungry and see no prospect of food at all before he will deliberately set out to eat his brother. Some snakes, however, loathe those of other species and kill them on sight.

German naturalists have observed the murderous passion in some birds especially storks. One celebrated naturalist tells of a stork "triangle tragedy" enacted on a high chimney pot. While the male mate was away a younger and handsomer bird came to woo the lady. She first refused, then tolerated, then succumbed to his blandishments. Then, when the old husband was out frog hunting one day, the guilty pair flew to his marsh and belabored him to death.

Beginning of Superstition

The word "superstition" is derived from the Latin "superstitio," excessive religious belief, possibly originally a standing over a thing in amazement or awe; from "superstare," to stand above or over. Superstition is closely allied with the so-called ethnological phenomena known as survivals. Among the ancient peoples—as, for instance, the Assyrians—it was part of the official state religion to prophesy concerning the future from the flight of birds, the nature of dreams and similar occurrences, and where such customs and the correlated beliefs persist they may be regarded as survivals. Among them, perhaps the most persistent in the country districts is the belief in ghosts and in the influence of the moon. In parts of Europe the effects of the "evil eye" are still feared, while in the United States the horseshoe, cat's paw, four-leaf clover, etc., are still regarded as emblems of good luck.

"Daddy, Start the Razor"

Nine-tenths of the bright sayings of children are duds, which is unfortunate, because once in a while a child achieves something droll or striking. As, for example, the child who had been out in the family's new car and had seen the windshield cleaner work. It was one of those cleaners that clean a semi-circular space on the window in front of the driver. The child did not refer to it, and no one noticed that he was at all interested. The next day he was taken for a drive was rainy and the windshield began to steam up "Daddy," said the boy, "start the razor."—New Bedford Standard.

Going Quite Strong

Breakspere was walking slowly across the street when a car hooted violently, and he found himself almost embracing its radiator. At the same time he recognized the owner's face. It was an old acquaintance.

"Well, Alfred," he stammered "Fancy our meeting like this! How long did it take you to learn to drive?"

"About six," replied his friend cheerfully.

"Six weeks?" asked Breakspere.

"No, idiot," was the answer; "six cars, of course."

Dairy Waste Utilized

The possibilities of the use of the wastes of the dairy were realized only a few years ago, but it has now developed into an extensive industry. Casein is now used in many cases as substitutes for horn, ivory, ebony, pearl, amber and tortoise shells. Many of the staples and novelty articles, such as beads, buckles, buttons, combs, cigarette holders, cuff links, dominoes, dice, toilet articles, fountain pen barrels, penholders, pipe stems, etc., now contain casein products.

Wide Pronunciation Choice

There are 19 ways of pronouncing the name of Miami. If a record kept by George B. Joyner, Pathfinder Magazine reader at Whitney, Fla., is to be relied upon. From bits of conversation overheard at recent tourists' gatherings in Florida's mecca, Mr. Joyner lists the following:

"Mi-a-mee, My-er-muh, Mi-armour, My-ah-muh, My-am-I-may-hammer, My-ammy, My-e-mmer, My-ammer, My-yammer, My-yammer, My-ah-muh, My-ah-muh, My-ammy, My-ammy, My-yammer and My-ammy."

SCHOOL NOTES

LEVI F. WARREN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

The enrollment of pupils this year is 740, a gain of 45 students over last year.

Thrill

The Levi F. Warren Jr. High School has again started its annual thrill campaign. The banking takes place during the first period on Thursday.

The school community has been steadily increasing the banking per cent. This per cent. started this year at eighty-three on the nineteenth of September and has steadily gained until October ninth it was highest at ninety-six per cent.

Thirteen home rooms had one hundred per cent. in banking all of the bank days so far this season.

The pupils of the Levi Warren Jr. High School during the last three years have accumulated a balance of $12,074.01.

Cafeteria

There is a new system being tried in the cafeteria by Mr. Penny who is in charge.

There are two pupil head hosts, one for the first lunch period, Luigi Mingrace, and one for second lunch period, David Felt. Under the head host are hosts and hostesses, one for each table.

There are new shades for the lights now. They are a great addition. Our new radio is again being used in the cafeteria. All the pupils enjoy it very much.

After all the pupils are seated there are always some places left. Mr. Scarborough is happy to invite our outside friends to occupy these seats and join us at lunch during either period.

School Community

During the two weeks beginning October first and ending October fifteenth, the main interest of the school has been the election of officers for both school and classes. The bulletin boards all around the building have been covered with posters for the campaign.

The primary election was held on Thursday, October tenth, during the homeroom period. The results were as follows:

Candidates for School Community
President: Benjamin Brown, Robert Cotton.

Boys' Vice President: Luigi Mingrace, Philip Murphy, Raymond Paul.

Girls' Vice President: Virginia Kretschmar, Grace Moulton, Katherine Offutt.

Secretary: Jean Eddy, Esther Merchant, Evelyn Morse.

Candidates for Ninth Grade Officers
President: Russell Liscomb, Olive Libbey, Palmer York.

Vice President: Carol Hanson, William Perry, Julia Whitten.

Secretary: Joseph Manning, Jerodith Miller.

Treasurer: John Enegess, Grace Gai, Virginia Rudolf.

Candidates for Eighth Grade Officers
President: Frank Costello, Jean Harvey, Arthur Robbins.

Vice President: Andrew Brant, Lois Doles, Deborah York.

Secretary-Treasurer: Helen Brant, Austin Connelly, Duane Freeman.

Candidates for Seventh Grade Officers
President: Anne Johnson, Edward Nichols, Maurice White.

Vice President: Richard Griffin, Rejane Harvey, Jefferis Stetson.

Secretary-Treasurer: Mary Cunningham, Hector Gai, Priscilla Tobey.

Assemblies

The first three assemblies at the Warren Junior High School were for the purpose of acquainting the students with the new regulations and reminding them of rules made formerly, which are still in use.

On October the second, the members of 98-1 gave selections on the Fire Prevention Week. They gave facts and figures showing tremendous loss in the United States by fire due to thoughtlessness. There was also an excellent exhibition of drumming by Miss Windlow, State champion, and Harry Cato, Boston champion.

Mr. Spaulding spoke, encouraging the boys and girls to join the drumming classes which are to begin this year under the direction of Mr. Fox.

On October ninth, some members of the eighth grade spoke in honor of Columbus Day, presenting in an interesting way the important incidents of his life. Robert Andrews, grade 9, gave a short speech in recognition of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the death of Pulaski.

There prevailed much excitement in our school because of the coming election of student officers. A demonstration on the proper way to vote by Australian ballot was given by a number of seventh grade pupils. Then candidates for nomination for school officers spoke.

Seventh grade assemblies have been held for the past five weeks during club period on Tuesdays. At these meetings our new members have learned what our school motto "Courtesy, Cooperation, and Service" means and should appreciate that by a cheerful and friendly manner they may become good "Warrentites."

O'LOUGHLIN-KEATING

A very pretty wedding took place on last Saturday afternoon at St. Bernard's Church when Miss Kathleen E. Keating daughter of Mr. James J. Keating of 260 Adams avenue, became the bride of Mr. Lawrence Joseph O'Loughlin son of Mrs. Rose O'Loughlin of 17 Clarendon street, Newtonville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. J. Dwyer.

The bride wore a gown of orchid satin with a picture hat of orchid maline and silver slippers and she carried a bouquet of orchid tea roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Katherine Kealey, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her gown was of nile green moire, a picture hat of green horsehair, silver slippers and she carried a bouquet of pink tulle roses.

Mr. Roderick Chisholm of Dorchester acted as best man.

Mrs. Irene Currie sang the "Ave Maria," accompanied by Miss Esther Costello on the organ who also played the wedding march.

A reception was held at the home of the bride at which there were about fifty guests. Mr. and Mrs. O'Loughlin left on their wedding trip to New York and New Jersey and on their return will reside at 17 Clarendon street, Newtonville.

Highest Sense of Duty in "Doing Unto Others"

Men talk much of duty, but chiefly spend the most of their lives in efforts to evade its full obligations as ideally expressed through the ages.

Tennyson says: "Sweet it is to have done the thing one ought."

To appreciate and realize this sweetness is the reward of duty. Sometimes it is hard to do the thing we ought to do, but conscious satisfaction invariably soothes the soul that has been true to itself.

Duty is protean in aspect, but there is never a possibility that one will fail to recognize it in any expression, in any manifestation. There can be no mistake. It speaks a various language, but we inevitably understand.

The thing we ought to do makes for spiritual growth and development always. We may evade, refuse to do our duty, but in so doing we invite suffering and loss of spiritual stature and estate.

To do unto others as we would that they should do unto us is duty in the highest sense. If men would but live this simple rule all our problems would be soon solved and the world be very glad.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

New "Angle" on Ghosts; Apparition Made Noise

"During a walking tour in the north of Scotland last year a friend and I were approaching a lonely house standing in a little-used by-road," says a contributor to the London Post. "It was about eight o'clock in the evening and just getting dark, when we saw a coach coming toward us drawn by gray horses. It made a good deal of noise as it jolted in and out of the ruts. It pulled up by the gate, and, as far as we could see, a man with powdered hair descended and dashed up the drive. His footsteps echoed loudly up the drive and then ceased. We were fairly close by this time, and we both wished to look at the coach more closely, but when we were within about 15 yards the coach was no longer there. We searched the grounds of the house, but it was absolutely deserted. On making inquiries at our next stopping place we were told that no one used the road after dark, and that the house had stood empty for 30 years."

What's in a Name?

In the hearing of a liquor case, Lieut. Harley D. Blodgett of the vice squad was asked the name of the owner of a reputed speakeasy.

"I think it's—," he replied.

"Are you sure of it?" defense counsel queried.

"That's the name I've been told," returned the lieutenant.

"Are you sure of it?" insisted the counsel.

"I'm just as sure of it as I can be of any of the names of those men," expostulated Lieutenant Blodgett.

"They're liable to go under any kind of names. There's one down on Columbus avenue who has signed his lease by the name of 'Tiddle Winks.'"

Snake Unjustly Condemned

It is commonly believed that the small snake known as the puffing adder blows poisonous powder or spray from its mouth. Frequently reports are published that persons have been injured seriously by venomous spray spurted into their faces by these serpents.

The breath of the puffing adder, it is said, will kill a person at a distance of 25 feet. All this is fancy, pure and simple. The puffing adder is perfectly harmless. According to the United States biological survey, the snake's teeth are too short to inflict a wound even if it did strike a person.—Detroit News.

"Frock Ladies" in Africa

With the introduction of modern styles on the Gold coast of Africa, "frock ladies" and "cloth mummies" have appeared.

"Frock ladies" wear American and European clothes of latest styles and highest cost. They are considered to be literate, and are always referred to as "lady." They never carry bundles from the store, invariably being accompanied by another female on shopping expeditions. "Cloth mummies" wear native attire, consisting of voluminous prints and bandana head coverings, and do all the menial work.

Old Wall Papers

A recent exhibition in a Paris museum showed wall papers which originated in France in the sixteenth century. The first papers were marbled or "illuminated" by hand, later printed designs and imitation leathers or embossed papers were most popular.

In 1481 "frescoes" were painted on rolls of paper for the covering of salon walls. Jean Bouchardon in this year painted 50 rolls for Louis XI.

"The Passion of Christ" and "The Destruction of Jerusalem" were reproduced on rolls.

Couldn't Fool Him

A Boer backvelder in a remote part of the Transvaal began to have doubt owing to native depredations, as to the safety of £300 he had stowed away under his bed. A friend advised him to deposit the cash at a bank in the nearest town and they would look after it for him. The farmer did so, and asked the bank manager what would be his charge for keeping it safe and sound.

On being told that far from there being any charge, the bank would pay him £15 per annum, he "smelt a rat," and brought the money back to the farm.

Baffling the Safe-Breaker

A new safe "listens" for burglars and, on hearing them, gives an alarm. Any noise made by drilling or by otherwise attempting to open the safe is heard by "ears" in which are set up vibrations which cause the ringing of an alarm bell and the switching on of lamps.

Good Book Immortal

Such is the immortality of a good book, defying man and nature alike, and linking one generation of men and books with another. Styles and tastes may change, puritanism may give place to sophistication, "wisecracking" to serious thought, but a good book goes on forever, finding its attic, its shelves, its place in the world, its knowing minds, its appreciative hearts, its tender hands.—Washington Star.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

500 RUTHERFORD AVENUE
BOSTON 29 MASS.

To our Customers—
Present and prospective:

October 16, 1929

We have just completed a new pasteurizing and bottling plant at 500 Rutherford Avenue, Charlestown.

As you will see, it is an imposing and spacious building. Although architecturally handsome, it is the equipment and arrangement inside that has chiefly concerned us. For here we have designed and constructed the most sanitary, most efficient, and most modern milk plant in the world.

We have put into it the newest, the most dependable milk handling devices that scientific minds have produced. Not one thing has been left undone to make it just what it was intended to be—the very best of its kind.

It represents the utmost in sanitation, the staunchest in steel, concrete and tile construction, while in efficiency it is right up to the minute—no less.

This Company is a New England institution. It is New England owned, operated, and managed. It is directed by the second and third generations of the founder's family.

This plant is the culmination of 83 years of Hood service. It typifies the spirit which has actuated our progress. This spirit of onwardness, of intense regard for the rights, comfort and safety of our customers, of determination to do things well, had its origin in the character of our founder. That it survives today undiminished, you may visualize in this great plant just completed.

You are invited to visit us on October 17th, 18th and 19th, and inspect the plant.

Very truly yours,

Charles H. Hood

It is seen at a glance that Second Church at West Newton, heads the list. Last year they also sent the largest delegation from any one church. Their return must show that the school last year was enjoyable and helpful. We also welcome a goodly number of new members who have not been previously in our school.

Dr. Mark H. Ward, superintendent at the Congregational Church School, Newton Highlands, and vice-president of the District Council, led the "Church School Administration" class last Monday. His subject was "Grading, Reports and Homework." Next week on Monday the leader of this administration group will be Mr. Frank H. Grebe, director of religious education at Second Church.

JEFFERSON CLUB HOLDS OPEN MEETING

A well attended meeting of the Jefferson Club of Newton was held in Denison Hall, Newtonville, Friday evening, Oct. 11, 1929.

The following speakers gave addresses. William G. Thompson, one of the leading lawyers of the country, talked on the principles of the Democratic party and reviewed the many progressive and constructive measures initiated by that party.

The next speaker was Mr. La Rue Brown, former Assistant Attorney General of the United States and President of the Jefferson Club of Massachusetts, he also told the members of what had been accomplished by the party and advised the Club members to be active.

He was followed by Honorable Joseph A. Conroy, former Congressman, who gave a wonderful and instructive address on the different leaders of Democracy, paying tribute to Thomas Jefferson for whom this club is named and Woodrow Wilson and Grover Cleveland, he reviewed the activities of the Democratic Party.

Strabbe V. Claggett of Newton and a prominent Democrat then spoke on the principles of the Party and said that he was glad that a club had been formed and that he would help it in any way possible.

A. L. Moriarty, President of the Club, presided and was assisted by a committee.

The following young ladies contributed a delightful entertainment: Miss Gertrude M. Murphy at the piano, Miss Mary Gannon, violinist, Miss Helen Cahill, Song and Dance, Miss Margaret Earls and Miss Margaret Conroy, songs.

A very enjoyable evening was spent and ten new members were added. The committee are planning for a Whist Party in the near future.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

On the week ending, October 12th there were 155 patients in the hospital. Of this number 56 paid as much as cost of care, or more, 43 paid less than cost of care, 36, including babies, were treated free of charge. Eight babies were born, 4 boys and 4 girls. 103 patients were treated in the out-patient department, and 10 in the eye clinic. One social service call was made in the home and 5 patients were transferred by the social service car.

On Thursday, October 17, the meeting of the Middlesex South District Medical Society was held at the hospital.

On Monday, October 14, the Newton Medical Club held their regular monthly meeting. Dr. Joseph W. Scherschewsky of the U. S. Public Health Service spoke on "What Progress Has Been Made Toward the Cure or Relief of Cancer?"

During the past week it has been necessary to re-open Eldredge and Mellen Bay Wards for the care of patients. These wards have been thoroughly renovated during the summer.

On Wednesday evening, October 16, the Executive Committee met in the library at the hospital. Although ample parking space has been provided in front of the new building, visitors to the hospital do not seem to realize that they should not park in the driveways. "No Parking" signs have been placed and the hospital authorities would appreciate it very much if those who have occasion to come to the hospital would obey them.

We are very grateful to our friends who have been so generous in supplying us with flowers all during the summer. Now that the gardens have succumbed to the frost, plants and flowers are all the more appreciated.

Of the 21 accident cases treated during the week 11 were automobile accident cases. Seven of these were women, two with abrasions on their cheeks, two with contusions and abrasions, one with a strained back, one with a laceration on her leg, and one with a fractured leg. Three were men, one with a fractured leg, one with lacerations and contusions, and a question of a fractured arm, and one with injuries to his left foot. One girl received a fractured leg. GIRL SCOUTS

Let him who doubts that a Girl Scout office is an important bit of the organization step into the three attractive rooms at 297 Walnut street, any afternoon after 2:30. There will be girls looking for "Community Service," in the shape of addressing envelopes, running off stencils, or any similar odd jobs about the office; there will be girls waiting for the Home Hygiene, or perhaps another Merit Badge Course, to begin its meeting; there will be Captains buying supplies for their troop and reporting eagerly Troop progress to the Headquarters Staff; there may be busy looking young ladies whom you will learn are members of the Treasure Hunt staff; and there will certainly be one or two very tiny little girls clutching tightly to the 80 cents which is to open a new world for them when it is exchanged for the new Girl Scout books, attractively bound in forest green.

Six years ago the Girl Scouts of Newton Highlands wanted very much to have somewhere a little cabin all their own where they could go for over-night hikes or day hikes, and find a cosy place to "get warm" or cook a meal, or spend the night. Here they would have a lovely brick fireplace and in the evening, they would sit around the leaping flames and tell stories and sing songs, and dream many dreams to treasure in their hearts. This little house itself was then a dream, though Mrs. Frank A. Day helped them towards making it a reality even then, with a gift. But in the rush of every day things, the cabin got somehow pushed aside until last spring. Again plans for it were made, and a Cookie Day was held which brought in $100. This fall under the skilful and interested direction of Mr. Lamphier the project has gone ahead with leaps and bounds, until last week end ground was broken at Camp Mary Day and four men, Mr. Lamphier, Mr. Atwood, Mr. Cudworth, and Mr. Carrick, giving generously of their time and energy finished the framework of the cabin. Sunday, Dr. Pope came to do his bit. Capt. Emery and Capt. Moore did their share by feeding the working men with a wonderful beef stew, rolls, coffee, doughnuts and cheese. Some of the interested men in the Highlands plan to spend part of each week end there until it is finished—a little house of "Dreams-Come-True."

were treated for various injuries: two with infected hands, one with abrasions on her leg and a muscle strain of her shoulder received when she fell down some steps, one with a fractured wrist received when she slipped on a hardwood floor, and one with a punctured wound of her left wrist received when she caught it in some machinery while at work. Three men were admitted, one with a foreign body, a tack, in his stomach, one with a burn of his eye caused by some plaster, and one with a splinter in his thumb. Two boys were admitted, one with a fractured wrist, and one with lacerated fingers.

Informed motorists say, "Buy an EIGHT"

The informed demand today is unmistakably for the Eight. Nobody can predict what chance a Six will have in next year's used car market.

Consider the facts: During the first seven months of this year, in 43 states,* registrations of new cars over $1000 showed a 94 per cent increase in Eights—an 18 per cent decrease in Sixes.

And Studebaker, enjoying its seventy-seventh successful year in business, sells more Eights than any other manufacturer in the world.

So why pay as much or more for a Six when you can have a champion Eight by Studebaker—holder of 11 world records and more American stock car records for speed and endurance than all other makes combined? A Studebaker Eight, brilliant with the power, the smoothness, the flexibility that only an Eight can deliver. An Eight as economical as the thriftest Six. And styled with a notable smartness all the way through.

Now that it costs no more to own and drive one—get an Eight—a champion Studebaker Eight!

Wednesday, October 16th, the first meeting of the Newton Officers' Association was held at the Unitarian Church, West Newton. Mrs. Edwin O. Smith of Newton was in charge of the supper, which was delicious. Miss Ruth Hartwell Stevens, Director for Massachusetts, was the speaker of the evening and every leader who heard her inspirational talk feels herself more fit for the work of the year.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, formerly 1st Lieutenant of Troop 2, will take over Troop 1 of Newtonville, as Captain Foote has had to resign. Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, who is connected with the Stearns School Centre, will take over Troop 6 of Nonantum. Scouts Sullivan, Bridley, and Mahoney of Newton Upper Falls will assist in this troop. Troop 19 will have a hike on Saturday, October 19th, to Cedar Hill. The troop is planning a swimming party for October 25th, and a play to be given in December. Scout Suvall of Troop 10 and Scout Elsie Stephen of Troop 14 will assist in this Troop.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

So many people are setting themselves up as traffic experts without any particular qualifications that I feel that I may as well declare myself something of an authority. I will admit that there is no reason why I should, but in the case of some of the professional experts the same is true and, as I seek only to be recognized as an amateur, I insist upon so announcing myself.

I will go further, I will offer as partial grounds for my right to be a traffic expert the sworn statement that for these many years I have regularly made my way about Nonantum square as a pedestrian at all hours of the day and some hours of the night. If the hop-scotching that I have performed for moons does not give me the right to venture opinions then I have nothing to say. To have crossed and recrossed Nonantum square and to have survived it without as much as stubbing my toe should warrant my confidence in myself. I will withdraw that reference to toe-stubbing. Possibly I have slipped, but I have not fallen, at least not in front of an automobile, and that is something to boast of in these days.

I wish further to point out that I have acquired a facility of gait at the change of the traffic signals that would place me as a good track-runner had I the necessary scant equipment of abbreviated clothing and could wear the same without being chilled by the weather and embarrassed by the gazes of my fellow citizens. When I see the signal lights go yellow and red I plunge into the roadway as if a gunman were pursuing me for whatever small change I may inadvertently happen to possess at the time. If I am taking the red and yellow lights at their word and they suddenly turn green then I accomplish a spurt that sometimes sends me across the sidewalk into the doorway of a store. Several times I have under such circumstances found myself shooting through the sidewalk crowds only to pause when I have run plump against a store window. I know that I shall never get hit in the stream of street traffic. My only fear is that I may bang against some pedestrian on the sidewalk or shove my innocent head through somebody's expanse of plate glass. To find myself cut and bleeding among a lot of fruit and vegetables or doughnuts or candy and patent medicines is the one dread that worries me.

All this mental torture has been relieved in part by the installation of the new lighting posts, not only in the square but also on the streets that approach it. It is not often that I have reason to go down to the square at night and though I may do a number of things without reason, going through Nonantum square after nightfall is not one of them. I must have an errand and if it be one of small consequence it still requires concentration. Consequently, I am delighted that we are to have more lights. These should be helpful to pedestrians and to automobilists. If the place is flooded with the artificial and friendly glow from these white-topped green monuments both walker and driver can see each other in their true light or as near that as the Edison company can place them.

Now I am going to say frankly that I shall now expect the motorist to have his eye on me and relieve me of the anxiety of looking out for him. I take it that these new lights have been installed as an aid to traffic. If it weren't for the automobiles no doubt we would still be having gas lamp-posts and, as in the old days, rely upon the store-keepers to light up the street and square from their windows.

It seems to me now that automobile drivers are going to have bad corners eliminated by the mere installation of bigger and better street lights they should return the compliment and, as I have intimated, give the benefit to those of us who are hoofing it. Naturally, we expect the auto-owner to look down upon the pedestrian but let it be more than a social condescension. Let him literally look down and at those of us who must watch our step. For a long time now we have been urged by paid traffic experts to stop, look and listen. I have done it so consistently that when I approach a street crossing my faculties operate automatically and I feel like a traffic signal. I halt, open wide my eyes and put my head to one side and try to catch all the sounds there are. It may be that the habit has become too strong to shake. However, I am grateful for the new lights.

The argument started when one man wanted to know if there was any difference between a flap-jack and a griddle cake and I suggested, "Get a dictionary."

"Don't get a dictionary, get a cook book," said the wisecracking member of the bunch.

Having followed my own suggestion I came back to report that there is no difference between the two, according to Webster.

"Yes there is," said Tom, the champion amateur swimmer of the party. "If you can eat a stack of them they're flap-jacks, but if you've only got room for a plateful they're griddle cakes."

Now all this took place in one of those backwoods towns where men get a real kick out of their vacation because they don't have to dress-up and can let their beards grow and not care a hang.

Nevertheless, as care-free as our daily existence might be there was no good reason why we should squander, collectively or separately, our money on flap-jacks for Tom and his unlimited appetite.

The fact that there was a good-sized rural city within 10 miles made us confident that there we would find a restaurant or hotel at which flap-jacks or griddle cakes could be obtained. The drive was practically nothing by automobile, or rather it was pretty nice because there was a fine State road.

On the way over the combined imagination of the party started to work overtime.

"I like 'em all brown, with butter melting in the middle and running down the sides."

"Yeah, and maple sirup—plenty of it."

"Hot and steaming!"

"Pile up in front of me and watch me clean the plate."

"You said it; can't beat it." Thus the conversation continued until we drove into town and began looking on both sides of the main street for an eating-place. Simultaneously there appeared before the united gaze of the hungry ones a window card in a cafe which read, "Griddle cakes."

We could hardly wait for the driver to park. Before he had shut off his engine the rest of us were running towards the eating place. We burst in, rushed for a table and as we dropped into our chairs, chorused, "Griddle cakes." All except Tom, who shouted, "Make mine flap-jacks."

It seemed an age before our order was filled so when the first batch arrived we gave a second order to make certain there would be no wait between mouthfuls. It was a great feast plus. Even Tom admitted he could hold no more.

We then sat back and because we had no ambition to get up from our chairs began praising the cook, who ever she might be.

"I'll bet the woman who cooked those came from way up country," said Tom. "She learned how from her mother and her mother learned from her mother and so on way back."

"Maybe she's a young, good-looking country girl. Just the kind that would make a fine, sensible wife. No flapper stuff." This was the observation of a cagey bachelor.

A third suggested that she was a motherly soul with white hair, gold-bowed spectacles and a sweet smile, with a big white old-fashioned apron. The debate continued and the question was still in the air when we paid our checks and Tom said to the cashier, "We'd like to meet the cook. The flap-jacks were wonderful."

"Tell the cook to come out," yelled the cashier through the swinging doors.

"Let's give her a quarter apiece" and hurriedly a purse was subscribed.

"Take off your hats," commanded Tom.

There we stood, lined-up to pay our respects when a tall, collegiate youth with a chef's cap poked his head and asked, "Who are those guys that are trying to kill me?"

"These men want to thank you for cooking the griddle-cakes," explained the cashier while we gaped in silent amazement.

"I thought they must come from the city," came the retort. "This is the first call I've had for them since I got here from Boston, but I've cooked enough for these boozers to break the record."

He ducked back without as much as glancing towards the money Tom held out to him.

"They'll never make an automobile to take the place of a milk driver's horse," was the observation of one of Newton's best known citizens as he and I stood watching the other morning an example of equine intelligence. I think perhaps I have discovered the reason milk distributors, big and little, still appear to prefer for the most part to use animals instead of drivers.

The horse which commanded our attention as well as our admiration, had seen his driver appear from a place some 300 feet ahead. At first sight Dobbin started. "See," said my friend, seizing my arm, "that horse is turning out for that parked automobile as carefully as any human being would. I don't know but what the horse is more careful."

And sure enough Dobbin had made due allowance for the parked auto, had easily swung clear of it and was back to the curbing again, sticking closely to the right side of the road, although his driver was on the left and jumped aboard from the left side.

I am sure that drivers of milk wagons must appreciate their horses. If they do they teach us a lesson, for we show no gratitude either for the horse or the driver. We never think of them unless they should fail us and that is seldom, very seldom. No one seems to worry over the fact that horses and men are turning-out at all hours in rain, snow and blow that we may have our milk and cream on time in the morning. But should they slip up through force of circumstances we grouch and jaw and think ourselves ill-used.

Somewhere I read that in one of the larger cities all milk deliveries would be made by daylight hereafter. Should that come about in Newton I think I should miss the rumble of the wagons and pounding of the horses' hoofs that we hear on those still mornings when slumber is coy and we lie awake thinking how many winks we can get in before getting-up time.

Only this very Summer I asked the young man who brings milk to my house where he was going on his vacation. It happened, I must admit, that we met down town one morning in broad daylight before one of the stores.

"Me?" said he, "I'm going to spend two weeks sleeping so as I'll be ready for the Winter."

I scarcely blamed him. In fact I couldn't believe two weeks would be sufficient. I know that I should require a lot more myself on that kind of a job.

This is one of those "believe it or not" incidents. I am assured that it occurred in our city. Should you declare you have heard it before all I can say is that, in the language of Mister Dooley, "It's my story because I told it last."

The mistress of one of our best Newton homes was wrestling with the age-old problem of obtaining a competent maid. She and her husband had decided that they must of necessity pay a high amount to obtain the services of the young woman who seemed most desirable of all applicants.

An interview was arranged and each

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

Two years ago, one of the most popular plays to be seen on Broadway was "Burlesque" that immediately registered as one of the outstanding plays of the season. Today, through the medium of the talking screen, "Burlesque" can be seen and heard by audiences everywhere—for Paramount has produced this great stage play as an all-talking and singing picture under the title of "The Dance of Life." The man who helped make so great a success of "Burlesque" is Hal Skelly, widely known as one of the cleverest actors and dancers of the legitimate theatre who is again cast as the formidable Skid Jalmay and once more brings to life one of the most intensely absorbing characters ever dramatized.

In "The Dance of Life," with scenes of the "Follies" beautifully photographed in natural colors, Skelly dances and sings as only he can. His comic routine dance steps and his effective rendition of the song hit, "True Blue Lou," are two of the many high spots of the play. Supporting this star in excellent fashion is Nancy Carroll.

Others in the cast who do good work are Dorothy Revier, Al St. John and Ralph Theodor, Charles D. Brown and Oscar Levant, the latter three playing the same roles they did in the original production.

Among the many popular songs composed especially for this picture are "Cuddlesome Baby," "Pipitty Flop," one of the new songs of the season, sung by Babe Kane, the Broadway musical comedy favorite, "Ladies of the Dance," and "The Prince of Jazzmania."

John Cromwell and Edward Sutherland directed "The Dance of Life" which will be shown at the Paramount during the week beginning Sunday, October 20.

On the same bill "It Can Be Done" with Glenn Tryon and Sue Carroll, a very clever comedy built from the story "Success." If you have an inferior complex be sure to see this picture. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be seen Jeanne Eagles in "Jealousy" her last picture before her tragic death a few days ago, this will be the last time any of her pictures will be seen and only through the powers that be was this picture permitted to be seen, as was the case of Wallis Reid a few years ago.

Announcement has just been made that "The Cockeyed World" will be seen in the Paramount theatre the first week in November opening with a midnight show Wednesday Night, November 6th.

ECONOMIZE ON GASOLINE

Millions of dollars could be saved annually by the automobile-owning public through a more strict observance of the factors that control the gasoline mileage offered by the average automobile, it was revealed in a survey on fuel economy recently completed by the Chevrolet Motor Company.

A gain of from two to five miles on the gallon of gas could be effected, on the average, it was shown, if the motorists paid strict attention to the elements that govern fuel consumption.

The matter of economy has always been a factor of the uppermost importance with Chevrolet in the designing of its cars. Having brought the mileage to the highest point ever offered in a six cylinder car, Chevrolet sought to corral in this survey, the many seemingly unimportant details, which through carelessness or indifference on the part of the driver, cut down the mileage that might be obtained through more intelligent handling of the car.

Manufacturers have been doing their utmost to make gains in the direction of greater mileage and now it is felt that with greater co-operation from the driver, motorists may ride millions of miles yearly at no extra fuel cost if the matter of watchfulness can make a sufficiently strong appeal.

Just how this attention to fuel economy brings its reward is illustrated in records of performances coming in to the company's offices, which show that although the Chevrolet six is expected to run approximately 20 miles to the gallon, motorists in various sections of the country are getting 23, 24 and 25 miles through just a little added attention to the matter.

The majority of items to be watched are rather obvious to the average automobile owner, but through an inadequate appreciation of their importance, are commonly overlooked.

The survey sets down specifically a number of factors, which, if observed, should increase your mileage two to five miles to the gallon. They are:

1. When standing or waiting for the light to change, don't race your motor.
2. When you are to make a stop of more than a minute, turn off your motor.
3. Don't drive at excessive speeds unless the occasion demands. High speed travelling burns more gas.
4. Remember that the faster you drive the more gas you consume. So when you find that you are about out of gas and are heading for a gas station, take it slowly and your chances for negotiating the distance will be greater.
5. When starting watch the choke. Don't drive with the choke out a moment more than necessary.
6. Be sure that your brakes are not dragging. This cuts down your mileage. Get your brakes inspected frequently.
7. Have your valves ground when they need it.
8. See that the idling adjustment on your carburetor is set at the proper point so that the mixture is not too rich. If it is not at the proper point it gives you inefficient idling performance and wastes gas.
9. Don't fill your gas tank full to the cap, some will escape through the vent in the cap.

WHOSE FAULT WHEN YOU GET WRONG NUMBER

Wrong numbers are perhaps the most irritating of all interruptions to telephone conversations, but in spite of the large number of calls that are put through every day, they do not occur nearly as frequently as most people believe. In fact, the Bell System engineers have found that there are only approximately 23 wrong number calls out of every 1,000 calls and that of these 23 calls, a total of 13 are due to telephone company operation and 10 to the fault of the subscriber.

One of the most frequent causes of wrong numbers is due to misunderstanding between the operator and the subscriber. This may be caused either by faulty enunciation on the part of the subscriber, failure to speak directly into the mouthpiece of the telephone, or a lack of concentration on the part of the operator. A surprisingly large number of the wrong numbers attributed to subscribers is due to tricks of the memory. It is very easy to mix up the digits, even with a number which one is very familiar, and, for example, instead of calling 2769, to call 2796 and 2679.

In cases where the telephone company is partly or wholly at fault, the mistakes are often due to the fact that the number has to be passed from one operator to another. The first operator will have the correct number, but a mistake will be made in passing the connection along.

An analysis was made by telephone engineers of the wrong numbers chargeable to the telephone company, when it was found that only 13 out of a total of 23 such numbers could be so charged, revealed the fact that of these 13 calls, 5 were due to a misunderstanding between the operator and the subscriber, 6 were due to a misunderstanding between operators, one chargeable to the answering operator for completing the connection to an office other than the one called, and one was due to any one of several causes, the chief of which can be charged to the terminating operator for completing the connection to a station other than the one called. Thus, when only 5 wrong numbers out of 1,000 are due to an error between the operator and the calling subscriber, this means that the percentage error is half of one per cent.

NATHAN FULLER CHAPTER, D. R.

The first full meeting of the Nathan Fuller Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution was held on Thursday, at the home of Miss Elizabeth Jack, 379 Austin street, West Newton. Due to the resignation of the regent, Mrs. Francis Fuller, in the early summer, the meeting was called to order by the vice-regent, and opened with the singing of "America" and the customary salute to the flag. Mrs. Richard Brown was at the piano. The leadership was then turned over to Mrs. G. Raymond Lehrer, who was elected to fill the vacancy in the office of Regent for the remainder of the year.

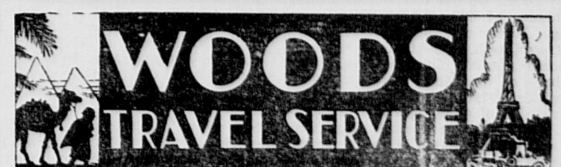

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved by the Recording Secretary, and a report was made by the treasurer. Two new names for membership were presented and unanimously accepted with the chapter. They were: Mrs. Howard M. Jenness, 47 Burke avenue, Brighton, and Mrs. Edgar G. Wilson of Eliot avenue, West Newton.

The Ways and Means committee chairman, Mrs. Richard Brown outlined plans for a Chapter bridge party to be held on the evening of November 29th, in order to raise money for the memorial chapel at Valley Forge, Pa. Tickets for the bridge are on sale through Mrs. Henry Cross. A nominating committee, composed of 5 members was selected as follows: Chosen by the Regent, Mrs. Richard Brown; Chosen by the Regent Executive Board, Mrs. Francis Fuller, with three chosen by the chapter at large, which included Mrs. Philip Horne, Mrs. Homer Tilton and Miss Lilian Peirce. Also a councillor was elected, namely Mrs. Edgar Wilson, to fill the vacancy on the executive Board when Mrs. Lehrer accepted the office of Regent. A most interesting report was read by Miss Elizabeth Jack, regarding the 35th annual convention of the Daughters of the Revolution, held at Watkins Glen, N. Y., June 11-14th.

After the business was completed tea was served by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Richard Brown and Mrs. Henry Cross.

MAKE THIS FIRE POT TEST

Prove to yourself the LONGER BURNING qualities of OLD COMPANY'S
LEHIGH ANTHRACITE

A long-burning coal means greater economy, and it means less attention to the heater.

To demonstrate the surpassing purity and hardness of Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite any householder can make this firepot test:

FIRST, shake down your fire until the bed of live coals comes only about half-way up the inside of the firepot. Rake the coals to a level, even surface.

THEN, fill one side of the firepot with the coal you are now using, and the other side with Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite.

Set your drafts any way you choose, and let the fire burn undisturbed until one-half the bed of coals shows ash on top.

The other half of the bed will be composed of the longer-burning of the two kinds of coal.

For name of your nearest dealer, look in your classified telephone directory under

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

"Fall Singers in our Fields" is the subject of the three o'clock talk, Saturday, October 19, at the Children's Museum of Boston. The fall singers will make personal appearances on this occasion to illustrate the talk.
They are crickets and grasshoppers.
Admission is free, and the talk is adapted to grown-ups as well as children.

One of the brightest and most satisfactory groups to visit the Museum recently for an illustrated lecture lesson was a class of children from the Perkins Institute for the Blind in Watertown. They were given a lesson on seeds, different seeds being passed around for the children to "see."
"What color is it?" was, strangely enough, one of their first questions.
A review of the lesson brought out their remarkable grasp of the subject. They will visit the Museum again later in the month for another illustrated lesson.

Last week—an average week from the Museum point of view—showed a visiting attendance for the week of nearly 3000. On one day, out of a total attendance of 433, 333 children were engaged in some Museum activity—an illustrated talk, the Museum "game," or some special club meeting. The number of visiting school classes ranged daily from three to six. Each group—one of them totaling 120 children—was given a special illustrated talk and an inspection of the Museum.
Someone may ask why the Children's Museum should undertake such a strenuous program as these figures indicate, and the answer is: That a modern museum is either an educational institution or it is nothing, and the Children's Museum is a modern museum. Handicapped as it is by lack of funds, it may be a long time in realizing all its ambitions in the field of visual education, but it hopes so to conduct itself that some few of the next generation can look back to it as the place where they learned to love the trees and birds and animals and rocks and flowers; where they gained a sympathetic perception of the peoples of other lands, their manners and customs, their problems; where they found humanizing and inspirational influences that left a permanent impression on their lives.

Jamboree Motion Pictures to be Shown

It has been previously announced that motion pictures of the World Jamboree held in England last summer and of the Norumbega Council Troop there and on its European trip would be shown at the Court of Honor to be held at the Levi Warren Junior High School, West Newton, on Friday,
October 25th, at 7:30 p. m.

The Troop has about 3,300 feet of motion picture film of the Jamboree and trip, but the whole must be reviewed several times, cut, spliced, edited and titled.

Mr. John M. Bailey, of Troop 19, Center, Committee has volunteered to do the job and has already spent many pains-taking hours on the work. There are still 50 to 75 hours work to do and it cannot possibly be done by October 25th, even though Mr. Bailey is giving holidays, Sundays and evenings to get the job, and a tremendous one it is, done by that date.

National Headquarters has not yet completed its film and probably will not for about another month.

However, the program on the 25th will be most interesting and will deal, in addition to the awards, with the next big feature which the Council will undertake in February. Scout Commissioner Bierer is working with the Scoutmasters on the project and will tell of it on October 25th. All are most cordially invited to be present.

Council Attends Harvard-New Hampshire Game

Y. M. C. A. Co-operation

The Newton Y.M.C.A., as ever is co-operating to the fullest extent with the Norumbega Council in its swimming, life saving and water-work.
Mr. Harry Bascom, General Secretary and Mr. C. G. Hess, in charge of the Boys' Work Dept., have arranged so that Troops of District 1 (Troops 1, 2, 3, 7, 11, 13, 15) have the use of the pool on Monday evenings; and Troops of District 2 (4, 5, 9, 10, 14, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21) have the use of the pool on Wednesday evenings, both from 7:00 to 8:15. Several members of the Y staff give every Tuesday afternoon to testing and instructing in Life Saving and Swimming Merit Badges and to passing First Class swimming test.

Troops may arrange other nights or times for use of the pool by communicating directly with Mr. Hess at the Y.

Traffic Police Start on Monday

Chief of Police Burke and Council
Headquarters announce that the Scout Traffic Police Squad for 1929-30 has been selected with the approval of principals, parents and scoutmasters from the following schools: Bigelow, Stearns, Warren, Mason, Hyde, Emerson schools. They have been directed, this year, as last, by Officer William Kiley, assigned to the job by the Chief of Police.

There are about 40 Scouts in the squad and it is fully expected that they will even surpass the splendid record made last year by the Traffic Police Squad. Last year there was not an accident of any kind to school children where these Scouts were on the job. They are carefully selected and then as carefully trained for the job, so they know what they are about before they are assigned to duty.

Such is the faith of the public and parents in the Scouts who did this work that they have been besieging Police Headquarters this fall, insisting that the Boy Scout Squad be put on the job at once. However, it takes time to select and train.

Following are the officers of the Squad to date (full list of members and Troops will be given later): Chief,
Robert Laverty; South Side District
Captain, Wilson Noble; Lieutenants,
Joseph Leahy, for Hyde and Emerson Schools, Charlie Thackeray for Mason and Sacred Heart Schools; Sergeants, Leon Golay for Emerson School,
Charles Thompson for Hyde School, Hallie Crosbie for Mason School.

North Side: Captain (acting) Luigi Menzel; Lieutenants, Robert Upham, Jr. for Warren School, William Peterson for Bigelow and Stearns Schools; Sergeants, John Ferris, Warren; William Spurrier, for Bigelow.
All of the foregoing officers with the exception of Chief Robert Laverty, who did such a fine job as Chief of the Squad last year and contributed immediately reappointed this fall, are days. At the end of that time, the Indian Village to be Erected

Mr. F. P. Orchard, of the Peabody Museum at Harvard University, spent last Saturday afternoon at the Nobscot Reservation with the Camp Director, the Range and Mr. Wilson
P. Harris, Scoutmaster of Troop 10, Waban. Mr. Orchard is one of the foremost Indian Archeologists in this country. He located last Saturday where he is sure is the site of a small Indian settlement on the Nobscot Reservation!

It is in a secluded place, well sheltered by hills and trees about. On it is an old Indian mound where maize was doubtless stored; nearby, he found an old anvil-stone, which showed the peckings of a worker on arrowheads, tomahawk heads and so on.

On this location, with the approval of Mr. F. A. Day, Chairman of the Council Committee on Camps and Camping, is to be erected a replica of an Indian Village common to this section years ago by Troop 10, Waban.
Mr. Orchard has suggested the types medal. The President has eulogized him in unstinted words of praise.

Great men everywhere strive to add lustre to his name.

This wealth of homage, to which we add our smaller voice, is rightly due. Yet there is still a finer panegyric. Tonight in every corner of October 21 marks the fiftieth anniversary of the incandescent lamp. Edison's greatest contribution to mankind. For a year or more preparations have been going on to pay a fitting tribute to his genius. Congress has honored him in the name of the nation, with a special the stars in brilliance and number and each one seems to utter a name—the name of "Edison." This, after all, is the greatest tribute, for only the creature can of shelters to be used and they will include small hogans or wigwams (not tepees), a long house, like that taken to England by the Jamboree Troop and a stockaded area such as the Indians used for their ceremonies and dances. Work by Patrols is expected to start this coming Saturday.

Logs for the cabin of Troop 15, Auburndale, are now being cut and hauled to the site near Monson road, on the highlands.

Every Saturday hears with renewed vigor the sound of hammer, axe and saw as the boys of the various troops are finishing up their cabins or just starting or doing a "little dolling up."

Seascout Spray

The Seascouts, Ship 13, have been most fortunate in securing for a Mate,
Mr. Julius Kohler, who will be remembered as a famous alumnus of Newton High School and Dartmouth College. Mr. Kohler entered upon his new duties last week and will carry on as Mate of the Ship.

During the last five weeks Ship 13 has been holding day cruises, with Ship Committeeman Harold K. Wead
and Cruising Officer Lt. Commander Dudley M. Pray as the instigators of this favorite sport.

The Ship will start its meeting at West Newton on Friday, October 18th, with a ship-cleaning program. On October 25th, they will usher at the Court of Honor.

Eagle Circle Meets

The Eagle Circle of the Council, composed of the Eagle Scouts, met last week at the home of Chief Eagle Harry Colony for dinner. They discussed business relative to the work and purposes of the Circle, which will this year operate the Courts of Honor, planning and carrying out the program from beginning to end, handling everything except some awards and other features which are to be handled by Council officers.

They have just received the E. C. pin which was designed by themselves and made in Sterling silver, with a small chain attached to a capital
"N." It is a very beautiful pin and proudly worn by members of the Circle.

For the time being, C. Warren Dillaway, Jr., of Troop 4, Highlands, is handling the Flying Eagle Tribe at the New England Peabody Home.
Chief James Cobb will be back with the Tribe next month.

and may be obtained from local presidents. It is to be noted that other Clubwomen MUST have the white tickets for admission, and these may be obtained from the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Charles G. Wetherbee, 47 Terrace avenue, Newton Highlands.

The afternoon session will be opened by music furnished by the Brockton High School Orchestra, of which George Sawyer Dunham is director. Mrs. George Gomey, director will extend greetings from the Second District. Besides reports of committees and necessary business to keep delegates in touch with affairs, there will be a presentation of "Impressions of the New England Conference, Watch Hill, Rhode Island, held September 4th to 6th."

Every convenience to assist the Clubwoman has been arranged by the hostess club.

Brockton Theatre is in the center of the business district of Brockton, on Main street, about half way between Elm street and Pleasant street. A street car will go directly from the station to the theatre. There will be signs to point the short distance from station to theatre. Girl Scouts will be stationed at convenient points to give any help needed.

Cars may be parked all day in City Hall Square Extension, one block in the rear of the theatre, between West Elm and Crescent streets.

There will be a bus, or perhaps more than one if orders warrant, leaving the Copley Plaza, Boston, at 8.45, for which the round trip fare will be $1.25, and Clubwomen who wish to go this way must notify Mrs. Ernest R. Brackett, 4 Grove street, West Medford, or Headquarters, 687 Boylston street, Boston, before next Wednesday, October 23rd.

Newton Community Club

On Thursday, October 24th, at 2.30 o'clock, Professor Robert Emmons Rogers will address the members of the Newton Community Club on "Modern Novel and Drama." Professor Rogers has been associate professor of English at Massachusetts Institute of Technology for several years and is a playwright, editor and critic of the Drama. He has enjoyed an enviable reputation as one of the best known lecturers and an authority on literary subjects in New England.

Many classes are planned by various groups of members of the Newton Community Club and every one should be able to find some activity of special interest. An Italian Needle Work Class, in charge of Miss Margaret S. Ball, will meet on Thursday mornings, and Contract and Auction Bridge Classes are being formed by the Class chairman, Mrs. F. Carroll Thompson.

Besides this, the Public Health Committee have arranged for many forms of pleasure and exercise. Hiking is in charge of Mrs. Frank P. Scofield, a Keep Fit Class in charge of Miss Marion Bryan, Swimming Unit, Mrs. Joseph W. Gorty and Horse-back Riding unit, Mrs. George W. Johnson, and plans for a Bowling Class are under way. The year should be a full and profitable one for all who wish to make the most of the opportunities at hand.

Auburndale Woman's Club

The management of Steiner Hall present their soloists, assisted by the Duo-Art and Electrola in a most interesting musical program for the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Thursday afternoon, the 24th. The Club meets at the Auburndale Club House, at 2.30 o'clock, with the new president, Mrs. Charles Carter Wilson presiding. There will be a Food Sale, for the financial benefit of the Auburndale Woman's Club Chorus, and for the delightful benefit, too, of the housewife who comes to enjoy the afternoon.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Educational committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club is hard at work on its plans for a Card Party to be held at the Parish House, Newtonville, on Friday, October 25th, at 2 p. m. This event is held yearly to raise money for the Scholarship Fund and it is hoped many will avail themselves of the opportunity to help swell the funds for this worthy cause. Mrs. Harold B. Sherman has the arrangements in charge and tickets may be obtained from any member of the Education committee.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

Rev. Boynton Merrill, D. D., will address the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday, October 25th, at the Parish House of Unitarian Church.

The program is sponsored by the Education committee, Mrs. Everett L. Upham, chairman. Music will be furnished by a group of young people from the Perkins Institute for the Blind. A social hour, with tea, concludes the program.

On Friday, November 8th, comes the Club's big PETER DAY, which heralds such attractive features that it is being eagerly awaited, such as a Bazaar, Luncheon, Cards, Supper, and a Speaker worthy attention. Every taste will be appealed to, and a wealth of Christmas gifts displayed that will be not only tempting but wise provision for the early buyer.

RECENT EVENTS

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands and Waban Woman's Club

On October 9th Mrs. Ward D. Cornell, president of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, and Mrs. George F. Reinhardt, president of the Waban Woman's Club, acted as hostesses at a luncheon, to which were invited the president of Women's Clubs of neighboring towns. The guests of honor were Mrs. Axel A. Packard, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Thomas J. Walker, Mrs. Horace B. Gale and Mrs. Phister Cowen. Mrs. Benjamin I. Miller and Mrs. J. Earle Parker, vice-presidents of the Waban Woman's Club, and Mrs. Loren F. Wetherbee and Mrs. Frank Patterson, vice-president and treasurer, respectively, of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands, assisted in receiving the guests.

A most delicious luncheon, attractively served at small individual tables was supervised by Mrs. Theron B. Walker, of Newton Highlands. The menu itself was planned and served by Mrs. Vernon Durbin, assisted by Mrs. Harry M. Came, of Waban. Assisting at the tables were Mrs. John T. Creghan, Mr. James D. Dow, Mrs. Andrew B. Sides, Mrs. Charles B. Jones, and Mrs. Carl H. Gove, of the Waban Club, and Mrs. Albert G. Prescott, Mrs. Frederick J. Elliott, Mrs. Krickel K. Carrick, Mrs. Richard A. Cody, and Mrs. Ralph Lewis, of Newton Highlands.

After the luncheon, Mrs. Herbert R. Stearns sang a delightful group of songs. Then followed an informal meeting at which Mrs. Packard spoke of the Foundation Fund which the General Federation of Women's Clubs is attempting to establish. She told very thoroughly, and in an interesting manner, the need for such a fund, for what purposes it would be used, and how it would be administered should it be raised.

Following Mrs. Packard's talk, questions and problems of special interest to Club presidents were discussed. One of the most vital questions to be brought up was whether it would be possible to omit the gifts of floral tributes to distinguished guests and officials, and use the money so obtained to contribute toward the Foundation Fund. Mrs. Packard asked particularly if, in her case, the Clubs would not omit these tributes, although both given and received with so much pleasure.

As this meeting is the first event of its kind to be given it was watched with special interest and was felt by those present to have been of very great and real value to all, and an unqualified success.

Newton Community Club

At the first meeting of the season on October 10th the Newton Community Club enjoyed an afternoon of Music which was received with interest and pleasure by a large audience in the Underwood School Hall. The artists were Miss Gertrude Ehrhart, whose beautiful soprano voice and charming personality gave enjoyment in several groups of pleasing variety. The accompanist and pianist, Mr. Nicolas Slonimsky, was no stranger and enjoyed a hearty welcome in the hall. In all his selections which were delightful and finished. The afternoon was in charge of the Music committee and was followed by an informal reception to Mrs. Henry P. Curtiss, the president, and other officers. Tea was served by the Social committee.

The previous year two former presidents of the Club, Mrs. Edward Holiday Keach, and Mrs. Harry W. Fitts.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

It was a real pleasure to greet many of the members at the first meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, on Friday last, October 11th.

Mrs. George H. Jackson gave an excellent report of the State Federation meeting. Mrs. Fred M. Blanchard's account of her experience in welcoming the delegates at the station, that were to attend the Biennial meeting, was filled with pleasant and most interesting.

Mrs. Joseph A. Otis gave a lucid outline of the business of the Federation and its ideals.

Mrs. Clarence Glazier's account of the social activities, as hostess to Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson, the Indian Princess, was very pleasing.

With the presentation to Mrs. Lawson of the statuette of the "Appeal to the Great Spirit" went the following greetings, written by Mrs. Joseph McDonald:

"Under moss and ferns and pine tree From the heart of the sea Runs a trail of understanding Oklahoma, out to thee! Indian princess, we salute you! You, with faith nothing dreads, Massachusetts women wish you To keep alive the trail always."

In response to the courtesies extended to Mrs. Lawson by her hostess came these words of appreciation and bit of history:

"To the West Newton Women's Educational Club:— My thanks sincere For the beautiful statue here. "The Trail's End" may be its name But here in 1629, began its fame. And of that trail, the fragile stuff Art and History have painted life. From New England's shore of azure hue There's an Indian trail to the Pacific Blue. And following close the Indian's tread, Love and mercy westward sped. For Massachusetts sons and daughters Followed close with sacred altars,— Preachers and teachers, gave their all! In answer to the Indian's call."

In 1851 the Cherokee Female Seminary for Girls was opened at Tahlequah, Indian Territory, with a Miss Wilson, of Worcester, Massachusetts, as head. Miss Mildred Dinsmore, the soloist, rendered selections on the vibrato. She first explained this new and odd instrument. Kreisler's "Old Refrain," "Love's Greeting," and "Sweet Mystery of Life" were some of the enjoyable selections. The program closed with tea and a social hour.

The Business and Professional Division of Auburndale Woman's Club

The Business and Professional Women's Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club held a very successful party at the Auburndale Club, on Monday evening, October 14th, at 8 o'clock. A grand march opened the entertainment, each member present receiving a favor. Games of all kinds were played throughout the evening.

prizes being awarded to Miss Josephine Day, Miss Enid Squire, Miss Elsie Barkhouse, and Miss Olive Curtis. Refreshments were served by the Hospitality Committee, Miss Susan Philbrook, chairman.

The Committee in charge of the program included Mrs. Albert Hibbard, chairman, Miss Ellen Fuller and Mrs. Doris M. Fuller.

Auburndale Review Club

Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, vice-president of the Auburndale Review Club, was hostess for the last meeting on Tuesday morning. At 10 o'clock there was a business meeting, with committee reports, at which time it was announced that the Club was again one hundred per cent. subscribed for Federation Topics, there being only one other Club in the Twelfth District to have that distinction. The president, Mrs. Charles Valentine, presented for consideration the request of two dollars and fifty cents from each Club member in the State Federation for a fund to meet the overhead expenses of the State and the General Federations. There was some discussion, but no action will be taken until the members have had time to give the matter their serious consideration.

The program of the morning was in charge of Miss Elizabeth Wells, who first called upon Miss Elizabeth Rider to tell about the Louisiana Purchase, as the time at the previous meeting had been so short as to make it impossible to give it. Miss Wells told of the early settlement of Oregon, then called upon Miss Eleanor Pinkham to explain some of the boundary disputes which arose over Oregon between Great Britain and the United States. The final paper of the morning was given by the hostess, Mrs. Drew, and was a biography of John C. Calhoun, covering the forty years in which he was a member of the South Carolina legislature, a member of the National House of Representatives, a Senator, Secretary of War, and Vice President. All members were urged to invite guests to the next meeting which will be held at the Missionary Home, where Miss Harriet Whittier will speak on "The International Mind."

LASELL SEMINARY

The annual meeting of the trustees and Corporation of Lasell Seminary was held yesterday at the Seminary, after which the members of the board had dinner with the students.

An act of kindness five years ago by Principal Guy M. Winslow of Lasell may result in an appreciable swelling of the Seminary's endowment fund in years to come. A Vermont living in Barnard wished his daughter to continue her education but lacked ready funds, although he had a lot of money tied up in woodland. He talked over the situation with Principal Winslow of Lasell who agreed to take 1100 acres of land from which the wood had been cut in exchange for four years' tuition. Immediately after taking possession, the Seminary commenced reforestation. In the intervening years nearly 500,000 trees, mostly Norway Spruce and Scotch Pine, have been planted. Principal Winslow left yesterday for Vermont to inspect the tract.

Evening Visits

Seven to eight-thirty o'clock in the evening is usually a good time to call on friends—either personally or by telephone.

In the warm months, particularly, many people spend their evenings out-of-doors. To find them, you must make your call in the early evening hours.

Traffic records show that a greater percentage of calls can be completed promptly between seven and eight-thirty than at any other time in the evening.

Plan your social calls during this period. Take advantage of the low evening rates which apply on station-to-station calls above forty miles.

K. OF C.

INSTALLATION OF NEWTON COUNCIL

With the well wishes for a most successful year of State Secretary, Joseph Kirby of the Massachusetts State Council, K. of C. and the four installing district deputies Thomas J. Quirk of Milford, Edward Irwin of Medford, Harold Jackson of Cambridge and Michael J. King of South Boston, Newton Council, 167, Knights of Columbus were off to a flying start last night at Elks Hall, Newton. The installation ceremonies were attended by one of the largest gatherings of Knights of Columbus in the history of Newton Council, taxing the capacity of Elks Hall.

Grand Knight Charles E. Coyne, who is also District Deputy for the K. of C. Councils in Milford, Roslindale, Watertown and Waltham leads the list of officers. The following officers were also installed: Deputy Grand Knight, Walter Connors; Chancellor, James Akens; Warden, Austin Morgan; Financial Secretary, John F. Gallagher; Recording Secretary, John J. Monahan, the retiring Grand Knight; Treasurer, George Linnehan; Advocate, Atty. William Geegan; Lecturer, Edward Heislein; Trustee, Thomas Waters; Inside Guard, Edward White; Outside Guard, James Matthews.

The impressive installation ceremonies with his staff of sixteen was in charge of the new district deputy for Newton Council, Thomas Quirk of Valencia Council, Milford, with William Delaney of the same Council as Warden.

Immediately on taking the chair Grand Knight Coyne introduced James P. Gallagher, P. D. D., who presented retiring Grand Knight Monahan with a purse of gold. Mr. Gallagher emphasized the amount of good work done by G. K. Monahan in his two year term and a rousing welcome was given Mr. Monahan when he responded. He thanked Newton Council for the support they had given him and bespoke the continued enthusiastic support of the incoming officers.

Grand Knight Coyne then delivered his inaugural address covering all phases of Newton Council activity, the need of an increasing membership; the spiritual activities such as memorial mass and the retreat at St. Gabriel's monastery in the Spring; the charity work of the Council at Christmas time working in cooperation with the St. Vincent de Paul societies of the various parishes in Newton; the raising of funds for care of needy members and their families. The social activities were covered by recommending visitations to other Councils, the arranging of a stag banquet, a summer outing and ladies' nights. The educational program was emphasized through the annual Holy Cross-Boston College debate in May; the Columbus Day essay contest, the raising of a scholarship fund for Newton boys to Boston College, the organizing of a debating team and cooperation with the city of Newton authorities in the observance of the Massachusetts tercentenary next year. In athletics Grand Knight Coyne recommended interfraternal bowling matches, the organizing of a golf team to play other Councils in the State, a Council golf tournament in the Spring, a section reserved for Newton Council at the William C. Prout Memorial games at the Boston Garden, July 25 and development of track activities with the younger members of the Council and sons of members.

Grand Knight Coyne then outlined the program of the Council through Dec. 3 with an impressive Father and Son night at Newton High School auditorium Thursday night, Nov. 7 at which Col. Robert Richardson, Commandant of West Point will be the guest speaker. He will show movies and stereopticon slides giving a picture of the life of the cadets.

The meeting will be preceded by an informal dinner at Brae Burn Country Club and a short street parade from the Newton Armory in which Co. C, National Guard, officers of Newton Post American Legion, St. Bernard's Drum Corps and Sacred Heart Boy Scouts, Newton Centre will be invited to participate.

On Tuesday night, Nov. 19 Newton Council will have a reunion of all the young men who have left Newton to join the priesthood and at the Tuesday night, Dec. 3 meeting a monster athletic night with sports dignitaries and amateur boxing bouts will be staged.

Buddy Shepherd and his gang then entertained under the direction of Lecturer Heislein.

State Secretary Kirby brought the message from the State Council, emphasizing the membership campaign and the spiritual activities of the Council. District Deputies Quirk, King, Jackson, Irwin also spoke. District Deputy Quirk extended a cordial invitation to Newton Council to attend District Deputy Coyne's first installation at Milford Monday night.

New Bridge Opened Over Charles River

$100,000 Structure At Lower Falls Is Completed

At ten o'clock on Wednesday morning officials of the City of Newton and Town of Wellesley opened the new $100,000 bridge at Newton Lower Falls. Mayor Childs, Street Commissioner George Stuart, City Engineer Wm. Morse, City Solicitor Jos. W. Bartlett, Chief Clarence Randlett of the Newton Fire Department and Chief Bernard Burke of the Newton Police Department represented Newton, while Wellesley was represented by the Board of Selectmen, Supt. of Streets William Burnett, Supt. of Public Works Kelly and other officials.

Mayor Childs and Street Commissioner Stuart of Newton ordered the barricades removed, the party met at the centre of the bridge and the connecting link between Wellesley and Newton was formally opened to traffic.

The Bridge which is considered one of the most beautiful in this section, is constructed of stone, reinforced concrete and steel. It was built at a cost of $100,000, Newton and Wellesley contributing $25,000 each and the State the balance of $50,000.

THE VILLAGE PLAYERS

The Village Players are well started on a full and interesting season. The purpose of the Players is threefold: 1. Production of plays in and by the community, so that drama as an art and educational feature shall keep alive. 2. Furnishing of opportunity for selfactivity and creative work by our younger generation. 3. The creation of a social center where not only workers but audience meet on common level in social intercourse, with resulting enrichment of every life and experience.

The Board of Directors for 1929-30 is as follows:—Mrs. Frank A. Mason, President; Mrs. Graham P. Spencer, Vice-President; Miss Priscilla Ordway, Secretary; Mrs. Frank L. Richardson, Treasurer; Mrs. Charles F. Powers, Mrs. Raymond R. Collins, Mrs. Lorenz F. Muther, Miss Marion Whitcomb, Miss Katherine Wilkins.

All attention is now being centered on the play "The Millionaire" by Juliet Wilbur Thompson, which will be produced on November 14, 15, and 16. This play won the 1927 contest of the Longman Drama League and has just been produced in New York. The entire cast is most enthusiastic about the play and are entering into their parts with real enjoyment. Many of the cast are well-known to Newton audiences and include Mrs. Allan Hubbard, Mrs. Priscilla Pierce Stuart, Mr. Clark B. Bristol, Mr. Sidney Woodward, Mr. Ralph E. Stuart, Miss Alta Maloney, Miss Mollie V. R. Draper, Mr. Wesley M. Dynes, Mr. Philip T. Stonemetz, Miss Barbara Crossley, Mr. Lorenz F. Muther, Jr. The play will be coached by Mr. Hugh William Towne, Director of the Cambridge Laboratory Theatre and Training School. This is the third production which Mr. Towne has coached for the Village Players.

Due to the unusual interest surrounding this play and the interesting plans outlined for the year, the subscription list of the Village Players is rapidly growing. The entire community is growing more "play-conscious" and is awakening to the advantages of plays presented locally by earnest and finished players.

Aldermen Have Not Power To Allow Bicyclists To Ride On Sidewalks

City Solicitor Gives Ruling—Childs Recommends Increase In Mayor's Salary to $5000 Next Year

In the absence of President Weeks the regular meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night was presided over by Vice-President Ball. In addition to President Weeks the absentees were Aldermen Floyd, Jamieson and Hart.

No opposition appeared against the first three positions on the docket for which hearings had been advertised. These were the petitions of the Edison Company and Telephone Company for three pole locations on Bow road, Newton Centre; J. J. Coppinger for a permit to increase gasoline storage capacity at 79 Needham street, Newton Highlands by installing two more 10,000 gallon tanks and two more 1000 gallon tanks; Earl Johnson for a permit to erect a service station of 3-car capacity at rear of 1149 Walnut street, Newton Highlands.

Thomas L. Ryan appeared as attorney for Donald McGaw who seeks a permit to install a 500-gallon gasoline tank and a pump at 25 Bridges avenue, Newtonville, for private use. Mr. Ryan told the Aldermen that the persons opposing the McGaw petition live some distance from the site where the proposed tank will be placed and that their objections should not be considered. He said that the feeling against McGaw is occasioned because his client keeps trucks on his property. He asserted the petitioner has endeavored to get the other property owners on the street to ask that it be improved and accepted but they refused to do so.

Patrick Mitchell of 34 Clarendon street, owner of two lots of land abutting McGaw's property objected to the petition. He asserted that McGaw had petitioned for a two-car garage and then had erected a large building in which he keeps four cars and trucks. Mrs. Rose Costello of 28 Clarendon street also opposed the petition. She told the Board that her property is at the rear of McGaw's and because of the condition in which he keeps part of his yard, she finds it difficult to rent an apartment she owns. Two letters signed by owners of nearby properties who object to McGaw's petition were read by City Clerk Grant. Edward Anderson of the Anderson Cadillac Company explained to the Aldermen that the petition asking for a permit to store and sell gasoline in connection with his service station at 28 Peabody street is just a formality as a permit had already been granted in connection with this station.

John Silveira of 780 Boylston street favored the improving of the Stearns Brook drain from Walnut street to Walnut Hill road because the present drain is unsanitary. Timothy Galvin of Walnut place also favored this improvement.

William J. Minot, appearing for Daniel Holmes objected to the petition asking that Homestead road be improved under the General Law. He argued that his client had laid out this street and will have to be compensated by the city. The Board, however, voted to have this street graded and accepted together with Morse and Annawam roads and Wimbledon circle.

Alderman Hawkins, reporting as chairman of the Licenses Committee recommended that a permit be granted to the Brook Street Garage for an additional 1000-gallon tank and another pump, both to be located inside the building. The License Committee recommended that a permit for an additional 1000-gallon tank be granted to the Silver Lake Garage at 444 Watertown street. The petition of this garage for an additional pump was denied as the pumps operated at this filling station are used to the sidewalk and for several years no permits have been granted for pumps, the use of which blocks traffic on sidewalks.

The committee reported favorably on the petition of James Holian for a filling station at 11 Park street, Newton, and on the petitions of Nina Gerald and Ada Joyce for a common victualler license at 1233 Centre street; Edison and Telephone companies for pole relocations on Chestnut street and Waban Hill road.

The Licenses Committee reported that the petition of Martin Witmyer for a permit to conduct a motor vehicle repair shop at 169 Lexington street, Auburndale, cannot be granted under the Zoning Ordinance. All the recommendations of the committee were accepted by the Board.

Chairman Grebenstein of the Committee on Claims and Rules recommended that leave to withdraw be given to the petitions of Daniel Hoar and Annie McDonald who asked that land owned by them on Beacon street, opposite the Newton Cemetery be changed from private residence to business zone. The Planning Board had disapproved of these petitions. The Claims and Rules Committee also recommended that leave to withdraw be given to the petitions of W. S. Wagner who asked that the Rosena Harris estate on Melrose street be changed from residence to business zone, and that of Harry Guerin who asked that property at the northeast corner of Lexington street and Commonwealth avenue be changed from general residence to business zone. The Planning Board had approved of the Wagner petition and disapproved of the Guerin petition. The Claims and Rules Committee was of the opinion that the Melrose street site is particularly adapted for an apartment house rather than business, and there were several protests against the petition. The Guerin property abuts a residence zone and would depreciate nearby residential property if placed in the business zone. The recommendations of the committee were accepted.

Upon the recommendations of the Public Works and the Finance Committees the Board voted the following appropriations:—fence for Levi Warren School grounds $2072; Engineering Department, supplies $450, office expenses $150; Street Department, office expenses $600. This item was called for because of changes made in this office due to the death of Miss Ella Olmstead, formerly chief clerk. The balance of the money formerly appropriated for her salary is returned to the City Treasury. Mrs. Frances Stuart is promoted to Chief Clerk at an advance of $200; Miss Alice Costello receives an advance of $150 and Miss Alice McLaughlin is promoted with an advance in salary of $100.

To widen and resurface Washington street near the Newton Hospital and build a retaining wall, $27,197 were appropriated; $217.89 were appropriated to care for the salary of a new clerk in the Treasurer's office who will take the place of Ruth Pillman who has been transferred to the Health Department office. Appropriations of $400 for maintenance of Police Department automobiles and $200 for office expenses in that department were also made.

Reporting for the Traffic Committee, Alderman Grebenstein recommended that parking be prohibited on the west side of Peabody street and the Board so voted.

The docket for the meeting stated that the majority of members of the Claims and Rules Committee recommended the passage of an ordinance granting permission to children under 15 years of age to ride bicycles on the sidewalks of the city except in business districts. Five members of the committee had voted in favor of this ordinance. Alderman Powers was the only member voting in the negative. Called on for a ruling on this proposed ordinance by Alderman Grebenstein of the Claims and Rules Committee, City Solicitor Bartlett replied that according to statute law of Massachusetts it would be illegal for the Aldermen to pass such an ordinance.

Alderman Powers stated that in view of the fact that so many persons are interested in this matter and as he had obtained information regarding this proposition he believed it expedient to say something on this subject. The Ward 1 alderman remarked that although he was the only member of the Claims and Rules Committee to oppose the proposed ordinance change, the ruling of the City Solicitor proved that he was right. He said that "but 6% of the pupils in the public schools of this city use bicycles regularly to and from school. This shows that 94% of the school children either walk or ride in conveyances to school. Is the safety of all the children who walk, the safety of pedestrians to be jeopardized for a small minority. If children could legally ride bicycles on sidewalks, many more than the comparatively small number now riding would indulge in this dangerous practice. Even though children might be permitted to ride on sidewalks they would also ride on streets when it served their fancy, so instead of protecting children from danger, to encourage them to ride bicycles is luring them into danger."

Alderman Powers said, "I am authorized by Mayor Childs to state that he does not favor the passage of an ordinance which will allow children to ride bicycles on sidewalks. Rev. Lawrence Slattery, pastor of the Church of Our Lady at Newton, in the parish schools of which are over 900 pupils, also is opposed to any such ordinance, although he believes it practicable for children to ride on Waban sidewalks where there is a little pedestrian traffic. Children are permitted by the police to ride bicycles on the sidewalks in the business district at Newton Centre. Why cannot children in Waban ride on the sidewalks there?"

Alderman Holbrook asked Alderman Powers why he specified Waban children? The Ward 1 alderman replied, "Because the petition for such a change in our ordinances came from Waban people." Alderman Grebenstein defended his action in favoring the sidewalk riding by saying that conditions have changed. He told of the law which compelled a man to walk in front of a steam-roller in past years waving a red flag, but this precaution is not used today. He contended that while the Aldermen may not be legally right in desiring the sidewalks opened to children riding bicycles, they are morally right and that some legal way to bring this about should be sought. Alderman Holbrook, in answer to Alderman Powers' suggestion that Waban children might ride on sidewalks there, said "Waban children do not ride on sidewalks because they are law-abiding."

A communication was received from Mayor Childs recommending that the salary of the Mayor be established at $5000 to take effect January 1, 1930. Chairman Collins of the Finance Committee explained that unless action is taken on this recommendation before the end of this month, nothing can be done on an increase in the Mayor's salary for two years. Because of the importance of this matter, Alderman Collins stated that the Finance Committee desires sufficient time to consider it. He moved, therefore, that a special meeting of the Board be held next Monday night, October 28 to take action on Mayor Childs' recommendation. His motion was carried.

An invitation was received from Rev. Charles Otto of the Newton Methodist Episcopal Church inviting members of the Board to attend a Good Citizenship Service at the church on the evening of Sunday, November 3.

From all indications it is expected that a large crowd will be present.

As Mr. Lucey approached the crossing he steered to the left of two other automobiles which were stopped to allow an approaching freight train to pass. The roadster he was driving left the highway and went onto the railroad tracks. Mr. and Mrs. Lucey jumped from the car in time to avoid the oncoming fast freight which demolished their automobile. THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

QUINCY GETS TIE IN LAST MINUTE

Quincy High School's football team took to the air in the closing minutes of the game with Newton high last week Saturday at Clifton field, Newtonville, and pushed over a touch-down to tie up the game at 6 to 6. The game was marked with errors both of commission and omission by the Newton team, particularly the backfield. The line played its usual good defensive game but had little support from the orange and black backs. The backfield apparently was having an off day which cost them a victory. No scoring was done until the fourth period when "Reggie" Bankart blocked a Quincy punt and Fred Schipper covered it for Newton on the Quincy 14-yard line. Elrod kicked up two yards but Shorten was thrown for a loss of six. Elrod's pass to Bankart planted the ball on the five yard line just short of a line-plunge. On the next play Elrod slid through right tackle for the touch-down. His pass for the extra point was grounded. Quincy came right back following the ensuing kickoff by running back to their 40-yard line. On the second play Newton drew a penalty for holding which gave Quincy the ball on the Newton 44-yard line. Three line plays gained six yards and then Halloran tossed a short pass to Young, his right end, who reached the four yard line before he was brought down by Schipper and Boughan. Halloran hit the line for three yards and Kurtis took it over. The Newton line held and stopped Halloran from going over with winning point. Quincy nearly scored again but Elrod intercepted Halloran's pass on the five yard line to end the game.

First Period

Quincy won the toss and elected to receive. Elrod kicked off to Halloran who left his interference and nearly outspurred the Newton safety man but Boughan saved a touchdown by bringing the Quincy back down from behind at the Newton 45-yard mark. Halloran fumbled when thrown and Schipper recovered for Newton. Elrod made a first down through tackle but then Quincy held and took the ball on downs on their own 35-yard line. Norton threw Bailey for a loss on an end run and then McArthur fumbled. Schipper again recovered for Newton. Shorten made four yards but Elrod's passes were grounded and Newton lost the ball on downs. Quincy kicked and Newton returned but lost on the exchange when Halloran made a nice runback of Elrod's punt. Quincy soon kicked again but recovered the ball in Newton territory when Bell fumbled on the last play of the period.

Second Period

The second period saw the kicking duel resumed with Elrod doing the punting for Newton and Sullivan for Quincy. One of Sullivan's kicks from mid-field rolled over the Newton goal line to give Newton the ball on their 20-yard line. Neither team was in position to score during the period. On the last play of the period Halloran ran back one of Elrod's punts twelve yards to the Newton 45-yard stripe.

Third Period

Neither team showed much offense in the early part of this session with the ball changing hands frequently. Halfway through the period Newton was in possession of the ball following Sullivan's punt to Strombom. Three line plays gained three yards and Elrod started on an end run. Quincy passed a 15-yard penalty for roughing Elrod to give Newton a first down. Elrod's pass to Bankart miscarried and Shorten was stopped on a line buck. On the next play Elrod passed successfully to Strombom for a 15-yard gain and another first down. Three plays failed to gain much yardage and Elrod's seven yard pass to McCarthy failed to produce another first down, giving the ball to Quincy on downs deep in their own territory as the third period ended.

Fourth Period

On the second play of the period Bankart blocked Sullivan's kick and Schipper covered it to give Newton the opportunity to score as already mentioned. Quincy scored the tying points following the kickoff. Shorten received Sullivan's kickoff on the 25-yard line and ran it back to mid-field. Elrod passed as time was growing short but Kurtis intercepted it and ran it back to the Newton 20-yard line before being brought down. Two plays netted five yards and placed Quincy in a threatening position. Halloran passed but Elrod was Johnny-on-the-spot to intercept the ball and save a defeat as the final whistle blew.

SPORT NOTES

City Club Loses

The Newton City Club lost its first game of the season last Sunday bowing down to the Abington Town Team in a 13 to 0 shutout. The local team had run its string of victories to four straight prior to facing the Abington eleven which is one of the best teams in the southern part of the state.

Spain's Kick Wins

Exeter defeated the Yale freshmen last Saturday at Exeter, 7 to 6. Exeter scored first when their right halfback swept around the end for 35-yards. Spain added the point with a drop-kick. This one point subsequently proved to be the New Hampshire team's winning margin as the Yale cubs scored in the last period with less than two minutes to play. In the rush for the point Yale fumbled and Exeter recovered.

Scheinfain Scores

Everett Scheinfain, former Newton high captain and end, scored one of Bridgton Academy's six touchdowns last Saturday in defeating Maine Central last, 40 to 6. Scheinfain played right end most of the game and was relieved by Spadafora, former Melrose athlete. Bill Sutcliffe, former Newton high back played part of the game at right halfback for Bridgton.

On College Gridirons

Frenchy Gilligan Hurt Again

Frenchy Gilligan is rapidly becoming the hard-luck youth on the Harvard varsity squad. During the first few days of practice he suffered a leg injury while chasing a forward pass and was out of all heavy work until last Monday when he took part in a scrimmage. He was hurt again and will not be able to play against Dartmouth even if the opportunity presented itself. He may get back into practice next week. As a freshman Frenchy played well as regular fullback.

Haggood At Guard

Ernest Haggood started the Brown-Yale game at left guard last Saturday showing that he was not as seriously injured during the previous week's practice as first reported.

Bowdoin Wins From Wesleyan
Bowdoin, with three well-known local youths in its line-up, defeated Wesleyan last Saturday 19 to 0 at Brunswick, Maine. Stuart Stone of West Newton stopped the visitors' attack in the first period by intercepting a forward pass. In the final period "Bob" Thayer, former Waban youth, grabbed a pass from a teammate to put the ball on the six yard line in position to score. George Southern of Waban, was at left end for Bowdoin when the game began.

Clark Kicks Two Points

Len Clark kicked two of Dartmouth's 38 points against Columbia last Saturday and played a prominent part in the Green interference for Marsters and Sutton, the outstanding Dartmouth ball carriers. Clark also carried the ball occasionally and gained some ground. Hal Andres started his eleventh game for Dartmouth keeping up the record he started last year of being at the centre position when the opening whistle blew. Andres was a big help to Sutton in helping to open holes in the Columbia line. Henry Johnson, the third local youth on the Green squad, relieved Sutton and made considerable ground when carrying the ball.

Gilligan Started Against Army

Tommy Gilligan started at left halfback for Harvard last Saturday in the thrilling 20-20 tie game with the Army eleven. He came very nearly going out of the game shortly after the opening kickoff when he crashed head on into Bowman, West Point quarterback, who was running back a Harvard punt. The collision knocked Bowman unconscious and sent Tommy reeling, but he recovered sufficiently to continue in the game. Bowman was carried off the field. Gilligan was replaced by Mason shortly after the second period began but started the second half. Early in the final period he was replaced by Mays. While in the game Gilligan gained a few yards on tackle plays but did not have the opportunity to get away for longer runs as the Army linemen and backs were breaking up the Crimson ground plays quickly.

Newton Fans to Have Real Treat

Newton fans will have a real treat at the Stadium next Saturday when they will see at least four and possibly five players who received their early football training under the late Coach Allie Dickinson. They are the two Gilligan brothers of Harvard with the possibility that Tommy will start and that Francis will get into action later in the game and Andres, Clark and Johnson of Dartmouth. The two first named will start at centre and left halfback respectively and Johnson will replace Sutton at fullback.

Dorney at Dartmouth

Following a practice before several years ago a number of former Dartmouth stars went to Hanover this week, donned uniforms, and helped with the Dartmouth coaching. Among them is Frank Dorney, '21, a former Newton high centre and also centre on the famous Dartmouth team of 1920.

May Lose First String Rating

Tommy Gilligan is not at all sure of his starting berth on the Harvard varsity in the game with Dartmouth tomorrow. In the game with the Army last week the so-called "pony" backfield was in many ways superior to that which started, composed of

COUNTRY DAY RUNS WILD OVER DUMMER

In winning their fourth straight game of the season, the Country Day football team ran up the largest score on the school record when they overwhelmed Dummer Academy of South Byfield, 70-0. This brings the Newton School's score for the season to 37 points with the opposition failing to even seriously threaten as yet. Dummer at one time carried to the twelve yard-line, which is the closest any opponent has come to the Country Day goal-line.

Dummer started off with a determined rush, when they took the kickoff and made two first downs before they had to kick from the Country Day 40 yard-line. The ball went off-side on the 1 yard-line, a beautiful punt. An offside play netted a yard or two, and then Captain George Bottomley of Country Day took the ball on an off-tackle slant, and galloped the length of the field for a touch-down. It was a beautiful run, and he had to evade an army of would-be tacklers, by weaving his way back and forth across the field as he went. He was nailed on the 10 yard-line, but managed to squirm loose and stumble across the line for the first score, much to the delight of the Country Day followers, and the amazement of the Dummer cohorts. From then on Dummer's drive was gone, and the battle was all Country Day. Franny Gleason scored two more touchdowns on long runs in the first period. Coach Wiles used almost three full teams in the game, the second and third teams being in during the two middle periods, while the first-string men saw action in the first and last quarters only.

In the second quarter Dummer penetrated to the 12 yard-line where a pass was grounded across the line, giving the Country Day's second team the ball 20 yards out. Using Ritchie to good advantage around the ends, and Henderson through the line, they plowed 80 yards to the fourth score. Later Eddie Downes caught a long pass and scored standing up. Thirty-five points were made in each half. 19 points after touchdown. Country Day was awarded 6 when Dummer was offside. Bottomley and Gleason each made a point by rushing, and in the last quarter Gleason drop-kicked two more, bringing the score to 70. The second half was not quite as spectacular, but provided plenty of thrills. At one time a pass from center went wide to behind the Dummer goal-line, and a furious scramble ensued to determine whether it was a safety or another touchdown for Country Day. When the pile was untangled, Hutchinson, Country Day center, had the ball.

Thirty players saw action for Country Day, with the first named for position starting: lb, Winchell, Madden, M. Brown; lt, Vose, L. McClellan, Angier; lg, Downes, Wolfer, Schmidt; center, D. Gleason, Dana, Hutchinson; rg, Johnson, Nelson, S. Gleason; rt, K. Brown, J. McClellan, Young; re, Greene, Leatherbee, Donovon; qb, Capt. Bottomley, Waldinger; rbb, Labouchere, Ritchie; lbb, F. Gleason, Thorndike, Henderson; fb, Cobb, and E. Downes.

This Saturday, Country Day tackles

the strong Milton Academy team at Milton. Milton always has a good team, and this year is no exception. Last week, Milton lost a tough game to St. Mark's by a 7-6 score. Country Day, undefeated, untied, unscored on, having 66 first downs to its opponents' 11, hopes to make its record even more impressive by a decisive victory over Milton Academy. The game begins promptly at 10:15 a. m.

SPORT NOTES

Newton League Bowling

The Middlesex Sportsman's Association bowling team set new season records in the Newton league match with the Newton club at Newtonville Wednesday night. A Perley Chase hit 267 on his third string to wipe out the mark of Appleton of Commercial by 21 pins. The team total of 1119 for a single string and a three-string team total of 2984, wiped out previous Commercial records by 62 and 21 pins respectively. Incidentally Middlesex took three points from Newton. The Commercial Club of Brookline also took three points in its match with Waban with Tilton of Commercial and Donald Hill of Waban having the high single with a tie of 247. At the Hunnewell Club, Ed. Downes won two out of three from Mangus.

Cushing Wins

Cushing Academy defeated Williston Academy last Saturday 19 to 0. Dick Haggood, former Newton high line-man, played right guard for the Ashburnham eleven.

Deerfield Beaten

Deerfield Academy was defeated by the Amherst freshmen last Saturday 7 to 0. Two former Newton high athletes are on the Deerfield eleven. They are Langdon Powers and Carl Pescosolido.

Putnam, Gilligan, Huguley and White, With Huguley on the injured list and White substituting for Harper, the regular fullback, the Crimson coaches may deem it wiser to start the "B" backfield instead of through Downes and Potter of the latter have been with Gilligan and Putnam on the A back-field during the week's sessions.

Use 40-Play Periods

In the Boston University-Worcester Polytechnic game last Saturday which the Terriers won, 39-6, at Nickerson field the 40-play per period system was used instead of the customary time limit. This system has been advocated in several places and worked out fairly well. Saturday's game was completed faster than the Army game in the stadium, ending about 4:45. Carleton McCullough, former Newton high and Exeter end, relieved Tatten, the B. U. starting left wing.

NEWTON NEEDS WIN TO STAY IN RACE

The Newton high school football eleven plays its first game of the season away from home tomorrow afternoon when they meet Somerville high at Dilboy field, Somerville, in a Suburban league encounter. Newton has played two league games to date, winning one and tying the other. Somerville opened its league season last Friday by taking Cambridge Latin into camp, 13 to 0. Newton needs a victory tomorrow to stay in the race for the Suburban league championship. While Newton and Somerville are mixing it up at Rindge, one of the best looking teams in the league, and Brookline are staging another league contest at Brookline. It is the latter's first league game of the year while Rindge, despite its setback when forced to forfeit its victory over Everett, is pressing the league leaders close and bids fair to be in the running until the end of the league season.

Not for some years as the Suburban league been as close and it will be this year if present indications are any criterion. Everett, with three of its five league games out of the way as five points through its two victories and one tie to set the pace. Newton is in second place with three points in two games while Somerville is close behind with two points by virtue of its win over the Cantabs. Rindge follows with one win and one loss but is not out of the running yet. Brookline and Cambridge have yet to score points.

With the possible exception of Rindge there seems to be little to choose from among Everett, Somerville and Newton as to a possible champion. Cambridge Latin is out of the running and if Brookline is defeated by Rindge tomorrow it will hurt the "Whites" chances. "Hunk" Norton started against Quincy but the rapid advancement of several others has made their selection for tomorrow a question. Ernest Hamilton, a tackle was shifted from his tackle position on the second team to a backfield berth on Monday of this week and during the practice sessions has come along fast. If he has mastered the signals and assignments he is almost certain to start. He was making many hard tackles as defensive fullback and was interfering excellently on the offense in the scrimmage this week. Two other who are coming along fast are Norman Appleyard and Philip Layton. Both are faster runners than any of the Newton backs who started last week except Elrod. One or both of these lads may start against Somerville but if not they will get into the game at the first opportunity. Litchfield who showed well against Everett also may get a taste of action again.

Andres crashed through the line with the first score in the third period.

Graphic Outlines of History
By BURT M. RICHTHE INAUGURATION OF WASHINGTON

When Washington was to be inaugurated, a great question arose as to whether it should be public or private. Various other questions came up as to how he should be sworn into office, for, as he was the first President, a precedent had to be made. The critics were somewhat displeased with Washington's costume, maintaining that wearing a sword seemed like an emblem of despotic rule.

They have already gained recognition as decorators of beautiful floors for Jay Thorpe, Saks Fifth-Avenue and Stewart's, leading New York stores. We chose them as outstanding creators of the modern.

MODERN—from entrance door of metal, wood and glass, through intimate salons where lovely merchandise is displayed. Rosy beiges, golden browns, and shining circular mirrors make charming backgrounds for dainty feminine apparel. Soft light from hidden recesses and fascinating modern fixtures bathes all in a welcoming glow.

Leading, finally, to the lounge which we hope you will make your rendezvous when using our shop. It is a large room, carpeted in golden brown, with deep cushioned chairs covered in Rodier woolens, little tables, telephones, everything for your comfort and convenience.

TO THOSE who have been our customers in the past, and to those who are interested in fashion, whether they live in Wellesley or fifty miles away, we extend a cordial invitation to be present at the opening of this superb new shop, at 570 Washington Street, near "Wellesley Inn," Monday, October 28th, from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

This new shop will carry on the tradition which has given Slattery its enviable place among stores—"No fashion without value; no value without fashion."

EDITORIAL

If we had not seen the matter in black type on the docket for the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen, we would never believed that a committee of that honorable body would have been so thoughtless and inconsiderate as to even recommend an ordinance allowing persons to ride bicycles on the sidewalks of our city. Everyone knows and the majority of the committee reporting this ordinance should have known that to allow irresponsible boys and girls to ride on the sidewalk would open up a vast field of injuries which, even if they would be of a minor nature, would be serious enough to persons injured thereby. Alderman Powers should have the thanks of the entire city for his successful fight to prevent the passage of this ill considered ordinance.

Mayor Childs has made an excellent recommendation in regard to the salary of the mayor in this city. $5,000 is none too small a sum to partially reimburse any one holding that position. However, we sincerely regret that this action, if ratified by the aldermen, means the election of future mayors (following Mr. Weeks) to whom the salary is a large factor in the candidacy for the office.

An accident on the High School football field yesterday brought out the fact that the school does not possess a stretcher available for such situations. Surely there is enough money taken in at the gate to provide for such a necessary adjunct to the game.

The Librarian in the Wednesday Transcript this week comments in a half facetious manner on Mr. Bentley's recent article on how persons use the library and reading room facilities.

Thousands of young men who have been under the teachings of the late Prof. James B. Taylor will sincerely regret his recent death.

Phoenician Dental Art

Preserved in the Louvre

The first false teeth, as far as known today, were worn by a woman of Sidon in Phoenicia about 300 B. C., according to Dr. Roy L. Moodie, of Santa Monica, Calif. The Phoenician woman's jaw, with the false teeth, is now preserved in the Louvre, in Paris. The two right incisors are represented by artificial teeth, held in place and bound to each other by gold wire. The wire has been drawn through careful perforations in the artificial teeth. Although the Egyptians pioneered in treatment of many diseased conditions of the body, this sort of dental replacement apparently was never devised by Egyptian physicians. Thousands of mummies, representing 7,000 years of life in Egypt, have been examined, but no clear evidence of such repair work has ever been found. It appears that we not only owe our alphabet and numerous geographic discoveries to the restless, inquiring minds of the Phoenicians, Doctor Moodie points out, but also we are indebted to them for this entrance into prosthetics, which is a particularly valuable field of dentistry.

Californians Proud of Mission Fathers' Work

The first settlement of California is attributed to Father Junipero Serra, who founded the mission of San Diego de Alcalá. For the next 13 years he traveled on foot north and south over a distance of 600 miles, establishing and fostering missions, and preaching to the natives. During those 13 years he founded nine missions, which were afterward expanded to 22 by his successors. The history of California began with—and for more than half a century was the history of—these missions, of their founding and operations. About a century ago, however, they began to decline in power and influence, but they are still regarded with reverence by the Californians, as a part of the history of their state and of its foundation. Some of these missions are now in ruins, but others are in good repair, and still open for service.

Umbrella Held Danger

The earliest English writer to mention umbrellas regarded them with suspicion. In the Seventeenth century a British traveler, having returned from Italy, wrote:

"In hot regions, to avoid the beams of the sunne in some places (as in Italy) they carry umbrells, or things like a little canopy, over their heads; but a learned physician told me that the use of them was dangerous, because they gather the heat into a pyramidal point, and thence cast it down perpendicularly upon the head, except they know how to carry them."—Detroit News.

Tides of Great Lakes

The waters of lakes and inland seas are influenced by the attraction of the sun and moon in the same manner as the waters of the ocean. There are tides in the Great Lakes but owing to the comparatively small extent of water they are scarcely noticeable, except by refined measurements. Observations made by the United States survey have shown that Lake Michigan has a tide with an amplitude of one and one-half inches for the neap tide and three inches for the spring tide.

Money Made by Indians

Included in a collection of coins put on display by a bank in New York are specimens of the only two known issues of paper money made by American Indians. One of these, a note of a bank operated by the Arapaho Indians, is said to be the only known note of the only known Indian bank. The other, a dollar bill, issued by the Cherokee nation in 1802, is the only known specimen of the sole issue of money by American Indians.—Detroit News.

Bathing in Japan

An interesting commentary on the personal cleanliness which prevails in Japan is found in an apology from a native to a visitor because of what he feared would seem personal untidiness. The apology, translated, was as follows: "You see in the summer time we are too busy to bathe more than twice a day." The visitor asked: "How often do you bathe in winter?" The reply came with a typical Japanese smile. "Four or five times daily."

Large-Brained Ancients

Scientists believe they have found the remains of a finely developed large brained race of men who lived in Africa in prehistoric times. One is never quite sure whether the human race has been going forward all these years or backwards. Perhaps it's a matter for the individual to decide for himself. Do you think you are improving? Do we think better and be better than we used to? Deep questions, these.—Capper's Weekly.

Odd English Bird

Pied wagtails are attractive birds, with bold, swinging flight, says Nature Magazine. Their call is some what like their relatives, the plovers, as they fly, then alighting beside a stream or stagnant pool to feed while constantly wagging their long tails. These pied wagtails of England are found in contrasting black and white, the white wagtails more common on the continent are gray and white.

Lama's Life Secluded

"The Great Immortal White Lama" of Mongolia is comparable to the Dalai Lama, the most important living Buddha on earth. In him, it is claimed, there has entered a larger portion of the Buddha than any other. Guarded by 10,000 monks, the Dalai Lama lives in utter seclusion in a monastery towering to the sky. Upon his death the priests cut a hole in the top of his head so that the divine spirit can escape into another body.

Good Trick

"Her heart reared like a frightened horse," writes an author in Woman's Home Companion. "We always thought, commented the crusty critic, 'a long course of fiction reading had revealed every possible thing that a human heart can do, and here all the time it could stand up on its hind legs and we didn't know it!'"

TRAVEL ITEMS

The Oberammergau Passion Play will be given again in 1930. Reservations for seats are now being made, and since there is always a greater demand for tickets than can possibly be supplied, early application is advisable.

The world has beaten a well-worn track to the door of this little town in the Bavarian Alps. Oberammergau's population does not number much above 2000. It is a remote village surrounded by mountains. But once in every ten years its inhabitants produce a spectacle so sincere and so artistic that people from all over the world come there and are stirred by its profound significance.

Legend has it that the Passion Play dates back to 1633 during the Thirty Years' War, when a plague broke out in the villages of the Bavarian Alps. In their dread, the people of Oberammergau made a solemn vow. They prayed that the course of the plague might be stayed, and as a mark of their gratitude pledged themselves to enact the life of Christ at that time and every ten years thereafter. They were spared from the deadly sickness and their vow has been religiously kept ever since. Only twice was the sequence broken. In 1680 a performance was arranged to bring the decennial event at the beginning of every decade, and in 1920 the regular performance was postponed because of disturbed conditions resulting from the World War.

In the beginning, the Passion Play was given in the village church. Later on, when spectators began to come from neighboring villages, the little building would not hold them all. Performances were then held out-of-doors against the majestic background of the hills. The present theatre has an out-of-door stage with a covered background, and the entire auditorium is roofed with glass. Recent enlargements of the theatre give it a total seating capacity of 5000, while an area as large as the stage of the Paris Opera House is covered by the open-air stage.

Performance in 1930 will begin on May 11th and continue through September 28th. They are usually given Wednesdays and Sundays during the period, starting at 8 o'clock in the morning and lasting until six in the evening, with a two-hour intermission at noon. Visitors spend two nights in Oberammergau so that they may enter into the spirit of the presentation, and it is customary to arrive on the afternoon or evening preceding the performance. Tickets for the play are only sold in advance to those who make reservations for lodging.

There are several inns in the village, but the larger number of visitors stay in the homes of the townsfolk which are thrown open for their accommodation. The villagers of Oberammergau will be a revelation of simplicity and naturalness to people who have lived in cities most of their lives. To stay in one of their spotlessly clean, Old World houses and enter into the life

Food for Argument in Matter of Doughnuts

No matter how long a man has lived, he is likely to have a few incorrect ideas that right reasoning has never been able to correct. We knew a man once who sold doughnuts of his own fabrication. He had laid up quite a little money and was doing very well. He vended a large-holed doughnut and his argument always had been that, the larger the hole, the less dough in the doughnut. He specialized, of course, on large holes and small profits.

This was all very well until, one day on his rounds, he met an argumentative man. Unfortunately, the doughnut man, in a moment of confidence, expounded to him his theory of the large hole and small profits. The argumentative man shook his head. He spent some time at it, but he finally convinced the doughnut man that he had been working his business on a fallacy. The argumentative man proved to the doughnut vender, and by mathematics, that the smaller the hole in the doughnut, the less dough it took to go around it.

The doughnut man went home and figured over the matter so long and so intently that he was eventually bereft of his reason and had to be confined.—A. J. R. in the Minneapolis Journal.

Reached Enemy's Heart Through His Stomach

Mrs. Laura Fraser, the original Becky Thatcher of Mark Twain's stories, related shortly before her death at Hannibal, Mo., how she had once gone through an experience as thrilling as any that Twain had created for his fiction. During the Civil War Mrs. Fraser's husband was a strong southern sympathizer and as he was a doctor he defied federal authorities in treating wounded Confederate soldiers. He finally was put in prison about the time that Gen. John McNeill came to Hannibal to suppress the southern sympathy and camped in Mr. Fraser's front yard while he picked out ten prisoners of Confederate leanings to be "converted" by a firing squad. Mrs. Fraser, fearing the inclusion of her husband, invited the general to a specially prepared dinner and he was so overcome with culinary delights that he ordered Fraser's release. But he reconsidered the next day and had him re-arrested, though he spared his life.—Detroit News.

Effects of Malnutrition

Malnutrition is a condition of undernourishment or underweight. Children with malnutrition do not all have the same way. Some are pale, dull and listless, with dark rings under the eyes, tire easily and have no ambition for work or play; their work in school is often so poor that they must frequently repeat their grades. Others are nervous and fretful, hard to please, and hard to manage; they eat and sleep badly. Still others are over-ambitious, constantly active, restless; they find it difficult to concentrate. Children get into a condition of malnutrition because their growth is not watched. To grow in height and gain regularly in weight is just as much a sign of health in a boy or girl of nine or ten as in a baby.

Sand Blasting Effective

For cleaning metal surfaces for one purpose or another demanded by the industries the sand blast takes the first place. In reconditioning several thousand feet of track for a Southern street railway, it was decided to resort to welding, and for this purpose the surfaces to be treated must be smooth, bright and perfectly clean. It was decided to do this cleaning by sand blast and the report is that in one hour more and better work was done by one man than was possible previously in eight hours with four laborers using chisels and brushes.

Duck Champion Egg-Layer

The domestic duck, used only for food in the United States, is coming into its own as an egg-layer in the British isles. Over there a farm having as many as 1,000 ducks is not uncommon, reports the Farm Journal. The average duck will produce almost twice as many eggs as the average chicken. In several laying trials, ducks have laid more than 300 eggs a year, and one prodigious quacker has set a world's record with 357 eggs in 365 days.

Have No Effect on Snakes

The belief is commonly held in some parts of the country that the odor of snake gourd and snake club bushes vines is unpleasant to snakes and will keep them away. Negroes in the South plant the vines around their houses as a protection against snakes. United States Department of Agriculture observations do not bear out this belief. The department has issued a statement that as far as its investigation goes, there is no plant that will repel snakes.

Ancient Aids to Eyesight

When the eyesight of Egypt's wise men grew feeble from study they used magnifying glasses to make the stone tablets and papyrus rolls easier to read. This is indicated by pieces of round glass from Egypt, one of which, now in the Ashmolean collection, may date back to the first dynasty of Egypt, or about 3500 B. C. That magnifying glasses were known in the famous civilization of Crete, about 1200 B. C., had been shown by two crystal lenses discovered in the Cretan ruins.

Name "Peony" Traced to Legend of Mythology

In the days of the Greek gods and goddesses, the peony first came to the world's attention. Leto, Apollo's mother, was the one to introduce it. Apollo was known as the god of healing and his son, Aesculapius, was the god of medicine.

It seems that a pupil of Aesculapius named Paeon was the physician of the gods, and to him Leto first gave the plant which he employed to cure Pluto of a wound received at the hands of Hercules during the Trojan war.

The fact that his pupil could surpass him in effecting such a cure made Aesculapius angry, with the result he attempted to kill Paeon, but Pluto, indebted to Paeon for his own life, rescued the physician of Mount Olympus from death by changing him into the plant that had saved his life. Until this day that plant bears Paeon's name and is known to us as the peony.

The history of the peony in China and Japan is of a sentimental nature. Fittingly enough, the words "Sho Yo," meaning "Most Beautiful," were applied to the herbaceous peony, while the tree peony held sway as the "King of Flowers."—Kansas City Star.

Only Dame Nature Can Freshen Mind and Body

"The earth is the great reservoir of physical forces, and whilst no scientist has yet been able to discover how intimate or how perfect is the connection between the mental and the physical, there exists, no doubt, a correlation between the processes by which the body and the soul are kept healthy and vigorous by drafts on the great reserves of nature.

"One grows tired of books and cloyed with all manner of art. Then comes a hunger and a thirst for nature. Real thought gathering is like berry gathering—one must go to the wild vines for the racy-flavored fruit. Art and nature are really the antipodes of each other—one is original, the other second hand. When we go from the library or the studio to the woods or fields, we go to get back what art has robbed us of—the freshness of nature. The suggestions of nature come—out of the mysterious, invisible, generator; but art merely reflects its suggestions back upon nature."—Maurice Thompson.

Near the Crater

There be two men whose ways we cannot fathom; yea, there are three we do not understand. The first of the twin is the man who has two wives at the same time. The other is the clerk or accountant who steals from his employers and covers the theft by falsifying his books. The third? He is the man who builds his house on the edge of a volcano that erupts every year or so.

All three are alike in that they know something is going to blow up under them. Peace of mind has been called the summum bonum; it is the one thing they have put out of their reach. Of the three we think the man on the volcano's margin has the most sense. After it lets go, there is a chance that he can build again somewhere else.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

Garden Memories

Three thousand years ago the Magus Zoroaster, it is said, met his own image walking in a garden; nowhere else, we must suppose, but in a garden's cloistered peace could such a meeting have been arranged. And when a man lets his thoughts drift back to the happiness, so deep and often so illusory, of his childhood's home, it is in the garden that his memories crowd the thickest, not in the house itself. The Golden age was green with the shadow of boughs and silver with the luster of dew upon the grass.—Exchange.

Strangled From Space

Scientific interest is being directed to a 35-ton formation recently discovered in southwest Africa which has all the appearances of being a meteor. It was discovered on a farm near Grootfontein and is quite different in every way from any of the rocks to be found in that part of the country. This is almost as large as the meteorite which was brought from Greenland in 1907 by Commodore Peary, and if the African find proves to be a meteor by answering certain scientific tests, it will be regarded as a very valuable find.

The Penalty

Five-year-old Freda had taken her watch to be repaired over a week ago and was now seeing what had happened to it.

"Ready on Tuesday, miss," declared the man behind the counter.
"You promise?" asked the little maiden seriously.
"I promise," replied the other, with a smile.

But on reaching the door the little girl turned round again.
"Mind you," she said gravely, "if it isn't ready by Tuesday I shall sue you for breach of promise."

Nation's Backbone

Newspaper headlines are filled with stories of men and women who went down to defeat in the face of adversity. But in the scattered communities of America there are daily examples of how difficult situations were overcome by the ingenuity that has become the chief characteristic of Americans.—American Magazine.

Discovery of Vitamine Vital to Human Race

The greatest discoveries of benefit to the human race have been the result of accident. Columbus, seeking for a short cut to India, stumbled on America. Perkin, searching for a means of producing artificial quinine, hit upon aniline dyes. When Japan and Russia were in the throes of a death struggle for supremacy, Japan's navy was being decimated by ber-beri. Laboring to find a preventative for the disease, that was making the Japanese panic-stricken, some one remembered that a Dutch scientist discovered in 1897 that pigeons fed on polished rice developed a disease which had all the characteristics of ber-beri. Orders were issued forthwith to stop feeding the sailors with polished rice and to substitute the whole grain; promptly and without delay, the ber-beri disappeared. Scientists, in their efforts to discover the
"why," as a famous author expressed it, found the missing link that binds food to health, happiness and achievement—they came upon the vitamine.
It was this discovery that enables the human family to keep from starving on a full stomach.

Ancient Surgical Tools Like Those Now in Use

Surgeons of 2,000 years ago used instruments similar in shape to those of today. This was shown by probes and forceps uncovered in the buried city of Pompeii, and recently exhibited in London. The large number of probes in comparison to other instruments of the collection suggests that cutting was a large part of surgical work before the year 79, when the eruption of Vesuvius buried the city.
While the shapes of the instruments in some cases are almost identical with those of the modern surgical tools, their steel is less flexible. The absence of saws from the collection indicates amputations were rarely attempted, largely because of lack of knowledge about circulation of the blood, says Popular Science Monthly.
Surgery is known to have been practiced at an early date. When Alexander the Great invaded lands east of the Mediterranean in 300 B. C., he found it being practiced by the natives with great skill. There is evidence that surgery was in use in Egypt as early as 5,000 or 6,000 B. C.

Famous Painting

Gainsborough's picture, "The Blue Boy," is a portrait of Jonathan But-tall, son of a rich London merchant, and it was painted in 1779. Blue and brown predominate. According to tradition, Gainsborough painted it to confute the dictum of Sir Joshua Reynolds in his eighth "Discourse," in which he said in part: "It ought to be indispensably observed that the masses of light in a picture be always of a warm mellow color, yellow, red or a yellowish white, and that the blue, the gray or the green colors be kept almost entirely out of these masses and be used only to support or set off these warm colors." Let the light be cold and the surrounding color warm, as we often see in the works of the Roman and Florentine painters, and it will be out of the power of art, even in the hands of Rubens and Titian, to make a picture splendid and harmonious."

Indian Tribes Shifted

From 1817 to 1840, the great southern tribes of Indians were removed to the Indian territory from Georgia, Alabama, Florida and Mississippi.
These tribes were the Cherokee, Choctaws, Chickasaws, Creeks and Seminole. These Indians held slaves and during the Civil war all of these tribes joined the Confederacy. They were compelled by the treaties of 1866 to cede to the United States much of their western lands upon which they had established no settlements, as a home for friendly Indians of other tribes.

Trumpeter's Guit

A trumpeter during a battle ventured too near the enemy and was captured by them. They were about to proceed to put him to death when he begged them to hear his plea for mercy. "I do not fight," said he, "and indeed carry no weapon; I only blow this trumpet, and surely that cannot harm you; then why should you kill me?" "You may not fight, yourself," said the others, "but you encourage and guide your men to the fight."
Words may be deeds.—Aesop.

Earliest Flour Mills

The first water wheel was erected in Ireland about 250 A. D. at the command of King Cormac in order to lighten the labors of a beautiful bond maiden. In a few centuries they became quite common. Thus was introduced into Ireland the mill for grinding grain. Such mills were owned by lords, who demanded a percentage of the grain sent to be ground. Private ownership of these mills and of the quern, an everyday implement for grinding grain in the family, was for-bidden.

What Makes Our Friends

It is not seeing one's friends, having them within reach, hearing of and from them, which makes them ours.
Many a one has all that, and yet has nothing. It is the believing in them, the depending on them, the assured that they are good and true to the core, and therefore could not but be good and true toward everybody else, our selves included.—Dinah Mulock Craik

NINETEETH BIRTHDAY

At her home, 94 Charlesbank road, Newton, Mrs. Frances A. Burt is observing quietly today (Friday, Oct. 25) her nineteenth birthday. Mrs. Burt is the widow of Henry M. Burt, late of Springfield, who was well known in the White Mountains some years ago as the author of "Among the Clouds," printed for many years on top of Mt. Washington. After his death, in 1899, she removed to Newton to make her home with her son, Frank H. Burt, and her daughter, the late Grace M. Burt, who for many years was editor of the women's club department of the Newton Graphic. Mrs.
Burt has two grandsons, F. Allen Burt of Brookline, assistant professor of advertising in the College of Business Administration of Boston University, and Philip H. Burt of Arlington, associated with his father in stenographic law reporting. These are four great grandchildren, three daughters of Mr.
and Mrs. Philip H. Burt. Mrs. Burt has one sister living, Mrs. Luther J. Warner of Northampton.

Though of New England ancestry and parentage, Mrs. Burt was born October 25, 1839, at Whitesboro, N. Y., near Utica, being the eldest of the six children of Seth and Juliet (Briggs) Hunt. Mr. Hunt was a native of Northampton, where his family had lived from colonial times, and among his ancestors were Gov. John Webster of Connecticut, Govs. Dudley and Bradstreet of Massachusetts Bay, and Rev. John Cotton of Boston. His grandfather, Dr. Ebenezer Hunt of Northampton (Harvard College, 1764) was secretary of the Hampshire County convention which in 1774 declared for independence. Mrs. Hunt was born in Keene, N. H. Her great grandfather, Capt. Jeremiah Stiles, commanded a company under Gen. Stark at Bunker Hill and served on the Keene Committee of Safety.
Mr. and Mrs. Hunt went upon their marriage to central New York, where members of both families were living;
but they came back in a few years to Massachusetts and after a brief residence in Deerfield made their home in Northampton. Their daughter Frances was married at Northampton on Jan.
9, 1861, to Henry M. Burt, who was born in Otisco, N. Y., and came in 1847 to Northampton where he learned the printing business in the office of the Hampshire Gazette. He had a short experience in pioneer life in the west and was for a year the editor of the Bellevue Gazette, one of the first newspapers printed in the then territory of Nebraska. Returning to Massachusetts he was employed for a year by the Springfield Republican and in 1860 began the publication of the Northampton Free Press. Selling this paper soon after the Civil War, he founded in 1866 the New England Homestead, first printed as a monthly at Northampton, then in Springfield as a weekly. In 1877 he started his White Mountain paper. Among the Clouds, from 1882 to 1885, associated with his son, he published the Graphic.

He was author of "Burt's Guide to the Connecticut Valley and White Mountains," "The First Century of the History of Springfield," containing the town records for one hundred years, with historical notes, and was co-author with Col. Silas W. Burt of New York of "Henry Burt of Springfield and His Times."

Mrs. Burt is one of the oldest members of Channing (Unitarian) church and Women's Alliance of Newton, and was one of the original members of the Newton Community Club. Beside the son and daughter already mentioned, she had two sons, George and Harry, who died in infancy. She has enjoyed excellent health throughout her long life.

Congressional "Pairs"

When a member of congress desires or is obliged to be absent, and the vote is expected, he seeks some member of the opposite party who would vote differently and makes an arrangement whereby neither will cast his vote on the question. This nullifies the effect of the member's absence and is called "pairing."

Change Made Confusion

The year 47 B. C. was known as the "year of confusion" on account of the necessity of changing the dates of the months and the positions of the months in the year, to revise the ancient calendar and make it conform with the Julian calendar.

Let this serve as a reminder to you to order "Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite" instead of just "coal." If you don't know the name of a nearby Old Company's dealer, just look in your classified telephone directory under "Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite."

The advantage to you is that you will thus assure yourself of the coal that delivers the most heat per dollar invested in any household fuel.

And you will get a coal of proved quality, maintained at a high standard of purity and uniformity by the most careful preparation and inspection.

OLD COMPANY'S

Produced by The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co.

Three factors account for the remarkable increase in out-of-town telephoning. They are—

SIMPLICITY—whether the call goes one mile or a hundred, you may give the number to your local operator.

SPEED—almost instantaneous, whether you call your next-door neighbor or a friend a hundred miles away.

LOW COST—the lowest rates consistent with rendering good service.

The evening period from seven to eight-thirty has been instituted to provide low rates on social calls at the time when you are most likely to find friends at home.

On calls by number at distances above forty miles, the evening rates are about one-quarter less than normal day rates. And traffic records show that a greater percentage of calls can be completed promptly during this period than at any other time in the evening.

Plan your social calls during this seven to eight-thirty period. We are sure you will be pleased with the speed and economy of this service.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Bicycle riding on the sidewalks of our home, if the Claims and Rules Committee of the Newton Aldermen had its way would come to us again. In consequence, some of us would probably go out, though against our will. When I first undertook this column, I started a campaign against the conduct of cyclists who maintained a right of way on the concrete where pedestrians were supposed to feel secure against intrusion. It is good to find that the campaign has at last borne fruit. I cannot say what kind of fruit, possibly a lime which is smaller than a lemon. It's something sour anyway for a valiant crusader like myself who might have to watch his step more than ever. I am not seeking the glory of first to be run down by a bicycling youngster but it may be thrust upon me or rather against me. I hope it will be soon and before the leaves have been raked up and swept from the streets for I should like a soft place in which to roll when I take the tumble.

If I was not certain of the integrity of the members of our aldermanic board I might suspect that a group of bicycle manufacturers had instigated the whole idea. When a child learns that he is to be privileged to ride his bicycle on the sidewalks he will want to own a bicycle if he has any sporting instinct whatsoever. I could not imagine any more delightful pastime than bowling over people, providing they were not fatally hurt, only mildly crippled. I have in mind several I would like to toss aside, but shall restrain myself. The boys would not be alone in this sport for nowadays the girls are displaying equal skill in about every game except pugilism.

Therefore, I think that both sexes would be well represented in the outpouring of riders that would have been certain had the recommendation of the Claims and Rules Committee become operative.

Now I am afraid that not all Newton adults would respond to this innovation as they should. Some would protest and declare there is an element of danger. There is no need to feel this way. However, if it will help your nerves any why all you might do would be to remain indoors during the day and venture out in the evening when all the bicycle riders would have been tucked in their beds and all their victims attended to at the hospital.

The more I dwell upon the subject the more I feel that it would have made Newton talked about. In fact, I am sure that it would have been of historical interest worthy of the pen of some of our great writers and poets. I submit the following inspired set of verses:

Listen, my children, and you shall hear

Of the bicycle ride of Paul Revere.
A youngster was he, between seven and five,
Hardly a person is now alive
Who got in his way when he wanted it clear.

He said to his Ma, "If any grown folks march
By foot or crutches from the town tonight,
Hang a lantern aloft in the front porch
Because I need it to see them right,
One may get by me, and two may perhaps.

But I don't expect to miss any laps,
Ready to ride and spread the whole place
With ladies and gentlemen who fall
On their face
With just enough room left for bike-riding space."

Then he said, "Good day", and with muffled throat
Silently pedaled to find the first "goat",
Just as his friend from over the way
Swung on to his bike to join in the fray.

Then side by side like men of war,
Over the sidewalks of asphalt and tar,
And needless to say they hadn't gone far,
When a huge human hulk that would not step aside
Was bowled into the gutter as if swept by the tide.

You know the rest in the books you have read,
How the cowardly towns folk hollered and fled,
How the policemen gave "bikers" the right of way
For they had orders not to gainsay:
So through the sidewalks rode Paul Revere

And so through the day did his boy and girl friends,
Sending up each a jolly screech the atmosphere rends.
A cry of defiance and not of fear,
A voice from the prostrate, from most a faint gasp,
A plea for mercy that shall echo no more!

For, borne on the high-wind of the past,
Through all our history to the last,
In the days of child conservation and of speed,
The people may protest but the Aldermen won't hear,
The hurrying hoofs propelling each bike,
And the frolicsome slaughter by Paul Revere.

The sight of a sign, "Beware of Pickpockets", posted in the railroad station of one of the larger cities of New Hampshire or Maine, I cannot recall now just where it was, caused my traveling companion and me to smile in a superior way. We felt that it was intended for the unsophisticated and therefore did not concern us. We were too wise to need to be advised to watch out for "dips", as the detectives call them. Such a warning was intended for our friends from the rural districts who should, we thought, have at least one guardian and maybe two when they venture from the old home town.

Something has occurred to make me think that if such advice was printed and distributed right near home it would be of considerable value. It seems that pickpockets find the city crowds equally productive of easy money. Such a thing had never occurred to me because I had not happened to learn of this form of robbery in which an acquaintance of mine was the victim. But now that I have learned of my own knowledge that pickpockets can work in our very midst, so to speak, I feel that the incident should be related herewith. It may furnish a tip to my Newton friends.

It was only a few days ago that a resident of Newton was a passenger on an Elevated car bound for Boston. At the Park street station of the subway he got up and moved forward with the other passengers. It happened that he carried his overcoat on his arm which may or may not have been an important circumstance, but that I leave to the sleuths.

However, when the Newton citizen was about to step from the car the man ahead of him stopped and turned to the motorman, asking, "Is this the place where I get a car for the North Station?" As he asked the question he had one hand on the hand-hold and the other on the long rod that stands in the middle of the doorway. Thus he effectively blocked the passage of all behind him. This included the Newton citizen who stood directly at the man's back. Of course the sudden bump was part of a trick. It gave the pickpocket behind our fellow citizen opportunity to deftly remove the latter's wallet, which he did. The Newton citizen was not alarmed until it was too late to apprehend either the pickpocket or his confederate who talked with the motorman.

A detective to whom I told the story explained that the system of "dips" is to work in pairs. One does something to attract the victim's attention while the other steals the purse. Crowds in subways, railroad stations, ball games and the like afford a fine working opportunity. This detective told me that some of these thieves carry sharp knives with which they slice the bottom of a woman's handbag and remove the contents without her knowledge.

All this, I repeat, is worth knowing. I, for one, will not chuckle the next time I see a sign, "Beware of Pickpockets".

I wish it might have been my good fortune to hear Mr. Edward P. Tuttle's talk before the Newton Business Associates. Several who were present spoke to me about it and I turned with interest to the Graphic's account of the meeting. It read to me like good, plain common sense from a man of progressive ideas, wide experience and established success. The best thing the community can have is advice from business men of the high character of Mr. Tuttle. When such a man can be induced to speak before a gathering of citizens he almost invariably gets down to brass tacks and is worth listening to and heeding.

So many meetings and dinners have to hear office-holders or aspiring candidates whose long suit is usually "apple sauce". These kind of speakers make it a rule to give their audiences the kind of blah-blah they think is wanted. In fact I have heard men congratulate themselves on having selected a topic they knew would tickle the vanity of the club members. Let's have more practical men as our after-dinner speakers. We have enough orators and spell-binders. Let's get away from the notion that we want to hear praise and palaver. It may be that a speaker will tell us things about ourselves that are not complimentary. So much the better. Those are things we should hear. I don't say that Mr. Tuttle was critical or severe but he spoke right out and expressed his views whether they pleased or amazed his listeners. If he hadn't there would not have been so much talk since the meeting of the soundness of his speech. The more speakers like him the better for their hearers.

Let me suggest that the readers of this column who have anything to do with automobiles get "clubby", yes, as intimate as possible with the new rules and regulations set down by the State Department of Public Works for the operation of motor and other vehicles upon all State highways. And bear in mind when these rules are approved by the Governor and Council they have the force of law. Just remember that—LAW. I emphasize this because at the end of the list of rules and regulations, now in tentative form and which I have read with interest, it says:

"Whosoever violates any of the provisions of these rules and regulations shall upon conviction be subject to a penalty not exceeding $20 for each offense."

I shall only print today a few of these rules, selecting those which I feel should be brought to the attention of all drivers:

"Upon all State highways of sufficient width, except one-way streets, the driver of a vehicle shall drive the same upon the right half of the highway and shall drive a truck, bus or slow moving vehicle as closely as practicable to the right hand edge or curb of such highway, except when overtaking and passing another vehicle, or when placing a vehicle in a position to make a left hand turn."

"When any State highway has been divided into lanes driver of a vehicle shall drive the same so as to be entirely within a single lane and shall not move from the lane in which he is driving until he has first ascertained if such movement can be made with safety; further provided that the driver of a vehicle shall operate the same in the lane nearest the right side of the highway when said lane is available for travel, except when overtaking another vehicle or in preparation for a left turn, and upon any State highway which is divided into three lanes no driver of a vehicle shall operate the same in the center lane unless overtaking another vehicle or in preparation for a left turn."

"The driver of a vehicle intending to turn to the right at an intersection shall approach such intersection in the lane for traffic nearest to the right side of the highway, and in turning shall keep as closely as practicable to the right curb or edge of the highway; and when intending to turn to the left shall approach and enter such intersection in the lane for traffic to the right of the nearest to the center line of the highway, and at the point of leaving shall drive said vehicle to the center line of the highway being entered."

"The driver of any vehicle upon a State highway before starting, stopping or turning from a direct line shall first see that such movement can be made in safety and if any pedestrian may be affected by such movement shall give a clearly audible signal by sounding the horn, and whenever the operation of any other vehicle may be affected by such movement shall give a signal as required in this section plainly visible to the driver of such other vehicle of the intention to make such movement."

"The signal herein required shall be given a sufficient time in advance of the movement indicated to give ample warning to any person who may be affected by said movement, and shall be given either by means of the hand and arm in the manner herein specified, or by a suitable mechanical or electrical device, except that when a vehicle is so constructed or loaded as to prevent the hand and arm signal from being visible both to the front and rear the signal shall be given by a suitable device."

"Hand and arm signals as required herein shall be made as follows: "An intention to stop shall be indicated by extending the arm horizontally to the left of, and beyond the side of the vehicle."

"An intention to turn to the left shall be indicated by extending the arm horizontally to the left of, and beyond the side of the vehicle, and by pointing to the left with the index finger.

"An intention to turn to the right shall be indicated by extending the arm horizontally to the left of, and beyond the side of the vehicle, and by moving the hand in a circle."

"No person shall drive any vehicle in such a manner as to unnecessarily obstruct the normal movement of traffic upon any State highway."

and John Dewey in Chapter XI, is the group to be considered.

10 o'clock. Members are urged to bring guests to this exceptional meeting.

STATE FEDERATION

MOTHERCRAFT AND CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE. Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball, State chairman, has arranged a most interesting Mothercraft and Child Welfare Conference to be held in the Sheraton Room of the Copple Plaza Hotel, Boston, on Tuesday, October 29th, at 1:30 o'clock, followed by a reception and tea. As this is the first large Mothercraft Conference to be held in Boston for several years, Club women will feel privileged to invite others interested in child welfare to attend. The other New England States will be represented.

Of added interest, Mrs. John D.
Sherman, General Federation chairman of the American Home Department, will be an honored guest, and will speak on "Woman's Greatest Responsibility." In her honor, Mrs.
Lauren L. McMaster, State chairman of the American Home Department and local Club chairman of the American Home Department, have been given a special invitation to attend the Conference.

Tickets for the tea at $1.00 should be secured early from Mothercraft headquarters, 180 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. Telephone, Commonwealth 5586.

All will be welcome at the Conference, however, whether or not they remain for the tea.

The program promises many interesting features. Mrs. Azel A. Packard will bring greetings from the State Federation, and Mrs. Frank G. Allen will be introduced, representing the State. Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, director for the General Federation, will bring greetings, and will present Grace Morrison Poole, first vice-president, who will speak on the topic
"The Call of the Child." Mrs. William
J. McDonald, director of the Sixth District, will bring its greetings, and present two State Federation presidents—Mrs. La Foll Dickinson of New Hampshire, and Mrs. John T. Skolfield, of Maine.

"The College Girl in Relation to the Home" will be the subject of an address by Miss Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke College, who will introduce Mrs. Lucy B. Franklin, dean of Boston University, continuing on the same topic.

"The Child in the Temple" will be
Rev. Russell Henry Stafford's subject.
Dr. Stafford being from Old South Church, Boston. M. Luise Diez, M.D., of the Division of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Public Health, will speak on "The Role of the Pre-School Clinic."

The Mothercraft Prize Essay will be read by its writer, Miss Marjorie Bean, of Braintree.

Possibly the most fascinating feature of the afternoon will be the Mothercraft Playlet, in charge of Mrs. George T. Hart, Jr., and Mrs. Anne B. Abbey,
R. N., author and director, with pupils from the Winthrop Junior High School taking the parts, these being Florence
Louise Kuchmeister, Marion Dickinson, Julia Dwight, Grace Dilling, Veronica
Murphy, Sonia Zarsky, Esther Cohen and Eleanor Strout.

A summary of the activities of the department will be given by Mrs.
Miner H. A. Evans, vice-chairman, since Mrs. Kimball, the chairman, will preside throughout, starting the Conference with an address of welcome.
The reception and tea are sure to be most enjoyable. Hostesses for this include women well-known and beloved by the Clubwomen: Mrs. John W. Gould, Mrs. Joseph S. Leach, a former vice-president; Mrs. Joseph C.
Otis, of West Newton, and Mrs. Henry Coolidge Mulligan, the pioneer in Mothercraft work, and former president of the State Federation.

RADIO. Mrs. John D. Sherman, former president of the General Federation, will broadcast "Religious Training in the Home," from WNAC, next Wednesday morning, October 30th, at 11:30 o'clock. Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter, General Federation director, is to introduce Mrs. Sherman. James Harkins, Tenor, accompanied by Jessie Fleming Vose, may be heard at 11:40 and, at 11:50 Dr. Anna C.
Palmer, chairman of Public Health, presents Mr. J. Albert C. Nyhen, secretary of the Anti-Mosquito Association in a broadcast on "Exterminating Mosquitoes."

Newton Centre Woman's Club

The fourth and concluding lecture on Florentine Art, by Miss Frances Varney, will be given on Wednesday afternoon, the 30th, at the Club House, at 3 o'clock, on the specific topic
"Raphael and Michelangelo," for the members and friends of the Newton Centre Woman's Club. Those who have not secured tickets for the course may secure single tickets from Mrs.
Norman Pratt, of Grant avenue. The beautiful pictures that Miss Varney has shown illustrating her graphic talk on a subject upon which she has become intimately informed through her sojourn in Italy have been greatly enjoyed by all who have been so wise
as to take in this worthwhile series.

The Art committee, headed by Mrs.
William C. Noetzel, is offering a course in the making of Artistic Por-folios. The class is most enthusiastic, and will meet for further instruction under Mrs. William J. Freethy, 3:30 Wednesday, October 30th, at 10:00
a. m. in the Barn Studio.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club is beginning the new year with two innovations, one of which is the issuing of a new folder-bulletin edited monthly, by Mrs. Harry Gibson, the first vice-president. This will not only prove helpful to the members for the announcement of coming events, but it will also be found to be a very interesting and newsy bit of literature.

Of further interest is the fact that the president, Mrs. Walter Hartstone, announces regular office hours at the Clubhouse for Club business and anything relating to the Club, on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, from 10:00 a. m. to 11:00 a. m., or at any other time by appointment.

FINANCIAL LECTURES

Clubwomen of Newton will be interested in the series of lectures on Banking and Investments that is to be given under the auspices of the Women's Advisory Committee of the Newton Trust Company. Each lecture will be followed by informal discussion, which should be valuable in explaining points upon which hearers may be at a loss. This is the second season that this service has been offered. The lectures will be held at Temple Hall, Newtonville, at 10:30
a. m., the first coming on Wednesday, October 30th, when Mr. T.
Raymond Pierce will speak on the topic "The Science of Investing". The three following lectures will be on Thursdays, November 7th, 14th, and 21st, on other topics.

Coffee and sandwiches will be served at 12 o'clock. Women who would like to attend should get in touch with the Women's Advisory Committee of the Newton Trust Co., at 93 Union street, Newton Centre.
Members of this committee include:
Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell, chairman;
Mrs. George M. Angier, Mrs. Herbert
M. Cole, Mrs. Howard P. Converse,
Mrs. Henry I. Harriman, Mrs. Albert
S. Hutchinson, Mrs. M. L. Madden,
Mrs. Irving O. Palmer, Mrs. Leverett
Saltonstall, and Mrs. Charles L. Smith.

Newton Highlands Woman's Club, of which Mrs. E. Channing Bourne is chairman, is announcing an enjoyable

ers on Friday, November 1st, to be held at the Workshop. Mrs. Robert Bonner is in charge of this affair. The evening event gives opportunity for Club members to bring husbands or other guests of the business world who would like to indulge in their favorite game. Tickets at $1 each may be obtained from any member of the Philanthropic committee. Refreshments will be served, but no prizes

The Mather Class

"The Authority of Experience" was the subject of the lecture by Prof. Kirtley F. Mather at the regular weekly meeting, last Sunday morning, of the Mather Class at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House.

Following his schedule of taking up a series of subjects this season, Prof. Mather began the series of "The Reconstruction of Religion," with this lecture on experience.

With so much that is new coming up, people are led to ask what is there that they can still believe. They should ask how much more there is to believe than ever before. With more understanding we ought to have a richer, broader, better, and stronger belief.

In rebuilding a piece of a city, it is necessary for the wreckers to tear down the old outworn building before the new structure can be erected in its place. Something like this happens when old ideas are overthrown, but the constructive phase is dominant in our thought. To believe anything, we need a foundation for our belief, because the mind is rational. We cannot believe what we know is false, or what has no satisfactory, logical, rational, or reasonable basis.

All religion is reasonable to its adherents. At each stage of development it is reasonable to those who accept it. If reasonable religion is in process of change, how can we be sure that our conclusions will stand the test of time? Where shall we go for religious certitude?

Very early in the history of mankind, people looked to an individual for authority. Jesus spoke as One having authority. Something bred confidence in Him and promoted loyalty to Him. Perhaps His frankness, honesty, and humility had something to do with it. Jesus tried to make it clear that the source of His authority was not in Himself but in God, the Father. When any man appears to have the word of truth, he is often given some rank or office. Then respect for the individual is transferred to respect for the official position and anybody who happens for the moment to hold the office.

What gave the authority to the individual in the first place was his own experiences with life, which brought him knowledge, thereby he gained poise and the ability which merited the respect of others. Jesus and Paul had experiences of vital importance to themselves and to the world. Moses and many others had experiences. These experiences were written down and became a part of history. Then came the transfer of respect for the experiences to respect for the record of them. Thus a secular record becomes the authoritative source of certitude in religion.

Records are a means to an end. Religion must be based on facts and experiences. By experiences we mean the observation of events, the response of individuals to the outside world.

The scientific world is in dealing with the objective world is to observe objects in position or objects in motion. In either case, time flows on. Thus we have obvious relations of time and space, and science seeks to measure them by chronometers and magnifying lenses. The accuracy of one person's observations and measurements is checked by many other people getting the same results or by his getting the same result with many repetitions of the same experiment.

The next step is to use the intellect to determine probable sequence and causal relationship on the basis of experiment, predict what the next event will be, and then watch and see if it will happen.

A young man, Galileo, figured that a heavy weight and a much lighter weight, dropped simultaneously from the leaning Tower of Pisa would hit the ground the same time. People did not believe it, for they dropped a book and a piece of paper and the book arrived first. They had the weight of authority with them, all but Aristotle. However, Galileo dropped his two weights and proved that he was right. This method is justified by the result.

In the realization of values we find that some are subjective and not measurable. Religious experiences have no relation to time or space. Many spiritual values can occupy the same time and space simultaneously. They are within yourself, but they are not limited to any one person. They exist everywhere, are unconfined, and cannot be checked up.

Instinctively the human mind looks to values and makes comparison to ascertain the correctness of the valuation. Science describes the whole series of goals. Then mankind seeks internal experiences which will enable us to select the goal which will prove so valuable that we will spend our lives trying to get ourselves and others over there to that goal.

Values must be checked up the same as experiences in the objective world. Others must get the same results. First you get the idea alone by yourself, but in order to transfer a subjective idea objectively to the outside world, you have to tell others, and that is anything but a subjective operation. When many people have become aware of the same values, you can take them as realities. Then, on the basis of those realities, the outcome can be predicted.

Unselfish love is not measurable. It does not terminate with time. It is valuable and produces results in the objective world. "By their fruits ye shall know them." It is possible to prove in the objective world that ideals are valuable. They are justified by the results.

We observe events. We use our senses and get an idea about them. Facts are events. The description of them may be wrong, but that does not alter the fact any. Experiences are facts. The interpretation may be true or false. Inspiration is the interpretation of experiences. We do not need to test the experience, but we do need to test the interpretation or the description.

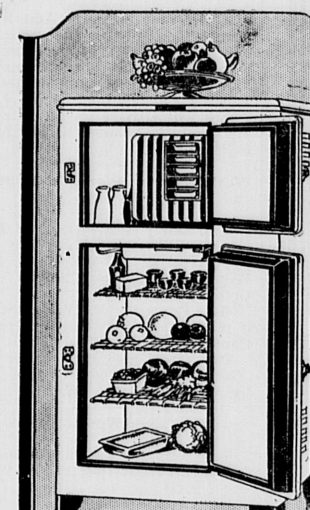

Experiences are cumulative. Each generation is the heir of all the ages. Fortunately we do not have to check

Millions of Miles of Constant Testing to maintain the outstanding quality and dependability of The Chevrolet Six

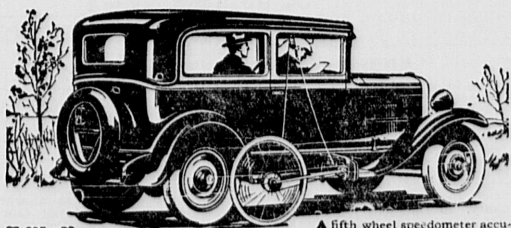

In spite of the fact that a million Chevrolet Sixes have already been placed in the hands of owners, and have proved their performance and stamina by billions of miles of service over every type of highway the nation affords—

—the Chevrolet Motor Company continues to take new Chevrolet Sixes from the assembly line at the factory and subject them to pitiless testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground!

This passion for proof—this consistent refusal to accept any tests as final—is one of the fundamental reasons for the overwhelming popularity of Chevrolet cars. For in no other way is it possible to make the Chevrolet Six so sound in design and materials—so dependable in performance—and so economical to operate!

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, come in and see the new Chevrolet. You will find that it is more than a Six in the price range of the four. In every way it is a finer car than you ever thought possible in the low-price field!

ROTARY CLUB

Rev. Dr. Francis E. Webster of Waltham was the guest speaker at the regular Monday noon meeting of the Newton Rotary club at the Woodland Golf Club this week. He is a past president of the Waltham Rotary Club and Overseer of the Poor of that city. His subject was "The Challenge of Old Age" which he dealt with in an interesting and forceful manner, having had considerable experience among the poor and aged of Waltham through his official duties. Today men of sixty are young in comparison with those of the same age some years ago but one of the greatest problems arises through the fact that in a business capacity the man of fifty, unless already established, is in little demand now.

The outing of the Newton Rotary club will be held at William Halliday's home at Brewster, Mass., on November 8th to the 11th. On November 20th Ladies' Night will be observed. Announcement of the place and other plans will be made at a later date.

James B. Melcher, cashier of the Newton National Bank, was introduced as a new member by Vice President Edward Mellus and received into the club by President Charles Ainslee.

MOTHERS' REST

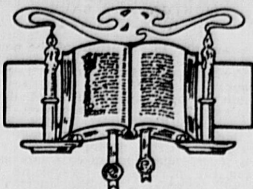

The Annual meeting of the Mothers' Rest Association of the City of Newton, Inc., was held on Thursday, October 17th at the Methodist Church, Newton Centre.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The entire registration in the four branches of the Norumbega District Schools of Religious Education for the present year is as follows:

| | |
|--------------------|----|
| Newtonville..... | 73 |
| Newton Centre..... | 67 |
| Watertown..... | 74 |
| Belmont..... | 50 |

This makes a total of 264 as against 117 for the first term of last year, when only one central school was conducted at Newtonville.

Last Monday evening at Newtonville Miss Bessie Doherty of Needham told a delightful story, entitled "The Gift of Candles." Dr. E. M. Noyes, Pastor of the Congregational Church, Newton Centre, gave a talk on "The Devotional Life of a Sunday School Teacher" at the Newton Centre Institute. Rev. Edward C. Camp gave a similar talk at Watertown.

Next Tuesday Prof. Albert E. Bailey of Newton Centre will visit Watertown and give his picture interpretation of Zimmermann's "Christ and the Fisherman" at the Assembly Period.

Dr. Henry H. Myers, the new dean of Boston University, will substitute on Monday evening, Oct. 28, at both Newtonville and Newton Centre, for Dr. Weston in the class on "The Life of Christ," owing to necessary absence of Dr. Weston.

GIRL SCOUTS

Under the direction of Newton Headquarters a new Troop will be organized shortly. This Troop is open to Leaders, Mothers, and friends of Girl Scouts, and will meet Wednesday mornings from 10:30 to 12:00 A. M. at Girl Scout Headquarters, 297 Walnut street, Newtonville, beginning Wednesday, November 6th, and continuing for five weeks. There will be Tenderfoot, Second Class, and First Class work and methods given, and members may take whatever part of the work they find themselves fitted for or interested in. There will also be instruction in troop management, as well as new games and songs. No previous knowledge of Scouting is necessary nor is it in any way required that you continue with Scouting after the "Troop" meetings are ended—though we warn you, you may not be able to bring yourself to give it up! All those wishing to join please get in touch with Newton Headquarters, N. N. 6225, before November 2nd. There will be a fee of 50c for the course, payable at the first meeting.

Camp has now become a memory, but for the who camped this summer at Camp Mary Day, there will be an opportunity for them to have another taste of the gorgeous times of the past at the Camp Reunion held Saturday, October 26th, from 11 A. M. to 4 P. M. at the camp. So if you were lucky enough to be at Mary Day this year, there is no doubt but what Saturday will find you there again, surrounded by the "gang," discussing this swim and that hike, eating lunch in regular camp fashion, living just one more camp day, before winter is really upon us.

Wednesday, October 23rd, the first Get-Together of the Metropolitan Division was held at the Hotel Statler in Boston. The morning session was on Finance. This discussion was followed by a Buffet luncheon, and at 2:45 P. M. two Round Tables were held, one on "Standards," and the other on "Publicity." Miss Freeman attended this Get-Together as did many Newton Council Members and Troop Committee members.

A course in Scouting is being given at the Boston University School of Education on Wednesday evenings by Major Maw, who has come from England to give the course. Both Boy Scout and Girl Scout leaders are finding his lectures of tremendous interest. Some of the Newton officers attending the course are Miss Freeman, Miss Moore, Mrs. James Warren, Mrs. Duncan Wright, Mrs. Eleanor Widger, Miss Fennessey, and Mrs. H. H. Ballard.

The Newton Court of Awards, Mrs. Norman Bingham, chairman, will hold its first meeting Wednesday morning, October 30th, at Headquarters. Discussion will be chiefly on the changes in examinations made necessary by the test in the new Handbook.

Troop 3, Newton Centre, had a most successful overnight hike to Cedar Hill October 18th and 19th, with their Captain, Miss Ordway.

THAYER MCNEIL OPENS NEW STORE

On October 14th, Thayer McNeil, well-known shoe merchant, opened a store at 572 Washington street in Wellesley square.

In this charming shop will be found a complete assortment of footwear and hosiery for women, misses, children and boys.

The new shop is managed by Mr. Charles Reid, formerly of Thayer McNeil's Boylston street and Magnolia Shops.

With traffic and parking congestion as it is today in Boston proper, this store should prove a real convenience.

This is the fourth store now operated by Thayer McNeil. The main store is downtown at 47 Temple place and 15 West street. Another shop, exclusively for women's footwear and hosiery is at 44 Boylston street, while at 1288 Beacon street, in Coolidge Corner is a store devoted to misses', children's and boys' footwear and hosiery.

KIWANIS CLUB

The members of the Newton Kiwanis Club were treated to a genuine surprise on Tuesday when they found their meeting place at the Newton Centre Women's Club in possession of their wives and lady friends. The club officers were obliged to forego their prerogative for the day and the ladies conducted the meeting with Mrs. Walter Whalin gracefully discharging the duties of Club President. Mrs. Tom Alken made a very capable and presentable song leader and the musical part of the program was carried out with verve and eclat. Mrs. John A. Janse officiated as doorkeeper. Heavy fines were imposed on the club members for various infractions of the temporary rules of the club as well as for being present.

Mrs. Etta Haverly gave a very dainty impersonation of an underprivileged child looking for her long lost daddy and the spirit of Kiwanis and the responsibility of Kiwanis to the underprivileged child was portrayed in dramatic fashion by W. U. Fogwill and Robert A. Vachon. Charles A. Mahoney, Inspector of Street Lighting, in recognition of his willingness to co-operate in an official capacity with the campaign for better illumination of our streets was presented with a loving cup by the Kiwanis ladies of the South Side.

Mrs. Evelyn Parsons of Newton Centre and company presented a tableau entitled "A Mother's Appeal to Her Boy."

Brief remarks appropriate to the occasion were made by Reverend Maurice L. Bullock, George W. Johnson, Mrs. Wilfred Chagnon, Mrs. James P. Gallagher, Will L. White and Thomas H. Burns. A. C. Bellinger spoke briefly on "Important Dates on a Kiwanis Calendar."

Acting President Mrs. Whalin conducted a question period which could not have provoked more laughter even if the questions had been truthfully answered. The meeting was a novel and mirth provoking one and its success was due to the initiative of the Ladies of Kiwanis under the leadership of Kiwanian Wilfred Chagnon.

The attendance prize was awarded to Mrs. F. H. Paul, Jr.

The program at the meeting of October 29 will be under the direction of Reverend Maurice Bullock.

NEWTON CHORAL SOCIETY

The regular meeting of the society was held Tuesday evening with a good attendance, and the evening was largely spent in rehearsing the Christmas music that will take a prominent position in the concert to be given early in December. The members were requested to send to the president, Mr. Fred L. Smith, lists of people who might be invited to join the society as associate members and thus obtain tickets for the interesting concerts of this society, and assist in maintaining a valuable community institution. New members can still be received, although all who desire to take part in the December concert should come in at once to the rehearsals held each Tuesday evening at 7:45 at Central church, Newtonville.

D. A. R. CARD PARTY

The Lucy Jackson Chapter of the D. A. R. will hold its annual card party at the chapter house at Newton Lower Falls on Monday, October 28, at 2:30 p. m. The proceeds of the party will go toward the upkeep of the house. Many tickets are being sold and the committee expect a large attendance.

You're out-of-date without an EIGHT!

On every hand you hear people talking Eights. And, what is more convincing, you see them buying Eights.

In 43 states,* for the first seven months of this year, new car registrations above $1000 showed a 94 per cent increase in Eights—an 18 per cent decrease in Sixes. (Five states do not compile registrations by engine types.)

Every fine car in America is an Eight. In fact, 41 per cent of all makes of American cars are Eights.

Right now, at the price of a Six, you can buy a brilliant new Studebaker Eight with all the extra power, extra smoothness, extra flexibility and extra value that only an Eight can give.

An Eight built by Studebaker, now enjoying its 77th successful year—now the largest producer of Eight cylinder cars in the world. An Eight by Studebaker, holder of 11 world records of speed and endurance and more American stock car records than all other cars combined.

Choose an Eight from the three great Studebaker lines of Eights now available at new low One-Price prices. Your car will be worth more a year from now if it's an Eight.

*In Massachusetts, Eights increased 102 per cent while Sixes declined 18 per cent.

Battery Quality has a SAFETY POINT

The lower the price of a battery, the lower its quality is apt to be. Below the safety point you risk expense and disappointment. A single towing charge, for example, might eat up more than you saved on a too low-priced battery.

Buy known quality, and be money ahead in the end. You'll find it in a Willard. Dependably constructed, of selected materials, and rated at the correct electrical size, a Willard gives you true value at the safety point of fair price and high quality.

They are to present "Polly with a Past," by Guy Bolton and George Middleton, on the evening of November 15th, at the Newton High School Auditorium.

All who have attended the decidedly fine productions of this Club in past years will be eager to secure tickets for another of their entertaining plays. They compare most favorably with the work of trained actors in the Boston play houses.

RECENT EVENTS

Community Service Club of West Newton

The Community Service Club opened its Club year, last Wednesday, the 16th, with a reception to Mrs. Katherine P. Cowin, a past president of the Club, and new president of the Newton Federation, and to the presidents of the Clubs of the 12th District. In the receiving line with Mrs. Cowin were Mrs. Francis Newhall, president of the Club and Mrs. Horace Gale, director of the District. Greetings from Mrs. Axel Packard, president of the Massachusetts Federation were brought by Mrs. Charles G. Whetherbee, corresponding secretary of the State Federation.

The meeting was in charge of the Membership and Refreshment Committees under Mrs. George Hatch as general chairman. That these women had put much time and thought into the arrangements for the afternoon was shown by the abundant and attractive decorations of autumn leaves and evergreens and the refreshments served in the candle-lighted parlor.

Miss Elizabeth Cushman, who is visiting her parents this fall gave a generous and varied program of songs, that she is always welcome and her pleasing voice enjoyed is shown by the repeated calls for encores whenever she is able to give of her time.

The speaker for the afternoon was Mr. Guyas Williams, known to the reading world as a clever cartoonist, but better known to residents of West Newton as a lover of boys. Although a very busy man he finds time to referee ball games and teach a love for clean sports, just as he is trying to educate the public to like the true satirical cartoon, which he characterized as an attempt in a light-hearted way to indicate the humor of the period. From his talk he excluded the political cartoon, which is really controversial, and the illustrated jokes, stories, which are found daily in the so-called "Punches".

Illustrating his point with the use of slides he showed that the cartoon, as old as history, had been influenced by the period in which it was made, and the conditions under which the artist worked. The first one known was found on the wall of a Pompeian house, and the story is of the vanquishing of a losing faction at the annual games. He then took his audience through the period of church rule, which made for grimness, and the paintings and carvings now found in European churches; and the times of Napoleon and the Louis, when the grossness of the peoples caused cartoons so bitter and so gross that most of them are not showable. No cartoon was done in pure good humor. They were always aimed at some one or drawn to show some vice. In 1720 appeared the first secular cartoon, and there began a gradual getting away from politics and religion, until about the end of the 18th century he came to Punch, and Seymour's illustrations of Dickens' works, each with its pure satire and no attempt to reform.

It was a disappointment that Mr. Williams did not show any of his own work, but with his usual modest manner he dismissed those by saying "You are all acquainted with the artists of the present day."

Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer, untiring chairman of the Memorial Committee, reported that there had been placed this fall in the West Newton Memorial Library four bronze lanterns in memory of Mrs. Harriet A. Peabody. These are accompanied by a bronze tablet upon which is the following explanatory inscription:—"The four lanterns are given by the Community Service Club and friends in loving memory of Harriet Avery Peabody, who died September 20th, 1928. A kind friend, a helpful and loyal citizen—may the inspiration of her beautiful spirit long remain to bless us."

Juniors of the West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Junior Members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club held their first meeting in the home of Mrs. B. Howard Lester, at 7 o'clock on October 8th. There was no definite program, as the New Year Books were distributed, and the plans for the year were discussed. Mrs. H. B. Gale, director of the twelfth District of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs was a guest.

On February 14th the Juniors will entertain the Senior Members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club. Miss Margaret Slattery, well-known speaker, will talk on "The Modern Girl and the Ladder."

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

The Harvest Supper, a Community affair which was given under the auspices of the Ways and Means committee of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club last Friday was very well attended.

Mrs. Albion Brown and her Committee who worked so untiringly were much gratified, as well as the other assisting Committee.

Many of the supplies were generously furnished by several well-known and local firms; including, Hathaway's Bread Company, Oriental Tea Co., S. S. Pierce, The Economy Stores, W. K. Dunham, Noble's Milk Co., Thomas Fish Market, at Coolidge Corner; Coffey and Coveney, and Newton Ice Co. Lovell and Covel presented miniature chocolates, their newest product just released.

The tables were attractively decorated with orange candles and a hollowed-out pumpkin filled with tempting fruits for a centerpiece. The members of the Board presided as hostesses at each table. The younger set of the village were the waitresses and waiters.

Following the supper there was an especially fine musical entertainment. Mr. Joseph Ecker, Baritone, sang a number of varied selections, and Mr. Reginald Boardman, the pianist, gave selections on the Chickering Ampico. The program was a varied one which was pleasing to all.

The long looked for Cook-Book, published by the American Home Committee, was on sale. At this time it seems most appropriate to extend a "thank you" to all the local stores for the fine support given in placing advertisements in this book.

Shakespeare Club

The Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club held its first meeting, the Club year of 1929-1930 on Saturday, October 19th, at the home of Mrs. Herbert W. Drew, at Hingham. "Romeo and Juliet" was the tragedy selected, and destined to occupy four afternoons. The president, Mrs. Mary C. Blake, presided. The business meeting was conducted on the afternoon topic, spiritedly discussed. "The peculiar atmosphere with which Shakespeare has enveloped one of his most lovely creations. Not only the story upon which the drama is founded, but the very form of the language comes from the South. Italy was the inventor of the tale; it breathes the spirit of her national records, her old family feuds, and bloody intrigues which fill her annals." Charles.

A delightful Luncheon was enjoyed, and the view of the ocean, for the social features of the day.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Club Room was well filled to greet Miss Rubelle Jean Durfee, a reader of plays, when she presented the three-act play "Mrs. Partridge Presents" at the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, at the conclusion of the business session on Monday evening, October 21st. Several guests, enjoyed with the members the pleasing personality and dramatic presentations arising from the consequences of a mother's trying to manage the lives of her son and daughter, who, after all, found their happiness in the expression of their own personalities, seemingly in direct opposition to their mother's desires, while the mother found she was free to live her life for herself. Miss Nellie M. Osborne, the vice-president, was in charge of the plans for the program.

The second of the "extras" of the Club year was held on Wednesday evening, October 16th, when Mrs. Robert Sawyer sponsored a Card Party in the Club rooms, and added a goodly sum to the treasury, as well as providing an enjoyable evening's entertainment.

INSERT under R E before List of Dat Newton Community Club

Members of the Americanization committee of the Newton Community Club arranged the program for the "Italian Afternoon," at Eliot Church, last Tuesday.

An audience of about one hundred women demonstrated the interest of the community in its foreign population; Mrs. E. A. Howe was a most gracious chairman. She and Mrs. Dorothy Perini Leher, who were assisted by Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., and Mrs. Garret J. Schenk, who poured Young women of the Four-Fold Club, in Italian costume, served.

Newton Federation

The first Executive Board meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, was held on Tuesday afternoon, October 22nd, in the library of the Newton Technical High School, with the president, Mrs. Phister Cowin, presiding.

In her welcome to officers, chairmen of committee, and delegates, the president alluded to a rather critical article which appeared in a recent magazine, in which the author says "the germ which is eating into the very heart of Women's Clubs is talk—pointless, futile, stupid talk, by leaders."

Mrs. Cowin suggested that "such criticisms challenge us to avoid this error."

As her message to Clubwomen, "on the threshold of a new year," she read a few sentences from an article on "Service," by Angelo Patri. "Service is the high art of living. It is not enough to do a job well. It is not sufficient to meet obligations promptly and justly. The spirit of love and of service must breathe life into the work of our hands, or it vanishes."

Interesting reports were read by the chairmen of committees, with forecasts of worthwhile future meetings.

Mrs. Irving J. Fisher, the chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale committee, sent an appeal for opportunities to present speakers for short talks about the use of the money resulting from the sale of Christmas Seal Sales.

The president reminded Clubwomen that Mrs. James D. Bennett, chairman of the Finance committee, would be glad to assist Club Finance committees in arrangement of budgets. Mrs. Bennett has given considerable time to the study of that subject.

Mrs. Raymond A. Green, chairman of the Education committee, introduced Mr. Paul Ellicker, assistant principal of the Newton High School, as a "specialist in his own line"—that of "Guidance." Mr. Ellicker spoke in a most interesting manner of "Guidance," as now conducted with the 2400 boys and girls of the Newton High School. Mr. Ellicker showed charts, and gave a few specific instances of the result of guidance investigations, to help individual students.

This "Guidance" includes practical problems of school and home life of pupils, such as "Attendance," "Failure in studies," "Influence of complex problems of social life," and many other points. Numberless conferences are held and personal contacts made. Mr. Ellicker spoke of the wonderful development in America; also of great changes in educational advantages in the city of Newton. He stated that while twenty or twenty-five years ago only ten to twelve subjects were offered, now forty to forty-five subjects are offered to Newton High School pupils.

He spoke, also, of the definite health program, traditionally known, and of extra curricula or sports, program. Close attention on the part of the audience proved deep interest in the subject, and many remained to talk with Mr. Ellicker.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Members of the Board of Aldermen have received post cards from Alderman "Dick" Harte who has been touring England and Ireland.

The matter of allowing children under 15 years of age to ride bicycles on sidewalks in the Newtons is settled for the present. The Board of Aldermen will not change the city ordinance to permit such a use of the sidewalks because the City Solicitor informed the Board of Aldermen that it has no legal right to permit children to ride bicycles on the walks reserved for pedestrians. The agitation to allow children to legally ride bicycles on sidewalks started some months ago when a petition was circulated by the Waban Woman's Club. This petition was signed by a majority of residents in that district and was presented to the Board of Aldermen. A committee from the Woman's Club appeared before the Claims and Rules Committee of the Aldermen and explained that a considerable number of Waban children attending the Warren Junior High School at West Newton travel to that school on bicycles. It was desired that these children be authorized to use the north sidewalk along Beacon street and the east sidewalk on Washington street from the junction of Beacon to the school. The Beacon street sidewalk is wide and there is little pedestrian traffic on it. The Waban ladies called attention to the heavy automobile traffic along Beacon street, which menaces children who ride bicycles on this thoroughfare.

The point was raised by a member of the Claims and Rules Committee that if permission were given to Waban children to ride bicycles on sidewalks, similar permits would be sought in other parts of the city where there is considerable pedestrian traffic on sidewalks. The Waban ladies opined that the Aldermen should be able to differentiate between Waban where it is practicable to allow bicycles on sidewalks, and more congested parts of the city where such use of the sidewalks would not be safe.

The Claims and Rules Committee recently voted five to one to recommend a change in the ordinance so that children under 15 would be permitted to ride bicycles on sidewalks in all districts of the city except in business zones. Proponents of the change argued that if a pedestrian were hit by a child riding a bicycle on a sidewalk the person hit would probably not be seriously injured, whereas if a child riding a bicycle on a street is struck by an automobile, the child is apt to be killed or seriously injured.

It was argued against allowing bicycles to be operated on sidewalks that not only would such a privilege endanger the lives and safety of pedestrians but it would encourage several times as many children to ride bicycles in this city as now ride such vehicles. Every child who rides a bicycle is endangered by motor vehicles. Even though the children might be permitted to ride on sidewalks in residential zones they would have to leave such havens of safety while crossing street intersections where most automobile accidents occur. Moreover, according to the proposed change in the ordinance the children would have to ride their bicycles on streets when they entered business zones where traffic is much heavier and where danger would be proportionately greater.

If children were allowed to legally ride bicycles on sidewalks a person who might be hit and injured by a child so riding would have no legal redress. The parent or guardian of a child responsible for such an accident could not be sued for damages. Neither could suit be brought against the City of Newton.

A canvass was made in the public schools of Newton to ascertain the number of children who make a practice of riding to and from school on bicycles. The following figures show the total enrollment (E.) in each school and the number of bicycle riders (B.):

| School | E. | B. |
|--------------------|--------|-----|
| Newton High | 2,727 | 45 |
| Day Junior High | 564 | 93 |
| Warren Junior High | 735 | 81 |
| Bigelow | 261 | 9 |
| Underwood | 466 | 1 |
| Lincoln | 42 | 0 |
| Horace Mann | 375 | 21 |
| Clifford | 281 | 21 |
| Adams | 149 | 4 |
| Cabot | 265 | 8 |
| Stearns | 565 | 0 |
| Elliot | 129 | 0 |
| Pierce | 289 | 49 |
| Davis | 370 | 8 |
| Franklin | 214 | 0 |
| Barnard | 42 | 3 |
| Burr | 270 | 6 |
| Williams | 342 | 30 |
| Hamilton | 88 | 0 |
| Angier | 439 | 30 |
| Emerson | 552 | 14 |
| Hyde | 640 | 30 |
| Mason | 680 | 173 |
| Rice | 273 | 1 |
| Bowen | 183 | 0 |
| Ward | 282 | 41 |
| Totals | 11,123 | 658 |

These figures show that but 6% of the children in the Newton public schools depend on bicycles for transportation to and from school. The balance, 94% either walk, ride in buses or are conveyed in private cars. In the parochial schools of the Church of Our Lady at Newton where over 900 pupils attend, only 15 ride bicycles regularly.

It can be seen that out of 1463 children attending the public schools in Wards 1 and 7, but 10 ride bicycles. It hardly would be fair to residents of these two Wards to permit bicycle riding on sidewalks in the Newton Corner section or at Nonantum. Certainly there is no apparent demand for such a privilege in these districts where pedestrian traffic is the heaviest in the city.

The four Newtonville grade schools with an enrollment of 1070 have 54 children riding bicycles, or about 5%. Pedestrian traffic is heavy on Newtonville's sidewalks.

West Newton's grade schools have 915 pupils and 60 bicycle riders; a percentage of about 6%. The Auburn-dale grade schools with 512 pupils have 36 riders; a percentage of 7%. At the Angier School in Waban about 7% of the pupils ride and at the Emerson School in Upper Falls only 2 1/4% use bicycles. Less than 5% of the pupils at the Hyde School are regular cyclists but the Mason School at Newton Centre has over 25% of its pupils travelling on bicycles. The prevalence of bicycles at this school is evident to anyone who frequents the business section at Newton Centre. Children ride bicycles on the sidewalks in the business section at Newton Centre promiscuously and without interference from the police.

With the exception of the Mason School the two junior high schools have the largest percentage of bicycle riders; the Day School with about 16 1/4% and the Warren School with 11%.

Those who sought to have Newton take the initiative in permitting children on bicycles to ride on sidewalks assert that motor traffic makes streets unsafe for young bicyclists of immature judgment. Those who oppose children riding bicycles on sidewalks agree that streets are dangerous for children on bicycles. They believe that children should not be allowed to ride bicycles in this area of swift motor traffic. They contend that the safety of pedestrians should not be further endangered by converting sidewalks into bicycle paths. They believe that the way to lessen accidents to children riding bicycles is to have fewer rather than more children use this type of vehicle.

And the Police Department of Boston was placed under State control to keep it free from graft and corruption.

The number of victims of automobiles continues to rapidly increase. Despite all the exhortations of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles the number will continue to increase until drastic action is taken. Mr. Parker needs the assistance of police departments all over the Commonwealth and of citizens in general. Police departments can aid the Registrar in his efforts to lessen the carnage by becoming more active in arresting and prosecuting those who violate automobile laws, those who drive recklessly, who operate defectively equipped cars.

Citizens, especially influential citizens can co-operate by refusing to be parties to the fixing of cases, by finding culpable autoists guilty when serving on juries. Mr. Parker requests citizens to report autoists who drive so as to endanger the lives of the public. Many such autoists cannot be reported because the police allow them to drive cars with number plates so dirty or defaced that the numbers are illegible; cars with rear lights unlighted or dim.

The number of trucks and passenger cars on our streets being operated with cut-outs open is increasing. Why is not the law enforced regarding this offense?

WELCOME HOME TO THE BAPTIST PASTOR

The first monthly meeting of the Men's League of the Immanuel Baptist Church was held in the vestry Tuesday evening. Mr. Fred H. Tucker spoke on the early history of the League which was formed thirty-five years ago and has continued its activities without interruption since that time. Mr. Geo. E. Rawson, President, spoke on the League of today and pointed out the various ways in which its work had broadened. Hon. Edwin O. Childs voiced the greetings of the community in welcoming home the pastor, Rev. Newton A. Merritt, from his six months' trip abroad and stressed the value of co-operation in church work especially from the men.

Rev. Mr. Merritt told of political conditions in Russia, Italy, Germany and England as seen by an American. Community singing led by Dr. Naylor, with Mr. Gordon R. Powlen at the piano, was entered into heartily by the eighty-six men present. The meeting was under the direction of Mr. S. E. Giberson, chairman of the Social Committee, with Mr. J. W. Blaisdell, Vice Chairman, presiding.

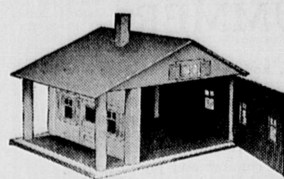

GARDEN CLUB

Members of the Newton Centre Garden Club are interested in the "Trouble Meeting" which will be held at the Newton Centre Library, Monday, October 28 at 10:30 a. m. Members will bring their garden troubles to this meeting and Sally Service will answer questions. Coffee will be served free. Each person will bring their own luncheon.
